Goldwater Pushes for Texas' 56

AP Poll Reveals Senator Has 619

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is expected to corral 56 delegate votes in Texas Tuesday and, by current count, push past the magic total needed to win the Republican presidential nomination.

But not all of this first ballot strength is irrevocably bound to the Arizona senator, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania will be hopscotching the country this week, trying to pick off some of the delegates now in the senator's column.

Since Scranton launched his drive for the nomination last Friday, however, he has gained little more than a score of votes —and only one of the delegates who lined up behind the governor was for Goldwater earlier.

Balloons to Go

The senator's total meanwhile ballooned to 619 by Associated Press tally. He needs 655 for nomination and is favored to win all of the 56 votes to be designated in Texas and most if not all of the 14 to be assigned in Montana Friday and Saturday.

Those two conventions wind up the delegate selection process for the Republican National Convention opening July 13 in San Francisco.

AP Survey Figures

The AP survey of the 1,238 delegates already chosen showed this first ballot lineup based on primary election commitments, instructions, pledges and stated preference:

Goldwater	619
Nelson A. Rockefeller	127
Scranton	113
Henry Cabot Lodge	46
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	93
Uncommitted	212

Scranton and Pennsylvania State Chairman Craig C. Truax claim that only 250 of Goldwater's votes are from legally bound delegates. "There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," Scranton said.

Replies to a spot check of delegates following Scranton's announcement showed no headlong rush away from Goldwater, however.

There also were a few shifts from previously uncommitted delegates to Scranton's banner, notably four in North Dakota.

Goldwater backers across the nation contended the senator's delegates would stand fast.

The weekend conventions went about as expected. Goldwater gained support ranging from solid to unanimous at state conventions in Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Virginia and Missouri. He picked off four of Connecticut's 16 and five of Maryland's 20. Scranton appeared before both conventions, winning 12 in Connecticut and four in Maryland.

Only in Minnesota, where forces favoring an uncommitted stand were victorious, did Goldwater fail to win support. Even there he has eight previously elected district delegates.

Supreme Court Rules:

N.Y. Apportionment Is Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared today the legislative apportionment system of New York State is unconstitutional.

Chief Justice Earl Warren delivered the opinion which referred to the court's decision earlier in the day in three cases from Alabama.

Cites Population Basis

Warren repeated in the New York case that the Constitution's equal protection clause requires that seats in both houses of the Legislature must be apportioned substantially on a population basis. He then stated:

"Neither house of the New York Legislature, under the state constitutional formulas and the implementing statutory provisions. . ., is presently or, when reapportioned on the basis of 1960 census figures, will be apportioned sufficiently on a population basis to be constitutionally sustainable."

Called Unfair

The chief justice said in his 21-page opinion that the Supreme Court had examined state formulas in minute fashion "in order to point out that, as a result of following these provions, the weight of the votes of those living in populous areas is of necessity substantially diluted in effect."

Warren asserted, "New York's constitutional formulas relating to legislative apportionment demonstrably include a build-in bias against voters living in the state's more populous counties."

He added that "the legislative representation accorded to the urban and suburban areas becomes proportionately less as the population of those areas increases."

The New York State ruling was given on a challenge of the state's apportionment formulas by radio station WMCA of New York City, its president, R. Peter Straus, and five other voters.

Could Delay '64 Voting

In ruling in the New York case, Warren said that since all members of both houses of the New York Legislature will be elected in November, the U.S. District Court in New York, "acting under equitable principles, must now determine whether, because of the imminence of that election and in order to give the New York Legislature an opportunity to fashion a constitutionally valid legislative apportionment plan, it would be desirable to permit the 1964 election of legislators to be conducted pursuant to the existing provisions, or whether under the circumstances the effectuation of appellants' (WMCA and others) right to a properly weighted voice in the election of state legislators should not be delayed beyond the 1964 election."

662 Paltz Grads Are Counselled By Vassar Head

Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, retiring president of Vassar College spoke to an audience of nearly three thousand this morning at the 77th annual commencement exercises at the State University College, New Paltz.

A total of 662 degrees were conferred by Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college. This figures includes 418 bachelor or science degrees 68 bachelor of arts and 176 master of science degrees. It represents an increase of 160 compared with 502 degrees conferred last year.

In her address to the graduating class Miss Blanding said "to be an active participant in the crucial period of our history is one of the most exciting prospects any young person can have."

Stresses Individual

Enumerating the generally accepted qualities that go into the making of a good teacher she said that "the good teacher fans and feeds what ever spark he discerns in each individual student."

Miss Blanding told the graduates that it was her fervent wish "that whatever you do, be it teacher, administrator, mother, lawyer or businessman, you will maintain your interests and beliefs in education and its ability to produce the kinds of citizens who will keep this country strong and viril."

In his introduction for Miss Blanding, Dr. Haggerty spoke of her as a person "very close to us at New Paltz."

Speaker Lauded

He pointed out that Miss Blanding, "differing somewhat from other presidents of private colleges, steadfastly supported the concept of a state university and the importance of developing public higher education in this state. We are indebted to her efforts in this direction," he said.

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, chairman of the New Paltz College Council, presented the Kappa Delta Pi award to Miss Sandra F. Gingeresky of Troy. This award is made to the member of the graduating class having the highest scholastic average for the four years of college courses.

Khrushchev On Tour of Scandinavia

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev headed for Copenhagen today, starting an 18-day Scandinavian tour during which he is expected to plug for a ban on nuclear weapons in the countries he is visiting as well as central Europe.

Accompanied by his wife, Nina, and a party of Soviet officials, Khrushchev left Moscow by train Sunday night. He will board a ship today at Kaliningrad and is due in the Danish capital Tuesday morning.

A cheering crowd of Muscovites saw the 70-year-old Soviet leader off on his third foreign trip in three months. Khrushchev visited Hungary in April and the United Arab Republic in May.

To Aim at NATO

As he tours Denmark, Norway and Sweden, Khrushchev probably will try again to crack the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's northern defense ring by asking the Scandinavian countries to join in turning the Baltic into a sea of peace.

Khrushchev has often urged a ban on nuclear weapons in central Europe and Scandinavia. He has been particularly anxious to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to West Germany, a NATO member. Nuclear weapons also would be banned from Communist East Germany under Khrushchev's proposal.

Although there is considerable anti-nuclear sentiment in Scandinavia, NATO members Denmark and Norway have been unwilling to act independently of their Atlantic alliance partners on the nuclear-free zone.

Six Days in Each Nation

Neutral Sweden officially supported a nuclear-free central and northern Europe as far back as two years ago. It has always insisted on firm controls to prevent cheating

Khrushchev will spend six days in each country, ending his tour in Sweden July 4.

Various groups in each country have indicated degrees of opposition to the visit. A Swedish organization plans to hold public protest meetings. Its members include many exiles from the formerly independent Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, annexed by the Soviet Union after World War II.

Prospects for the Swedish visit also have been clouded by the conviction last week of Swedish air force Col. Stig Wnnerstrom for spying for the Soviet Union. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Three years ago bitter public opposition forced Khrushchev to cancel a trip to Scandinavia.

Firemen Holding Rockets Display At Dietz July 4

Kingston Uniformed Firefighters Association, Local 461, will present its eighth annual holiday fireworks display and field entertainment on Saturday, July 4 at 7:45 p. m., in Dietz Stadium, it was announced today by James F. Woods, president.

The holiday event, which annually attracts upwards of 10,000 persons, is presented by the Firefighters Association to raise funds for the organization's participation in various civic and welfare projects in the Kingston area.

The fireworks display will be staged at dusk on the holiday night, preceded by the annual field entertainment. "The association's annual holiday entertainment was originated not only to provide entertainment for the entire family, but also to observe the patriotic significance of Independence Day," Woods noted.

Present New Flag

Each year the Firefighters Association holds a flag-raising ceremony at the opening of the holiday night program and will again this year present a new American flag, which will be accepted on behalf of the city by Mayor John J. Schwenk.

The entertainment portion of the program will feature three outstanding acts including Ronnie Lewis, the 25-year-old aerial acrobat, and his trio who perform atop a slender steel tower, stretching 75 feet into the air on a four-foot square platform. The trio has toured in many foreign nations.

Count to Clown

Also included in the July 4 celebration is Count Box Car de Young, a clown prince of comedy, who had been featured on televi-

2 Die in Dutchess; Weekend Toll Is 25

Two Dutchess County residents—a 13-year-old boy and a 35-year-old Red Hook man killed in motor vehicle accidents, were among 25 who died in mishaps over the weekend in New York State. Traffic deaths totaled 22.

Th area victims were—John Muddie, 13, of Red Hook Estates, Red Hook, and Alfred J. Sweeting, of RD 1, Red Hook.

Dutchess County authorities recorded the 26 highway fatality of 1964 on Flag Day—Sunday, when the boy was killed. The county's 25th highway death occured Saturday when John Frederick Ackert, 23, of 197 Smith Street, Poughkeepsie, was fatally injured in a one-car mishap on Route 9G, East Park. Ackert was home on leave from the Navy base at Norfolk, Va.

Dutchess County's highway deaths for 1964 are running ahead of the 1963 toll, and indications are that a record toll might be reached. The 26th highway fatality in Dutchess last year occured on Dec. 3.

The Muddie boy was killed at about 6:30 p. m. Sunday. State Police Sergeant Maurice Valliant said the boy rode his bicycle from Cambridge Drive, Red Hook, into the path of a southbound pickup truck driven by Walter Simmons, 30, of Livingston Street, Rhinebeck.

According to Rhinebeck Troopers James Horkan and Robert McNallen, Simmons made a futile attempt to stop the truck as the boy on the bicycle suddenly pulled in front of the vehicle. The boy was thrown from his bicycle.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester H. Golding, Wappings Falls, withheld a verdict pending further investigation. The cause of death was not immediately determined.

Sweeting was killed Sunday when his car left the highway

Delighted About Scranton Support

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge today termed "totally untrue" a Washington report that he was resigning within 30 days.

"There is no truth at all in that," Lodge said through a spokesman.

Lodge repeatedly has denied similar reports in the past.

On one recent occasion he said "I am not resigning but I don't plan to stay here the rest of my life, either."

The New York Times had reported that Lodge had asked to be relieved within 30 days for reasons of health. The White House in Washington said President Johnson had received no letter of resignation.

'Totally Untrue'

The Columbia Broadcasting System reported from Saigon that Lodge said the report he had submitted his resignation was "totally untrue."

The American Broadcasting Co. said Lodge, talking Sunday night in Saigon with ABC correspondent Charles P. Arnot, denied published reports that he was returning to the United States before the Republican National Convention. Lodge made no mention in the taped interview about resigning, an ABC spokesman said.

Lodge, 61, won New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary on write-in votes and now has 46 delegates who say they will vote for him on the first ballot at the Republican National Convention opening in San Francisco July 13.

Happy About Scranton

Lodge's son, George Cabot Lodge, reported Sunday that he had informed the ambassador on Friday that the draft Lodge movement was supporting Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who entered the GOP presidential race that day.

"My father sent me a telegram saying he was delighted by the decision to support Scranton. He said, 'Please tell Gov. Scranton how happy I am,'" the younger Lodge reported.

Goes West With His Campaign

Pa. Governor Hot On Barry's Trail

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton today opened a six-state quest for delegate support in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania's chief executive pointed his campaign westward into regions generally claimed by his No. 1 opponent, U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Scranton, after making a commencement address at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., was to go to Des Moines, Iowa, to confer with the Iowa delegation to the national convention.

To Keynote in Mass.

Tuesday he will be at Topeka, Kan., and Minneapolis, Minn. Wednesday, he goes to St. Louis, Mo., and Denver, Colo., and on Saturday he is booked to keynote the Massachusetts GOP convention. Aides said there was a possibility other states would be included on the week's tour.

Scranton said he would speak every day this week, unless the work of the Pennsylvania Legislature prevents it.

He has admitted he started late in the campaign and has a long, uphill fight. But, he has said, "I am a good, hard, fast runner."

Claim 105 Delegates

Scranton's aides contend the Pennsylvanian has more than 105 delegates, but they are banking on strong second ballot support at the San Francisco convention to put Scranton into the top spot.

Goldwater presently holds a long lead in delegate strength, with 619 votes, according to the latest Associated Press poll. This is only 36 short of the number needed for nomination.

The Associated Press poll gives Scranton 113, compared to 127 for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, the No .2 man in the delegate race.

Bouyed by Response

Scranton, who announced his candidacy last Friday at the Maryland GOP convention in Baltimore, said, "The reaction has been fantastic." Appearing on the American Broadcasting Co. television program, "Issues and Answers," the governor said Sunday he has been buoyed by the response of Republicans throughout the nation.

He said he feels most of the delegates for Goldwater "are not completely committed to him" and he feels that through campaign speeches and person-to-person contacts with delegates to the national convention he can "pull back some delegates."

Many others are "changing their minds now that they have a choice," he added.

"I wouldn't be in it if I didn't think I could win," Scranton said.

Scranton's television appearance capped a hectic weekend.

Army-Air Force Games Priced at $54 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent Army-Air Force war games in the Far West cost about $54 million and were the most costly since World War II, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told this was the price tag on Desert Strike, a two-week mock war in which some 100,000 Army troops and Air Force units dueled over areas of California, Arizona and Nevada last month.

The Defense Department said it originally had been calculated the exercise would cost $60.1 million, but that various economies had sliced about $6 million from that estimate.

By comparison, "Exercise Big Lift" last fall cost $20 million. In this operation, the 16,000 men of an armored division were flown 5,600 miles from Texas to Germany and returned after maneuvers near the Iron Curtain.

The Pentagon said "the major contributing factor to the cost of joint exercise Desert Strike was the commercial transportation of the armored units and their heavy equipment to and from the exercise area."

Two Divisions Moved

Two armored divisions — the 1st and 2nd — were moved by train from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the three-state battleground. Armored divisions have about 3,750 vehicles, including 364 tanks and 660 personnel carriers.

Also involved in Desert Strike were an armored brigade of the California National Guard and a tank battalion from Ft. Campbell, Ky., in Air Force planes, the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division came from Colorado and various smaller Army and Air Force units were drawn from as far away as the East Coast.

The cost of moving Army forces by commercial means,

They said the group left early this morning to return to the embassy in Washington, D. C. Ambassador Atminda was formerly ambassador from his country to Great Britain before he was appointed ambassador to the U. S.

Eddyville Nytralite Gives School Grant

For the eleventh seccessive year, New York Trap Rock Corporation is presenting school grants to Hudson Valley school districts where the stone producing firm maintains operating installations and stone reserves.

This year the educational assistance program was expanded to include districts in Kingston and Long Island. A total of $10,000 is being distributed with Nytralite Aggregate of Eddyville, presenting a $500 grant to the Kingston Consolidated school District.

Each year an amount of money is given, above and beyond the the then current school taxes being paid, for the purpose of increasing to the maximum degree possible the general teaching excellence in the districts.

Recipients of the grants since 1963 are Clarkstown Central School District and Haverstraw-Stony Point District No. 1 in Rockland County; City of Newburgh and Marlboro Central School District No. 1 in Orange County; Wappingers Central School District in Dutchess County; Haldane Central School District in Putnam County, and Central School District No. 3 in Westchester County. Four districts in Nassau County and the Kingston Consolidated District Ulster County were added this year.

The uses to which the monies are being put are many and varied. Teachers in the respective district determine how their funds shall be expended. The monies have been used for sabbatical leaves, educational travel, special training, teacher recruitment, establishment of libraries and workshops, training programs and clinics.

Frontrunners Know Their Nays

Scranton Plays GOP Tune In Time: Contradiction

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton and the man he is trying to head off for the Republican presidential nomination, Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, have one thing in common: they contradict themselves.

So does former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

On June 4 Scranton said he could run for the vice presidency on the ticket with Goldwater and said he did not know of "any extremely basic differences" between them.

He said: "Both of us believe in a strong foreign policy . . . in the government's actions being strong on the local level, then on the state, and finally on the federal level.

"There are comparatively little differences between various Republican leaders."

He added he didn't know precisely Goldwater's views on civil rights although why not is hard to explain. Goldwater has talked plenty about them.

Up to this time Scranton had said he was not a presidential candidate, would be willing to be drafted, but wasn't stirred up enough about the issues although in almost the very next sentence he said he was stirred up about foreign problems and our "lack of leadership."

Then on June 12 he switched, announced his candidacy for the presidency, said he had said many times he was not interested in the vice presidency, and called Goldwater's views a "weird parody" on Republican beliefs. He listed a number of differences between him and Goldwater.

Accused Goldwater

He went on to accuse Goldwater — without mentioning his name — of spreading "havoc' and complained that a "small but vocal minority too often has made our party sound naive, irresponsible, reactionary and heartless."

But after this he was asked: if Goldwater got the nomination, would he support him: He said he would do everything in his power, no matter who is nominated, "to see that we have a united party."

Nowhere has he precisely spelled out where he disagrees with Goldwater except now he says one of the factors which induced him to become a candidate was Goldwater's vote last week against ending the filibuster against the civil rights bill, a position Goldwater had long said he would take.

Yet since June 4, when Scranton said he could be Goldwater's running mate and saw no basic differences between them Goldwater has neither said nor done anything that he hadn't said or done before June 4.

Meanwhile, Goldwater, who has created an image of himself as a go-get-'em man "with rolled up sleeves," Sunday refused an invitation to debate the issues with Scranton and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Nixon Performing

Goldwater, a free enterprise man, said they could go get their own audience. Through all this, and before, Nixon had been performing.

In the past two years Nixon said he was finished with public office and would not even let himself be drafted for the presidency, then said he would accept the nomination. He tried to stir up opposition to Goldwater but said he wasn't trying to stop the Arizonan, called Scranton a "puppet," said he wasn't a puppet, said Scranton had given a "weak" and "vacillating" and "bad impression" on television but changed to say he looks strong and wound up by saying he wasn't criticizing Scranton but was only trying to analyze his problems.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If your bills keep pouring in and your debts seem to go only one way —up—here's a happy thought from a cold statistic:

The public's liquid assets this year have increased 6.6 per cent.

Solid Part of Economy

And liquid assets, lest you jump to the wrong conclusion, are regarded as a very sober and solid part of the nation's economy.

Bankers define liquid assets as the public's holdings of money, time deposits in commercial and mutual savings banks, postal savings, savings and loan shares, U.S. savings bonds, the government securities maturing within one year.

You have other assets, doubtless just as meaningful to you, but a bit less liquid because they can't be drawn upon quite as fast and surely in the market place. These include equity in your home, auto, appliances and other furnishings, your stake in Social Security and private pension reserves, your insurance policies, your investments in real estate and long-term securities.

All types of personal assets come to well over a trillion dollars now. They are a reassuring factor when economists worry about mounting debts—personal as well as government — and about monthly payments that tend to rise as personal income does.

Some of Both

Millions of families have both savings and debts, of course. Others may be strongest in debts. Some are above the average in liquid assets.

But just as totals, the personal financial assets of Americans top the personal debts by a comfortable figure, as expressed in current market values.

The assets swelled by $44 billion in 1963, and the debts by $23.6 billion.

The increase in personal liquid assets shows that people have the wherewithal to spend on what they want this summer, if they wish. And the merchants, the dealers, the resort owners, transportation companies are counting on them.

The rise in employment above the 71 million mark adds all the more money to be tapped.

But all liquid assets don't just flow into one pocket and out the other — they just sometimes seem to. The year is likely to end with Americans—as a whole if not yourself in particular—being worth still more than now in spite of all the attractive ways to spend that seem to multiply.

Alleged Slayer Has Child After Holdup

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An unmarried woman, accused of shooting a deaf man during a tavern holdup, has given birth to a daughter at Meyer Memorial Hospital.

Authorities said Carla Leach, 20, charged with first-degree murder, gave birth Sunday to an eight - pound, three - ounce baby. She has been held at the hospital under police guard since Jan. 28.

The mother and child were "doing well," reported the Erie County Sheriff's Department.

Police said John Johnkins, 33, was shot by Miss Leach during a Jan. 22 tavern holdup. Police said she shot Johnkins, who was deaf, when he failed to heed her orders to lie on the floor.

Miss Leach has twice set herself afire and cut her wrists with a bobby pin since her arrest, police said.

A companion, Robert L. Hayes 37, a Negro, who police said acted as a lookout during the $75 holdup, has been charged with first-degree murder and first-degree assault.

Miss Leach, who is white, said after her arrest that she was pregnant, but that Hayes was not the father, police reported.

Has No Favorite Choice, He'd Run If He's Selected

CHICAGO (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, declining to state his choice among contenders for the Republican presidential nomination, says he would accept if delegates selected him to break a convention deadlock.

The former vice president, however, said Sunday the race is between Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and that he doesn't see a "strong third force" that could deadlock the convention.

In a television interview on "Forum," a program broadcast locally in Chicago by station WBKB, Nixon said:

"In the event that the convention fails to find in any of the present candidates a man who can unite the party at the convention, and if the party leaders turned to me, then I would undertake the responsibility of the nomination and I would conduct an extensive campaign.

"That conclusion has not been reached, and I do not believe it will be. I think that one or the other (Goldwater or Scranton) will be the candidate."

A total of 119 degrees were presented to graduates of Keuka College, at Nearby Keuka Park.

Police Report Woman Fights, Kills Spouse

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP—A woman has been charged with first-degree manslaughter in the stabbing death of her husband after the couple had quarreled.

The body of Edward Skupin, 47, was found by an ambulance crew Saturday night sprawled in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor of the family's modern brick home in Niagara Falls.

Police were summoned and Mrs. Stephania Skupin, 40, was charged with first-degree manslaughter.

Police said the couple's teenage son, James, told them his father and mother had argued and he had gone to his mother's aid after his father struck her. The boy then left the room briefly, police said, and, when he returned, he found his father dead.

Police said Skupin had been stabbed in the back with a four-inch paring knife.

Eight Attack Two Defending Wives

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men, who knocked down two Negroes for allegedly molesting their wives as they walked along brightly lighted Broadway Sunday night, were mobbed and beaten by eight Negroes minutes later. Dozens of strollers watched.

By the time police came, the attackers had fled.

LINKING KNOWLEDGE

Science today is like a huge ship operated by many specialists, none of whom is a navigator.

This presents quite a number of problems for the decision-makers, the captains of industry and government. They must necessarily consult and confer with a battery of individuals, each an expert on one thing or another, before they can make the inevitable decisions which will materially affect mankind.

So we have plenty of scientific cooks. One can only hope they won't spoil the global broth. It's pretty confusing.

But Joseph Tykociner and zetetics would like to straighten things out.

Dr. Tykociner is a professor of electrical engineering at the University of Illinois. And zetetics, the term he coined, is the study of relationships between literature, physics, electrical engineering, political science and other areas of interest to man.

The zetetist's slogan might well be "a little (narrow) knowledge is a dangerous thing." And, to buttress the phrase, the zetetist adds that his first job is to classify all disciplines by laying out a blueprint of the known to permit intelligent focusing on the not-yet-known.

In other words, this modern-day generalist is searching for the "overview" position so that he can take a long, objective look at the great mass of recorded knowledge and determine the links which bind and relate each specific area to the other.

Zetetics thus tends to raise possibilities of looking at current problems from an over-all long-range and international viewpoint.

It would be easy to dismiss this approach as a product of the jack-of-all-trades-and-master-of-none school, but Tykociner doesn't consider the zetetist a philosopher-king who can blithely say, "I take all knowledge to be my province."

Human knowledge is much too variegated and diffused to allow for this presumption. The zetetist, rather, must plan for future educated and co-ordinated assaults on the unknown.

To do this, he believes, one must study and understand the close relationships between the many areas of arts and sciences—and this is the main function and interest of zetetics, which may very well be the science of the future.

ACCIDENT CUSHIONS

Not long hence, passengers may find themselves surviving airplane crashes because suddenly inflated plastic or rubber bags have protected them from the worst of the impact. This prospect is held out as the result of tests made recently for the Federal Aviation Agency by the Flight Safety Foundation.

In a plane equipped with this system, the pilot would inflate the bags by flicking a switch when a hard landing or crash was expected. Each passenger would at once be enveloped in air cushions, which woud later deflate automatically.

In the experiment, a DC-7 airliner thundered down a runway and smashed into a hillside at 160 miles an hour. A dummy aboard the plane was surrounded by the inflated bags. An FAA spokesman said after test data had been analyzed, "Results indicate the dummy who sat in for a man would have survived the crash."

Although such a system would not guarantee survival, the chances are that it could save many lives. It is to be hoped that, once the method has been perfected, it can be made standard equipment for commercial passenger aircraft.

One further notion comes to mind. If inflated bags can make plane travel safer, can they do the same for auto travel? Such an installation in an automobile may not be feasible, but thought should be given to the matter. Air cushions might be better than seat belts in a highway crash.

SATIRICAL VERSUS STATISTICAL TRUTH

Williamsburg, Va. — I have just been participating in a gathering of students from forty-four foreign countries who came here to take part in the annual Williamsburg International Assembly. The last seminar of a three-day session was thrown into something of an uproar when Andrew Hacker, an associate professor of government at Cornell University, used the cold terms of a cultural anthropologist to describe the power struggle of whites and Negroes in the United States.

He spoke of two clashing "Populist" movements, one consisting of Negroes who are attempting to crash a society which has rejected them, and the other composed of fearful white "backlashers" who are shaky about their own hard-won financial security, real estate values, and social status. He predicted, as a "student of power," that the backlash would take on formidable proportions in the next few years.

Professor Hacker's speech was delivered deadpan, but there were undercurrents of irony in it. Obviously, to an American, he was hitting at northern hypocrites who are all for integration in Mississippi and Alabama but who carefully move themselves to all-white suburbs when their blocks are "busted" by Negro househunters in a big city. The note of irony, however, failed to cross the language barriers of students from Belgium, Ethiopa, Ecuador, and India. Some of the boys and girls couldn't understand it when Professor Hacker said he spoke as a scientific student of power, not as a moralist.

Since this columnist once read all the works of the late Thorstein Veblen, who used to describe the "underlying population" in terms that sounded scientifically neutral but actually masked a good deal of the sympathy for the underdog, the Hacker approach to the problem of the "two populisms" seemed quite a masterpiece of basic understanding of a potentially ugly situation. On the one hand the Negro is on the march. And on the other hand no one who has paid $25,000 for a house in a white suburb likes to see $10,000 lopped off his investment overnight because of a change in the racial composition of the neighborhood. These are clashing facts of life, which Professor Hacker, no Pollyanna, was trying to get across.

That he failed to do it points to a serious modern deficiency. Even some of the students who were proficient in their English didn't get the Hacker drive toward sociological truth as expressed in satirical terms. Can it be that nobody really understands satire any more?

This may not seem to be a monumental problem to many, but it raises a serious question among those of us who make a living by writing. Or, for that matter by cartooning. Al Capp, the creator of the comic strip "Li'l Abner," happened to be part of the third-day seminar here at Williamsburg. He also spoke in satirical terms, depicting the U. S. as a cultural Lower Slobbovia. He, too, was misunderstood. And, ironically, he had to use straightforward and wholly non-humorous words to explain to the audience that Professor Hacker didn't really believe in eating Negro babies for breakfast.

The pragmatic deduction which your columnist drew from the seminar here is that statistics are safer than satirical exposition. And so I will rely on statistics to prove that this country inches toward improvement. A few years ago there were unintegrated shops in Williamsburg. Today commercial desegregation here is a fact. The change has been voluntary. It has taken place in spite of agitation for "Populist" backlash on the part of some whites.

The world does move. At a Swarthmore College commencement President Johnson spoke of a poverty that " keeps one-fifth of our people in economic bondage." It was only thirty years ago that Franklin Roosevelt spoke of "a third of a nation" being ill-fed. From one-third to one-fifth in thirty years means that we have lifted thirteen percent of the people out of poverty in a little over a generation.

Capitalist production, of course, is what did it. But this calls for another column. I promise to stick to statistics.

THE WELL CHILD

Child's Irritability Normal But Watch Chronic Whiner

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What would cause my 2½-year-old daughter to be irritable? She whines all day and I'm a wreck. Our doctor says there's nothing wrong with her, but she's getting worse.

A—It is normal for a child to be irritable when she has a fever, is overtired or has a nagging discomfort of any sort. On the other hand, a chronic whiner usually has no organic disease, but may have a feeling of insecurity. This may be the result of neglect or overindulgence which is often a cover up for a lack of true affection. Such a child, although not physically sick now, will suffer poor health all her life unless there is a change in her emotional background.

Q—Our daughter has a superabundance of freckles. What can we do to get rid of them and keep them from coming back?

A—Although several preparations have been tried for the removable of freckles, none is satisfactory. They either cause a severe reaction similar to eczema or the results are only temporary. Many people find freckles very attractive and certainly no one should regard them as a disease. The best course would be for your daughter to learn to live with them. But if she is self-conscious about them, she should avoid exposure to the sun because that darkens them. If that doesn't satisfy her, she should try a masking cream.

Q—My 12-year-old son developed a bald spot the size of a dime on the back of his head about six months ago. Our doctor said it was nothing to worry about. He now has four such spots on his scalp. What would you advise?

A—This patchy baldness is, as your doctor says, no cause for alarm. The condition usually clears up spontaneously. After several months, the hair gradually comes in again. Since the cause is unknown, there is no specific treatment, but various general measures are believed by some to be helpful. These include giving vitamin B complex, ultraviolet light or gradually increasing exposure to the sun, massage, and the application of a stimulating ointment containing anthralin or prednisolone.

Q—Our 11-year-old son weighs 105 pounds and is 57 inches tall. Is this considered overweight? If so, how many calories should he be allowed each day?

A—Your son is of average height for his age and is definitely above average in weight. The number of calories he requires depends on how active he is, but in order to keep his weight within the normal range, you should cut down his intake of such concentrated foods as margarine or butter, bread, candy, cake and jam and substitute fruit and gelatin deserts.

A number of GOP hopefuls have asked, What's Goldwater got that I haven't got? And the answer comes back loud and clear: Delegates.

The "equal pay for equal work" law goes into effect — giving men, already outmaneuvered, one less weapon in the battle of the sexes.

"You Suppose He's Got a New Set of Blueprints?"

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CLEVELAND, OHIO—(NEA)—Footnotes to a Governor's Conference that just about put the final seal on Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater as 1964 Republican presidential nominee:

Richard Kleindienst, top delegate rustler for Goldwater, believes Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York was 200,000 votes ahead in California after his upset victory in the Oregon primary. Goldwater's final California's margin was 60,000.

In a purely social setting, some key Goldwater men sat up until 5 a. m. Sunday, June 7, urging aides of Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania not to "chew up the party" by thrusting their man deep into a "stop Goldwater" movement.

AFTER ROCKEFELLER'S sarcastic jabs at Scranton for not taking a firm opposition stand, Scranton men had some comments of their own. One says Rockefeller had made not one single telephone call to Scranton since early last November.

Also regarded as symptomatic of the general lack of liaison among the moderate forces was the ironic fact that the first real contact between the "political families" of Scranton and Michigan's Gov. George Romney came the evening of the day Goldwater was virtually conceded the nomination.

Goldwater forces were taking no chances that the governors might forget Barry's numerous vocal supporters around the country. To the governors' rooms came streams of telegrams from their home states and major points in Ohio, most following a few limited patterns of language. One read "Goldwater or death."

SCRANTON HAD HIS OWN SPECIAL DELUGE of telegrams, most urging him to jump into the race against Goldwater. And even in the dying moments of his briefly enlivened candidacy, two separate $10,000 contributions came his way.

Rockefeller is said to be extremely bitter since the California primary. What upsets him especially, it is said, is not so much his defeat as the fact that Scranton, Romney and Richard Nixon all dispatched telegrams to Goldwater assuring him of their "neutrality" in the campaign.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's second major telephone call ("let's not be divisive" to Scranton was not the only dampener on the statement the governor made June 7 on his availability for the nomination and Goldwater's possible unsuitability. (The Scranton stand was widely viewed as weak.)

SCRANTON WAS UNHAPPY over what he regards as Romney's untimely blasts against Goldwater. These came publicly before Scranton spoke on television. Scranton was aware that nearly all GOP governors disapproved the timing—if not the sentiments — involved in Romney's move. The Pennsylvanian figured a strong stand might then have left him out on a cracking limb.

The tone of the governors' disapproval left no doubt they felt it was too late, that Goldwater has the nomination locked up.

Reports circulated in the conference corridors that Scranton's statement being prepared for his television appearance had a few real mule kicks in it. But the governor's aides steadfastly refuse to release any portion of the purely "draft" document.

Actually, he had not finally decided to use it. In any event, it was being revised at the very moment Eisenhower's Sunday call caught Scranton in his hotel suite. From that time on the signals were new. The governor brought some papers with him into the television studio. But since he made no move to look at them during his interview, no one knows for sure they were the pages of the now-buried document.

Republican Party Still Has Dark Horse Potential

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON

Maybe the Republicans now are going to have an open convention—whatever that means—but certainly the initial pronouncement last Friday by Gov. William Scranton, declaring his candidacy, hardly expressed any novel point of view. Mr. Scranton had said as recently as June 4 that he saw "no extremely basic differences" with Sen. Goldwater. In fact, a careful reading of the address made at Baltimore by the Pennsylvania Governor leads to the conclusion that the Arizonia Senator could easily accept the principles outlined. Mr. Scranton said for example:

"I say that the true spirit of the Republican party today stands equally dedicated to preserving this nation from the dry rot of phony liberalism or the slow death of blind reaction."

The truth is that Sen. Goldwater, in his speeches, has exerted far more effort to try to get rid of the "dry rot of phony liberalism" in the country than has any other leader or candidate in the Republican party. As for the "slow death of blind reaction," it isn't quite clear just what is meant by this phrase, for Mr. Scranton could hardly be saying that blind reaction and conservatism are the same thing. Nor can the conservative movement in America be said to be dying a slow death when a spokesman like Sen. Goldwater polls a popular vote in the ten state primaries in excess of the total of all his Republican opponents put together.

There is one paragraph in Mr. Scranton's speech which certainly attracted attention in Congressional circles here. He said:

"Our party is not about to forget that the first great act of a great American President is to get elected. Nor are we about to forget our candidates for the U. S. Senate, for the House of Representatives, for the Governors' chairs, for the State Legislatures and for the local offices."

But Mr. Scranton need go back only eight years to discover that in a national election in which President Eisenhower was re-elected by a margin of 457 to 74 electoral votes, the Democrats not only retained control of both houses of Congress, but increased their majority in the House of Representatives. Local issues have upset the "coattail" theory in several Presidential elections.

Sen. Goldwater, of course, doesn't have the Republican nomination absolutely assured, because anything could happen between now and convention time, and, as was stated in these dispatches after the California primary, there is a tendency always for opponents to fight a last-ditch battle right up to the balloting at the convention.

It has been said that Gov. Scranton entered the race "too late." It's never too late for a dark horse to show up. There is still time for more candidates. Those Republicans who want someone other than Sen. Goldwater could have sought out and found a compromise type. They have, for some reason, failed to take a good look at several Republican members of the U. S. Senate.

It is strange that, after the rise of Lyndon Johnson to the Presidency from the position of Senate majority leader, the anti-Goldwater Republicans have been turning their eyes away from the Senate and toward governorships. Certainly, a man who has been active in Congress is far more familiar with national and international problems than are candidates who aspire to go directly to the White House from a Governor's chair.

It seems surprising, for instance, that Everett Dirksen, the leader of the Republican party in the U. S. Senate, has not been suggested for the Republican Presidential nomination. He knows much more about the intricacies of legislation on national policies than do some of the men outside Congress who have been mentioned as potential candidates.

Mr. Dirksen is an affable individual like Lyndon Johnson, and certainly has made an interesting presentation of the Republican side of the case in his many pronouncements. He has, moreover, been a conservative Republican most of his years in Congress. While he has occasionally veered over to the liberal side for practical political reasons and has been subject to criticism by some conservatives, there seems no doubt that he has the confidence of many conservatives and is esteemed as a fair-minded person by the liberal faction in the Republican party in Congress.

Then there are other Senators who might be considered—as, for instance, Thruston Morton of Kentucky, who was chairman of the Republican National Committee during the 1960 campaign and will be permanent chairman of the convention in San Francisco. An examination of the records of various Republican members of the U. S. Senate would be rewarding if the Republicans really are trying to bring about an open convention. The research might not be in vain, as it could turn up at least a good Republican candidate for the Vice-Presidency.

The lament of the middle-aged man:

They are making staircases steeper than they used to. The steps are higher, and there are more of them. Ceilings are higher now, and the trip from the first floor to the second is longer. Women are wearing less and less, and they look sillier and sillier. I wonder what the heck I ever saw in them in the first place?

Have you noticed the newspapers? The cheap skates are using smaller and smaller print. To see anything, I have to hold the thing at arm's length. This morning I had to back halfway out of phone booth to read the number on the coin box.

I won't wear glasses. Nobody can make me. My eyes are as good as they ever were. I tried getting someone to read to me, but today everybody speaks in such a low tone that you can't hear a word they're saying. Then, when you ask them to speak up, they don't make much sense anyway.

I'd like to know what happened to distance. Everything is spread out. Today, it is twice the distance from the house to the railroad station, and I don't know how it was done. Last week I noticed that somebody added a good-sized hill to the landscape. The trains leave quicker too. They wait until I'm almost to the station, when they take off like missiles.

The timetables are no good. They used to be reliable. Now I can't read them, and nobody can understand them. No use asking the conductor. He doesn't know either. Usually, I get up from my seat a couple of stations ahead, to make sure I don't pass my stop. Sometimes I make doubly sure by getting off one station ahead.

Everything is changing. And all for the worse. The clerks are insolent if you ask the slightest question; policemen say "Wait for the light, Pop." I'd like to pop them. Barbers used to hold the mirror up behind my head after they cut my hair. Now they polish it with a hot cloth. My wife takes care of our appointments because she says I can't remember a damned thing. She's been belittling me for thirty years, but one of these days she's going to get hers. Right between the horns.

The world has gone crazy. The material they put in suits climbs up my back. It shrinks in certain places, like the waist and the hips. It must be old burlap. When I bend over to tie my shoelaces, the room gets dark and I can't locate the laces.

The Russians must be doing something to the weather. It is much colder in the winter, and hotter in the summer, than when I was a boy. In those days we had honest seasons. Whatever they're doing, the snow is heavier to shovel. Rain is also wetter than in the old days. Drafts are worse. It must be the way they build windows now-a-days.

Even people are changing. They're younger than they used to be when I was their age. Kids, practically. Kids are running the country. The doctor who tells me to take it easy does the cha-cha-cha all night. The Russians may be squirting something secret into the air. People can't be this nutty on purpose.

I used to enjoy a good cut of beef. Now everything tastes alike. Nothing has flavor anymore. There was a time when dinner was an event, and a man spent hours thinking about it and waiting for it. These days, it's like chewing on an old inner tube. Come to think of it, why can't the denitsts make teeth that will stay in? The only time mine remain where they're put is in a glass of water.

The young girls are a disgrace to the country. They're always looking at boys, and exposing themselves, and I often thought that if I had girls I'd fan the tar out of them and make them wear decent clothing, something that doesn't expose the whole ankle. No wonder they get in trouble. They're asking for it.

It's the fault of the parents, of course. Some of them are worse than no parents at all. They're so busy gallivanting around and about that they haven't got time to learn the names of the children. God help the country in another ten years. They eat too much, drink too much, play too much, and have entirely too much fun. In the good old days, we had real hardship.

If we had a dime on Saturday night, we thought we were millionaires. Today, a kid wants a dollar to go to the store. From his own parents, too. I could go to the store in the morning, before work, if I could get out of bed. The pains in my legs and my neck are terrible. Must be chronic dampness in the air. It takes me ten minutes sitting on the side of the bed to find out who I am, much less what I'm doing and where I'm going.

I should have slugged that boy scout in front of the Food Fair. "Can I help you across the street, sir?" he said. Little boys are becoming more and more insolent. It's the parents' fault, of course. Or did I say that before? I better shut up before I start repeating myself . . .

Re-Vote Tuesday

Record Number OCS Voters To Determine Fate of Budget

The largest number of eligible voters in Onteora Central School District history—3,485—will decide the fate of the proposed $2,696,435 1964-65 school budget in Tuesday's re-vote.

The budget was defeated by 18 votes on May 6, 805 to 787, with 1683 of the 2822 eligible voters exercising their franchise. The same budget will be at stake tomorrow.

The new registration figures represent an increase of 663 over the May 6 eligible list and reflect the high degree of voter interest in the controversial budget. The registration figure has been exceeded only by that for the elementary school construction bond issue last year when more than 4,000 were eligible.

Highest registration for Tuesday's vote is in Woodstock with 1183. Shandaken 788, Olive 693 and West Hurley, 821.

Voting hours are from 2 to 9 p. m. at the four polling centers —Shandaken hown hall, Onteora Central School, Boiceville; Woodstock and West Hurley elementary schools.

Rocks and Signs, New Slants on Bradley Meadow

An interesting vignette attracted the attention of motorists Saturday who drove by the now controversial Bradley Meadows en route to Woodstock village.

While huge trucks were dumping several tons of shale and rock on the southeast corner of the meadows, a group of spirited young men were trying to raise the sign that was erected in the meadows several days ago. The sign bore the legend: "What Do You Want Buckville or Woodstock?"

The timing of Saturday's episode was interesting, since only the night before more than 100 members of the Committee for the Preservation of Bradley Meadows had met at the Woodstock Playhouse to discuss ways and means of preserving the historic landscape scene.

The word was passed around quickly, however, late Saturday that the rock and shale was being dumped there to improve drainage in that area of the 2.6 acre plot on which a supermarket may be built, if the committee is unable to purchase the land from its owners Attorney Howard C. St. John of Kingston and Mrs. Peter Spinelli of New York.

Carey Is Elected Postmaster Veep

Postmaster Leon Carey of Woodstock has been elected a vice president of the New York chapter of the National Association of Postmasters. He was elected last week at the chapter's annual meeting at Massena. Robert Caves of North Rose is the new president.

Three other vice presidents named with Carey were: Mrs. Margaret Schneider of Clay, Dorothy White of Bloomingdale, and Andrew Wulfurst of New Hyde Park.

John J. Gaffney of Liverpool was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

There will be a purchase prize of 200 awarded by a committee of representatives from the Onteora Central School, the Board of Education, the P-TA and the Woodstock Association.

The painting is to be presented to the Woodstock elementary school by the Woodstock Artists Association.

Collection Center Open Tuesday, Saturday

The Library Fair Collection Center will be open from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays in the month of June.

Many interesting items are coming into the center. In addition there are every day household and wardrobe items and such things as 100 cut calico patches, with varying designs and all set to be sewn together for a quilt.

All persons attending the fair this year are invited to attend in costumes as in earlier library fairs when color and gaiety were the order of the day. Judges of the costumes will remain unidentified and will select the prize winners.

Since the time consuming work of the volunteers who take care of the collection center is so important and all items contributed are so needed and accepted, it is urged that articles be delivered as early as possible.

Part-Time Student Plan Is Success at Onteora

The Onteora Central School has received an excellent response from employers interested in hiring students for part-time, weekend summer work, Principal Paul T. Runge reports. Students have been placed to work in stores, restaurants and service stations. Others will be engaged in child care, gardening and house cleaning.

There are still a number of excellent workers available, who offer a wide range of talents. Students with special skills in shorthand, typing, art, music, writing and horsemanship to name a few are still seeking work. Counselors in day camps and residential camps are still to be found. Students are at hand to work in the area, from Pine Hill to Kingston and from Woodstock to Olive Bridge.

Employment experience is a valuable part of a young person's education. Prospective employers are asked to help educate the young by listing employment opportunities with the school. A listing can be made by calling the Onteora school.

Senate May View Non-Rights Bill After Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders drive this week for passage of the civil rights bill, and so confident are they of victory, they already are turning their attention to other major administration legislation.

A tremendous pileup of House-approved measures is awaiting Senate action once the civil rights bill is passed.

All sides, including the Southerners who have fought the bill since March 9, concede it will pass this week, with Wednesday or Thursday considered the most likely day.

Sen. Barry Goldwater will vote against the measure unless it is materially revised, his campaign manager said Sunday night. Denison Kithel said Goldwater, Arizona Republican who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, objects to the bill's provisions on public accommodation and private employment practices. No revisions are likely on these provisions.

Among the "must" measures waiting their turn in the Senate is the $533-million federal pay increase bill the House passed last Thursday. The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee has given tentative approval to much of the measure, but has additional sessions scheduled.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said hearings also may start soon on the President Johnson's $962-million anti-poverty legislation.

The House Rules Committee meets on this Tuesday and is expected to clear it for House floor action, probably next week.

YOUR LOVING SON

Retires from Air Force After 20 Years Service

JOHN E. LOVIN

BILOXI, Miss.—Senior Master Sergeant John E. Lovin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Lovin of Fresno, Calif., and husband of the former Julia Mauro of Glasco, has retired from the U. S. Air Force at Keesler AFB, Miss., after more than 20 years service.

Sergeant Lovin served as a supervisor of an electronics intercept operations analysis course at the Air Training Command's Keesler Technical Training Center prior to his retirement.

The sergeant came to Keesler from an overseas tour in Sembach, Germany.

During World War 2, while serving as a radio gunner on a B-17, the "Silver Dollar," Sergeant Lovin was shot down over Germany while participating in a bombing mission over enemy territory. He was held a prisoner of war 23 months in Stalag 17-B. The sergeant served in Alaska during the Korean Conflict.

Among his medals are the Air Medal, the Purple Heart and the Air Force Commendation Medal.

Blaze Destroys Four Buildings Near Greenfield

At 4:30 a. m. Sunday Ellenville firemen received a call from Claredon Hotel notifying them that the hotel was on fire. Because of insufficient information given by the person calling, firemen went to Greenfield, the address to which the owner of the hotel receives mail.

When the firemen arrived they were unable to locate the hotel but presently observed a fire in the Dairyland area two miles west of Greenfield. By the time firemen arrived at the scene, some two miles west of Greenfield on Route 52, they found the hotel enveloped in flames.

The hotel owner, Vincent Collica of New York City, told Fire Chief William McCombs of Ellenville that he had been aroused by his sister-in-law who had smelled smoke. Investigation disclosed flames burning in the vicinity of electric wiring. Endeavors were made to put out the fire with pails of water but when that failed Ellenville firemen were summoned.

Ellenville notified the Woodbourne Fire District, in which the fire was located and Chief Al Prince of the Woodbourne Department then took charge.

Water was pumped from a pond on the premises but it was impossible to save two wooden two and half story buildings. Other adjacent buildings were kept wet down and saved.

Ellenville supplied two pieces of apparatus and Woodbourne sent three.

Two pumpers of Centerville and one of Cedar Grove Fire Company responded and flooded the fire with a direct line from a hydrant on Route 212. Equipment was under the direction of Chief Robert Thein and Assistant Chief Granville Scotty Myer.

Saugerties Meet Of Muzzleloaders Enjoy Fair Skies

Brilliant skies and a brisk breeze combined to enliven the holiday scene at Knaust Field Saturday and Sunday when the 120th N. Y. Volunteer Regiment was host for the Northeast Regional Civil War Skirmish.

An estimated 4,000 participants and spectators gathered before and behind the shooting line as the 25 teams competed for the Blackinton medals. Regalia was varied and colorful including the plaid pants of the Scottish team, the elegant curled tails on the caps of the bug-tailed brigade, the red and blue uniformed Zouaves and the Confederate gray and gold.

Many of the ladies attended in pastel crinolines, their costumes completed with authentic shawls and parasols.

The competition ratings in order of finish included:

1st N. Y. Light Artillery, 15.34 minute; 1st N. J. Volunteer Infantry, 25.532 minutes; 72nd Pennsylvania Volunteer, Company A, 28.45 minutes; 15th Regiment Connecticut Volunteer Infantry, 28.595 minutes, and 9th N. Y. Cavalry, 29.045 minutes.

A picked team of muzzleloaders defeated teams of Saugerties Town Police and 1st Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard. The town police and 156th used service revolvers.

Fifth May Be Taken On State Level Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the Constitution's Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination applies in state as well as in federal proceedings.

Ruling on the petition of a Connecticut man convicted on gambling charges, the high court stated:

"We hold that the Constitution's 14th Amendment guaranteed the petitioner the protection of the Fifth Amendment's privilege of self-incrimination."

Justice William J. Brennan, delivering the court's majority opinion, declared that, under applicable federal standards, the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors erred in holding that the petitioner's claim of privilege against self-incrimination was not properly invoked.

The Supreme Court's vote was 5-4.

Ulster Gets Less in State Return of MV Tax Receipts

Ulster County's share of a distribution of motor vehicle tax receipts for the three-month period ending March 31 are $1,618.12 less than the $218,653.53 received for the same period in 1963. The county's share for the first quarter of 1964 is $217,035.41.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the distribution of $21,791,563.30 of motor vehicle tax receipts to the counties of the state and to the City of New York for the counties comprising the city.

New York City's share of the total is $6,104,856.73.

The total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the first quarter of 1964, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law. The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the Law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of counties, be returned to local government.

The counties of Greene, Orange, Columbia and Delaware also received less for the first quarter of this year, while Dutchess County's share for the period ending last March 31 is $3,712.18 more than last year.

A summary showing the counties' share of the 1964 distribution and the distribution for the first quarter in 1963 follows:

(The first figure is the distribution for the quarter ending March 31, 1963, the second is for the three-month period of 1964).

Columbia — $107,174.91-$105,717.46; Dutchess — $290,282.54-$293,994.72; Greene—$74,961.03-$66,059.79; Orange—$370,283.54-$333,231.02.

Lodge Not

Frankel under a Washington dateline, said:

"Lodge told President Johnson that the resignation was prompted by reasons of health, which he did not specify. The timing of the request, dated yesterday (Saturday), will assure his return home no later than one day before the start of the Republican convention....

"Mr. Lodge's move will free him of the restraints of the Foreign Service and enable him to participate in efforts to deny the Republican presidential nomination to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona."

No Official Notice

Asked about the New York Times story, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said Sunday night that Lodge's post "is a presidential appointment and the President has received no such communication."

Lodge, the 1960 Republican candidate for vice president, had denied repeatedly he planned to leave his Saigon post.

Despite his refusal to discuss politics, Lodge's supporters entered him in several presidential primaries. After winning New Hampshire's 14 votes, he added 30 from his native Massachusetts and one each from Alaska and Ohio.

Lodge was named to the Saigon post last June 27 by President John F. Kennedy. In 1952, Kennedy had captured Lodge's U.S. Senate seat and in 1960 Lodge was the GOP vice presidential candidate against the victorious Democratic team of Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

With $84,000 In Stock Widow Must Diversify

Q—"I'm a widow, 70 years old, with no family. I have 600 shares of American Telephone, about $2,500 of series E bonds and $20,000 in savings. Should I start a portfolio of stocks? My only worry is inflation. My E bonds mature soon. Are they going to be extended beyond the 20 years?" — M. S.

A—If I may reply to your last question first, the answer is that your E bonds ,soon maturing, will be extended automatically for another 10-year period at a rate of 3¾ per cent, compounded semi-annually.

You already have $84,000 in Telephone stock, which is ample protection against inflation. What you do lack is diversification, with your over- dependence on one major holding.

I believe you should switch part of your Telephone into Standard Oil of New Jersey, National Dairy, and Consolidated Edison—each of which would improve your income.

Q—"Would you kindly give me your opinion of Brunswick, Studebaker, Sperry Rand, and American Photocopy? Are these sound investments with growth potential? Is there any truth to the rumor that Brunswick is going to merge with an outboard motor company and a hospital supply firm? — L. D.

A—I'm afraid you've been misled by the not uncommon but entirely erroneous assumption that well-known stocks selling at a depressed price are necessarily good investments. In most cases—certainly in the four you mention — nothing could be further from the truth.

These stocks are thoroughly speculative — and not particularly attractive speculations at that. I would not buy any of them at this time.

Brunswick is already in the hospital supply and motor business, and I know of no plans for any other mergers along these lines.

I advise you to raise your sights materially and consider issues of the calibre of Texaco; Procter and Gamble; and Sears, Roebuck.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Grads Told Unity Must Be in Hearts, Minds

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren told the 3,300-member Stanford University graduating class Sunday that the American ideal has been to bring about unity through diversity.

"All true union is the integration of diversity" and America's "pluralistic society is made up of people of diverse races, colors and religions."

The Chief Justice told the 73rd annual Stanford commencement audience of 12,000, "It has been hard for human beings to learn this lesson, and all through the ages they have paid a price for rejecting it. Group pride, group rapacity, the assertion of superiority, the fear of change, have always fought against it.

"Unity can only be brought about if it exists in the heart and mind of people and if all are accorded equal rights and opportunities."

If your doctor has prescribed a medication for you, be sure to pack enough for your vacation. It's wise to ask your doctor to make out an extra prescription blank to keep in your wallet, in case your luggage is delayed or you lose your pillbox, the Ulster County Heart Association suggests.

Following the morning session, industry representatives attending the meeting will be guests of the IBM at luncheon.

It is expected that the following banks, public utilities, and manufacturers will be represented at the meeting:

Ethel, Borgnine Wedding Shaping As Notable Event

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This year's most famous June bride will be wearing yellow.

That's the color of the wedding gown Ethel Merman has chosen for her June 26 wedding to Ernest Borgnine. The union of the Broadway song belter and the onetime lovelorn Marty, now skipper of "McHale's Navy," is shaping up as one of Hollywood's most notable weddings in years.

The Merm was discussing plans on the set of "The Art of Love," in which she wears six complete outfits of varying hues, including wigs of green, blue, orange, etc. She plays the part of the proprietress of a Parisian body shop; in other words, this is one time she can say "Call Me Madam" and mean it.

"I came out here May 20 to get married, and then this picture came up," she explained. "Ernie said it was too good a part to pass up, so I went ahead. But now I hardly have a minute to take care of the wedding, and what details!"

Fortunately, she already had arranged for her gown in New York.

The bride-to-be also mentioned that the wedding will take place in the garden of Ernie's Beverly Hills home with a reception following at Chasen's. What started as an intimate ceremony has expanded, as with most weddings, the latest count being 200. All of Ernie's McHale's Navy crew are invited — "I know, because I addressed all the envelopes," said Ethel.

Her mother and father are here from New York for the wedding, and they'll be joined by Ethel's daughter, married and the mother of two, and a son, a theater arts major at Carnegie Tech. Honeymoon?

"Gee, I don't know," said Ethel. "I've got to be back at work on the picture the Monday after the wedding. And Ernie has to start his series July 27. We still hope to get to Japan, but I haven't been able to take my shots because I don't want to get a reaction and hold up the picture."

Dear Abby . . .

A "Leading" question!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and I live in Lead, South Dakota. I think our State is very unfarily treated. It is never advertised like New York or California or Texas. I love my State and we have just as many exciting things as other State. And Lead is a nice city, too, but you never hear anything about it. Can you put this in your column and give us a boost?

LESLIE DORNBUSH, Lead, S. D.

DEAR LESLIE: The pioneers fought the Indians, grasshoppers and dust to make South Dakota one of the richest farming States in the nation. And there's gold in them thar hills, too! Furthermore, your Rushmore Memorial Park is one of the best known State parks in the country. Your pheasant hunting is second to none. South Dakota is growing in resources and culture. So ask your governor if he has Lead in his plans.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I once read somewwhere that it is quite proper to say, "I don't give a dam," because a dam is a coin used in India. Is there any truth in this?

J. S.

DEAR J. S.: A "dam" was indeed a former copper coin used in India. But it has been so many years since anyone has had a dam to give that expression today is more profane than proper.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an adorable boy. Oh, he's not that cute, but heck, neither am I. He's 19 and I am 13. The only ones who know how I feel about him are my two best girl friends. They say I should give up and forget him because he is too old for me, but I have tried and I can't. I have felt this way about him since I was nine and a half. I can't see where six years is much a big difference. My mother is 33 and my father is 39. Do you think there is any hope?

GREENVILLE

DEAR GREENVILLE: Not at 13! Stay out of sight. And when you are 19 and he is 25, try again.

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. M. F.: If he is truly your friend, tell him candidly that he needs a psychiatrist with five couches. One for each member of his family.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television has settled down to a sleepy, summery pace, especially on weekends.

This reviewer was confronted with an hour or so to kill Sunday after NBC's "Meet the Press," when Barry Goldwater's campaign manager fielded tough questions very neatly. The networks offered only "Mr. Ed," "Lassie" and "The Bill Dana Show," and there is nothing more dreary than seeing a comedy for a second time.

Thus I found myself watching a 15-year-old James Cagney gangster movie. At one point, Cagney shot a man and then kicked him down a long flight of stairs, with the camera showing every bounce. At another he jammed a victim in the trunk of an automobile and casually pumped lead into it. The final shoot-out lasted at least 15 minutes.

The most violent scene I have encountered in this season's television output came in Sunday nights NBC "Show of the Week," a meandering tale called "Ambassador at Large."

It was a most uneven piece, extremely talky, with a few wild bursts of action.

The story centered on a fictitious South American country on the verge of revolution. A U.S. State Department troubleshooter sent to soothe the dictator arrives just as the rebel leader appears at embassy to ask political asylum.

The play sought to explain the necessity for dealing with an official of whom our nation disapproved and also tried to point out the reluctance of the State Department men to send his enemy out to certain death.

The play solved their problem in a way that got the dramatist off the hook but was not satisfactory to the viewer. They spirited the rebel out of the embassy by a trick, but he was caught and killed later, thus placating the dictator.

The shocking scene was one that showed, in specific detail, the hanging of four rebel partisans. It was not necessary to the story.

Arthur Kennedy and Andrew Duggan played the State Department good guys. Peter Falk as the banana republic firebrand used such a convincing foreign accent that he was hard to understand.

Most unexpected event of the weekend was the act from the "Folies Bergere" which Ed Sullivan chose for his show Sunday night. Instead of a scantily clad chorus of mademoiselles doing a can-can, there were two men and a girl doing tricks on a slack wire. That's hardly what tourists attend the Folies to see.

Rules Are Made To Be Broken

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the most difficult problems a bridge player faces is that of knowing when to break a rule.

The book lead from the West hand is the deuce of hearts, but West decided to lead the jack. He wanted to be able to continue hearts in the event that dummy showed up with the guarded king.

Against the deuce of hearts lead, South would have had no trouble making five odd. Against the jack of hearts lead and a heart continuation he could have made four odd by double dummy play. He actually went down one.

Hearts were continued and he ruffed the second heart. Then he led two rounds of trumps only to get the sad news about the bad break.

Undaunted, he shifted to a diamond. West played the nine and East ducked. A second diamond went to East's ace and now East continued the brilliant defense by leading a third heart.

South ruffed and led a third diamond. West ruffed that and led a fourth round of hearts. This gave South a Hobson's choice. He could ruff in dummy and have no way to get back to his hand to pull West's last trump, or he could ruff in his own hand and establish West's ten spot.

How could South have made the hand double dummy? He could have led only one round of trumps before going after diamonds.

WHISTLER'S FATHER—Yes, Whistler had a father, too, although you don't hear much about him. The famous painting of Whistler's mother, usually hung in Paris' Louvre Museum and now on an American tour, overshadows that of his father, Maj. George Washington Whistler. Dad's picture is at Washington's Freer Gallery of Art.

Charge Two With DWI

Two motorists were cited on charges of driving a car while intoxicated by Ellenville police on Saturday, but Sergeant Leo Gorton said today that no information will be released to the press until the accused men are arraigned in court. Another motorist was charged with reckless driving following a chase through village streets, during which the driver barely missed hitting a car and a dog, and forced another vehicle off the road, but Sergeant Gorton declined to give any information to a reporter.

Motorboat Damaged

A report to local police Sunday noted that the motorboat of Kenneth Dittus, 19, of 68 Liberty Street, had been damaged by a submerged object in the Rondout Creek near the north end of the Island Dock slip. The report was referred to the State Conservation Department. It could not be determined today whether the U. S. Army Engineering Corps had been informed of any obstruction in the creek.

We the Women

BY RUTH MILLET

There's no doubt that a beautiful girl will have doors opened to her where a plain miss wouldn't get toe room.

But even the beautiful girl won't find everything she wants at her fingertips all her life. If she has been trained to think she will, she's in for a rude awakening.

It isn't true that a pretty girl will always find life smooth sailing.

Beauty may make life simpler for a girl while she is just a girl. But if she slides along, expecting beauty to get her everything she wants out of life, she is sure to be in for a rude awakening some day.

It seems to me the mother of a pretty daughter should try hard to see that her daughter develops the qualities that make a woman capable of meeting life's problems and assuming its responsiblities.

A girl can bank on beauty for so short a time. It is a great shock to a woman who has counted too heavily on her looks to win love and admiration, to realize one day that her beauty is slipping, and that she can't compete on looks alone with younger women.

If the mother of a pretty girl would impress on her while she is still young that the only qualities a woman can bank on for life are qualities of character and ability and personality, there wouldn't be so many unhappy, envious, disillusioned women who were once pretty, popular girls.

It's no great tragedy for a woman to see her beauty fade if she has charm, an understanding heart, a real liking for people, and the independence of spirit that comes from knowing she is capable of facing up to whatever life hands her.

It's a tough break, but beauty does fade and life isn't easy for the girl who has no other quality to recommend her.

Arkansas' first schools were religious ones under direction of Jesuits during the French and Spanish regimes.

CRASH AT THRUWAY-ROUTE 587 CIRCLE —Two motorists were injured and one was cited for failing to yield the right of way as the result of a two-car collision at 2:30 a. m. Sunday at Thruway and Route 587 traffic circle. Troopers Fred Cooper (left) and John McMickle are inspecting damage to a vehicle. The cars were driven by Donald Haggerty, 29, of 956 Madison Avenue, Albany, and Richard Paradies, 25, of Jackson Heights. Both men were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's ambulance. Haggerty complained of stomach injuries, and Paradies was treated for head and back injuries. Trooper Norman Kilfoyle said Haggerty was driving west on Route 28 at the traffic circle and Paradies was going west at the by-pass when the crash occurred. Paradies was cited for failing to yield the right of way. Trooper David Wachtel assisted in the investigation.

College Grad Is Back on Force

By Charles M. McCarthy
Freeman Staff Writer

If Patrolman Joseph F. Feraca doesn't ever do anything else in his police career—and that isn't likely based upon his past achievements — he will always have a singular distinction: He's the first member of the present force of Kingston Police Department to win a college degree.

Gets Georgia Degree

And he's brought his sheepskin back to the department, which can use the manpower if not the literary letters.

Feraca, 32-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feraca, of New Paltz RD 2, was graduated last weekend from the University of Georgia with a bachelor of science degree in microbiology and a minor in sociology.

He accomplished this only nine months after he took a leave of absence from the police department to complete his college education.

Feraca, whose father is a Town of Esopus constable, also graduated from the State Agricultural and Technical Institute at Cobleskill prior to enrolling at the University of Georgia. He was appointed a patrolman Feb. 16, 1963 and went on sabbatical leave from the force on

PTL. JOSEPH FERACA

Sept. 14 of the same year. He is a member of Po Kappa Phi social fraternity at Georgia U. and served as vice president and treasurer.

Force Still Seven Short

Feraca's return to the force bolsters the manpower situation; the department is now only seven men short of its normal contingent of 61. An inquiry at police headquarters revealed that Patrolman Feraca's record as a law enforcement officer was "a good one."

This we can believe. Any night-stick-wielding, gun-toting policeman with a college degree can't be all bad.

So if you get a ticket for a violation some day, be careful what you say—you might be talking to a college man.

Marries Blind Date He won in Lottery

LONDON (AP)—John Butler, 27, is honeymooning today with the girl he won in a 5-cent lottery.

Butler bought a 3-pence (five cents) ticket during a charity drive by students of Birmingham College of Technology.

The prize was a blind date with any member of the college's netball team. Butler won, and chose Jill Teague, now 20.

One date followed another. They were married over the weekend. Said Jill's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Teague:

"People thought the lottery was in bad taste and I must admit I thought it a bit funny. But the outcome could not have been happier. They are ideally suited."

AT GIRLS STATE DINNER—Ulster County delegates to Empire Girls State feted at a get-acquainted dinner Thursday night at Leherb's Restaurant are (above, front row) Victoria B. Burkhart, New Paltz; Lorraine Paetow, Town of Marbletown; Sherida Stellar, Lloyd; Susan Witko, Woodstock; (second row) Sharon Lee Jones, Kingston; Mary Elizabeth Overbaugh, Saugerties; Barbara Maynard, Esopus; Alice Burmeister of Wallkill; Suzanne DeMicco, Marlboro. Arranging and participating in the dinner program were (below, l-r) Mrs. Delia T. Shaw of New Paltz, past county chairman of Legion Auxiliary which sponsors Girls State; Mrs. Betty Sanford of Port Ewen, past Third District chairman; Mrs. Anna Hoffman, Marbletown, county chairman; S. Keating to Go Stag If Barry Nominated

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says he will campaign independently for re-election if Sen. Barry Goldwater wins the Republican Party's nomination for president.

Keating, in an airport interview here Sunday night, said, "Unless Sen. Goldwater considerably modifies his position, there will be many points of differences between us. Our voting record in the Senate shows this."

Asked what he would do if Goldwater headed the Republican ticket in the fall, Keating replied, "It will then become necessary for me to conduct my own campaign as the only statewide candidate."

"My record should be the issue and the people should decide upon that whether they want to send me back to the senate or not," he said in the interview at Rochester-Monroe County Airport, before boarding a plane to Washington.

The first hot dog eaten in the United States is believed to have been bought at Coney Island around 1871.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

Keating Speaks on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says the Soviet Union has stopped withdrawing its troops from Cuba in what may be an effort to " guard the missile sites or to protect the Cuban regime from its own enemies."

Keating, on a program recorded for radio and television in New York, estimated Sunday that between 4,000 and 7,000 Soviet troops remain in Cuba.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Population Reference Bureau, Inc., warns that population growth may force "rigid rationing of the use of national parks" as they become more crowded.

In a research report issued Sunday, the bureau noted that the one-billionth visitor to the national parks was recorded in Aug. 28, 1962—58 years after they were established. But the second billionth visitor is expected in 1973.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson attended the National City Christian Church Sunday and, like most of his fellow - worshippers, used a church-provided paper fan to cool himself.

Johnson was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and two members of his Cabinet — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and their wives.

With the temperature at 90 and the weather humid, many men in the church took off their coats at the invitation of the minister. Johnson, Udall and Hodges kept theirs on.

RFK Senate Bid Under Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Argument over the possibility of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's running for U.S. senator from New York continued right up to today's organizational meeting of the newly elected Democratic State Committee.

County party leaders at the meeting were to include some who are backing Kennedy and some who support Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam—both of whom are widely mentioned in the discussion of a Senate candidate.

Kennedy has not announced whether he will seek the democratic nomination to run against Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester in November.

Kennedy votes in his native Massachusetts and has made his home in Virginia for several years. But he could run for senator from New York if he established residence in the state by election day.

The nominee for senator will not be officially named until the Democratic State convention, late this summer. There is considerable sentiment in the party for a preconvention consensus on a candidate, to allow more time for campaigning.

De Gaulle Returns

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, looking fit and vigorous, returned to Paris Sunday after four days of stumping northern France.

The 74-year-old De Gaulle appeared to have withstood the heat, rain and crowds of his swing through Picardy better than many of his younger aides.

Kaltz to Replace Galian as Head Of Disabled Vets

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — David Kaltz of Flushing has been elected to succeed Edward G. Galian of New York City as commander of the Disabled American Veterans, New York Department.

The elections Sunday ended the 42nd annual convention, which began Friday. About 500 delegates attended.

Other women's auxiliary officers are:

Elmeretta Morrison of Tupper Lake, senior vice commander; Beatrice Rzeszoto of Albany, junior vice commander; Geraldine McWilliams of Niagara Falls, treasurer, and Jennie Miller of Niagara Falls, chaplain.

Delegates voted to hold the 1965 annual meeting of both groups in Highview, Sullivan County.

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) —Romania will empty most of its political prisons by the end of the year, says Deputy Premier Alexandru Birladeanu.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Birladeanu said Sunday Romania had freed 7,674 political prisoners without publicity in the past 3½ years.

He promised a general pardon in August and said that by the end of 1964 "we will have practically no political prisoners."

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The government has taken political rights away from 80 more Brazilians in a final listing of persons suspected of extreme left leanings or close association with the regime of deposed President Joao Goulart.

President Humberto Castello Branco issued the list Sunday a few hours before the purge deadline set last April after the military-civilian group overthrew Goulart.

GENEVA (AP)—A new and smaller U.N. Trade and Development Conference, to be a permanent organ of the United Nations, has been recommended to tackle economic problems of underdeveloped nations.

The present conference of 122 nations, now drawing to a close, has failed to produce a significant achievement in its three months of meetings. Agreement for a smaller conference of up to 55 nations was seen as a face-saving device to cover the conference's failure.

WHERE HISTORY WALLS A LIBRARY— INSIDE AND OUT!

Books in the library of the University of Mexico cover that country's history back to the great Mayan Empires, centuries before Christ.

Outside, its walls are covered by Juan O'Gorman's colorful mosaic (made of more than 7½ million separate stones) depicting the history and culture of Mexico.

The school itself dates back to 1551, but its campus is one of the world's most modern. Built in 1954, it was designed by a team of Mexico's finest architects.

Even in a country known for its architecture, on a campus that is a collective example for the world, the library stands out.

Throughout Mexico, progress grows from the roots of ancient traditions. In Mexico City, for instance, within a few blocks of each other stand the 43-story Torre, or tower, tallest building in Latin America; and the Cathedral of Mexico City, built between 1573 and 1667 on the site of an Aztec temple.

Knowledge of our modern neighbor is important today. Send for the free 16-page booklet, "Know Mexico," Box 1900, New York 19.

THEY WON'T ALL COME

Q: Our parish church is not very large and the number of guests we would like to invite exceeds the seating capacity of the church. Must we cut our list to the number of guests that can be seated, or may we send invitations to all even though some will have to stand?

A: You need not cut your list to the capacity of the church. Rarely are all those invited to the ceremony able to be present, and even if they all come it will not be a calamity if a few of the last guests to arrive have to stand.

Lodging for the Bridegroom's Family

Q: When the bridegroom's family are from out of town, are the bride's parents responsible for providing lodging for them?

A: The bridegroom's family are, if possible, invited to stay in the bride's house or with relatives or neighbors. If this cannot be arranged, the bride's family are not expected to do more than offer to engage rooms in the nearest hotel or motel and the bridegroom's family pay their own expenses.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The gasoline gauge read "empty" and Guy V. Whitener Jr. telephoned for help.

While he was waiting the Newberry, N. C., man peered into the refueling spout of his rented automobile. He could see daylight below. No gas tank.

Police found the tank 18 blocks and nine traffic lights away where it apparently tore loose and fell off.

Feathered Prison Break?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — When a woman called to report several hundred starlings roosting at the city's Central Police Station, Columbus Dispatch columnist Johnny Jones theorized there had been a mass feathered breakout from a prison a few blocks away.

"These starlings," he wrote, "must have moved from the trees inside the Ohio Penitentiary."

Clothes Poll

By HELEN HENNESSY
Newspaper Enterprise
Women's Editor

Is yours a sentimental family which saves such goodies as the fan great-grandma waved at her debutante ball? Then you have your work cut out for you on the next rainy day.

Go up to the attic and paw through the old trunks. They may well provide you with your fall jewelry and hosiery wardrobes.

Jewelry for fall will be copied from baubles of the 18th century clear up to the early 1930s. And it's always nicer to have the real thing.

Bow knots, pendant drop pins and old-fashioned, chunky, gold bracelets encrusted with glittering stones will be fall favorites. Anything goes, in fact, just as long as it's old.

Take Great-Aunt Sarah's evening shoes with the jeweled or cut steel buckies. Have the buckles polished and made into pins. New pins for fall are copies of old shoe buckles.

If you come across tassle-tipped, waist-long beads that swung gaily when mom did the Charleston, grab them. They will be in style as belts as well as beads.

Copies of Roman and Moroccan cuff bracelets, molded to the arm, have been created by top jewelry designers and Roman coin medallions will be very much on the scene. You probably won't find anything like these in your heirloom trunks if you're not descended from the Caesars. But you can buy handsome copies with the money you saved on the shoe buckles and tassled beads.

Now for the hosiery. Did you see any clocked or embroidered stockings carefully wrapped in tissue? Don't leave them in the trunk. Decorated stockings will be another fall fashion bell-ringer. Some fall hosiery will have clocks up the side as did the hose of the '20s and '30s. Other styles for fall have surprise decorations turning up in odd spots —a la Barbra Streisand and "Funny Girl."

Some sport a flower, jewel or butterfly just above the knee to peek through a side-slit skirt. Others have a painted or knitted design on the kneecap, ankle or heel.

I don't know what we'll all look like with shoe buckles at the neckline, beaded tassels at the waist and flowers at the kneecap. But maybe it won't be too bad if we don't wear them all at once.

Chic Chat

Q: "I like to wear shorts for yard work, but I'm short and on the chubby side and every pair I have bought rolls up in front at the leg. Is there anything I can do about this?"—Mrs. C. Y.

Dears Mrs. C. Y.—Slit the legs of the shorts about one-inch at the outside of the bottom hem. Seam the slits and press them flat. When you stand, they won't be noticeable at all and when you bend for garden work, they won't roll up or pull uncomfortably.

Please send your fashion problems to Helen Hennessy in care of The Freeman. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Too Young to Go Alone?

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our son, 8, has been invited to visit some former neighbors of ours when school is over. He grew up with their youngest boy and has greatly missed him since the family moved away. But I think that he is too young to make the overnight train and 3-hour bus trip by himself. His father thinks he can take care of himself but I think he's too young...

ANSWER: Arrangements can be made with conductors, porters and the Travelers' Aid people to help him take care of himself.

But don't let yourself be pushed to a decision before you are ready to make it. Agree to listen to all your husband's and son's arguments in behalf of the trip. In exchange, ask for the time you need to come to your agreement or non-agreement with them.

You're not disturbed, I think, by the obligation to make this decision but by the obligation to make it right now. Once you are willing to realize this you can ask your men folk to release you from their pressure and say:

"You may both be right. But I need more time to try to see that. If you don't let me have it, I'm just going to get so mad and irritable I won't be able to think through to any decision. So please let me work this out in my own way."

It must be very pleasant to be a person who can conquer all his doubts about a situation—and make a fast decision on it. But if we're not such a person, we don't have to feel ashamed of our struggle with doubts.

In circumstances like yours, we can use some time to inquire about Travelers' Aid assistance and have a talk with our railroad station manager about the supervision available to our child on the train trip and the transfer to his bus. When we have collected the evidence we need that he will be adequately protected, we are ready to deliver the agreement he and his father have been pushing for.

They will both be relieved by your assuring information.

Only, for heaven's sake, don't let them know you know it. Our men folk's pride in their power to conquer all circumstances makes it very difficult for them to admit any doubts of it. You can expect a lot of affectionate, patronizing ridicule as "fussy" mother when you produce your relieving information. Laugh with them.

It is part of woman's love for men to feel the fears which they are too proud and strong to dare to feel for themselves.

Health for All

Some Biting Truths

The good old pastime—or vice—of ducking dentist's appointments can result in something more than just a toothache or a lost incisor, especially for the young. In fact, it can give rise to something so unpleasant that an Oregon doctor has come up with a special name for it.

"Crippled faces," according to Dr. R. W. Kullberg, a public health offiicial in Portland, can be the outcome for children who fail to receive proper corrective treatment for malformed teeth or jaws. This involved a special kind of dentistry called orthodontia: and the sad fact is, Dr. Kullberg adds, that only one child out of five in the United States who needs it is now getting it.

For this situation he blames a variety of causes, including ignorance or apathy on the part of parents, inability to pay for treatment, a lack of available dentists, and the difficulties of transportation in rural areas.

"Displacement or crowding of teeth, or a grossly disturbed relationship of one jaw to another, are conditions of malocclusion which are found much too often," Dr. Kullberg said. He described malocclusion, a condition in which the upper and lower teeth fail to close evenly, as "one of the most neglected types of dental defects."

There are many things a child can't do for himself. One of these is seeing that his teeth get proper attention.

While he is young, a child won't thank his parents for taking him to a dentist regularly. Far from it. Indeed, no child ever recognized all that his parents have done for him. But—with or without thanks — the wise parent will try to find regular dental care. If money stands in the way, free or inexpensive care sometimes may be located by asking the doctor, health department, or dental society.

Investor Forum

THE PITFALLS OF GLAMOR

The stock market is incongruous. A score of glamorous common stocks, in which unbridled speculation is taking place, are selling at fantastic prices.

Thousands of risk-takers are ignoring the simplest rules of investing. Profits furnish, the actuating motives. That is always dangerous procedure. Nineteen Sixty-Four is a year when armies of gullible investors are seeking "fast bucks."

As has been said in this column before, millions of new investors need to be indoctrinated in sound investment principles. Unless this is done, speculation and not investment is going to rule the roost. An investor saves his money and when he buys securities, he wants to get security and a good income.

A speculator has an entirely different philosophy. He buys underpriced values for capital gains. Today, far too many inexperienced investors are speculating when they have no business doing so.

Five of the glamorous stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange that are being bought and sold by gullible investors every trading day are:

Control Data . . . Polaroid . . . Texas Instruments . . . Zenith . . . and Xerox.

Today, an investment of $10,000 uniformly spread around in these equities would pay total dividends of about $85 a year. The yield is less than 1 per cent.

On a given day, around 100,000 of these shares are bought and sold. Investors with no savings bank accounts and with little insurance are speculating in these risk-laden stocks.

It is a sign of the times. Wealth that comes from unwarranted and careless speculation often carries dynamite to its owner. The "fast buck" encourages all sorts of spending vices.

Yes, people buy such stocks and they completely ignore sound values that carry good income and stability. Here are some that should be bought rather than the romance equities:

Ten thousand dollars invested in United States Treasury long term bonds will buy $11,500 of such obligations and will pay $357.50 in interest a year. Profits are sure to accrue if held to maturity.

And $10,000 invested in the high grade dollar obligations of American Telephone and Telegraph; Consolidated Edison General Motors Acceptance Corporation; Pacific Gas and Electric; and U. S. Steel Corporation will buy $13,000 of these bonds and will pay $437.00 a year.

Glamor and speculation have no place in the affairs of small investors. But the truth of the matter is that many investors with a few hundred or thousand dollars are beguiled into taking possible risks in romance equities in the hope of making a lot of money quickly.

And, unfortuantely in America, there are dozens of individuals and organizations that prey upon the gullibility of these "fast buck" people.

There is no royal road to riches. With most people, speculating in glamorous stocks is a snare and a delusion.

Financial self-reliance is built on industry, thrift, saving and sound investment.

Ghost Towns Galore

SANTA FE, N. M. (AP) — Santa Fe County has 33 ghost towns and 29 ghost post offices according to a ghost town map of New Mexico just published by the State Bureau of Mines and Mineral Resources.

There are three kinds of ghost towns in New Mexico. First, those which have completely disappeared. Second, those which have buildings or foundations remaining. Third, those which are occupied but have a portion of the historical buildings in a state of emptines or ruin.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have not been to Woodstock this spring or summer yet, but I hear there is much agitation on changing of scenery for the sake of progress. I remember back when the Maverick Theatre, Maverick Players, Jessie Trimble and Deanie's Diner were in their infancy, and the Maverick Festival at the end of the summer brought folks from all over the country. Bill Longyear used to go with his strange camera which took very long pictures. The camera worked automatically on a tripod making a half circle, and Longyear, the cameraman was always in the picture himself with the costumed folks. I have two of those photographs which no doubt, is all part of Woodstock history today.

Les Clark, of Washington Avenue, Clark Lumber Co. Inc. in Kingston wrote me a note which reads in part: "Dear Sophie, we are not alone in our protests against the destruction of our precious landmarks . . ." and he mentions Kingston's landmarks, and also encloses article by Alf Evers of Woodstock, from The Woodstock Week, of May 28, 1964.

The following is a copy of a letter Lester G. Clark wrote to Mr. Alf Evers of Woodstock, N. Y. a well known author. "Dear Alf, you probably will not remember me but I went to the Tillson school with you about 1914 or 1916. At that time I lived in Tillson village and you lived near the Coutant farm somewhat to the northeast of the school. As I remember you moved from Tillson to New Paltz and after that I lost all contact with you until I began to see your name in the Woodstock news items."

Mr. Clark further writes to Mr. Alf Evers: "Today I have read your article protesting the destruction of the wonderful village of Woodstock and I would like to take this opportunity to compliment you on your stand and to say that I agree wholeheartedly with what you say . . . They have done and are continuing to do the same thing to our old Colonial City of Kingston. They are demolishing our landmarks . . . I too have protested locally but the officials defend themselves under the guise and in the name of progress. If this be progress, I would be pleased with a little less of it . . ."

In the Woodstock Week article, Mr. Evers mentions how back in 1948 The National Geographic Magazine covering the story of the Hudson Valley, took pictures in Woodstock from the spot he now hears a chain saw working and how 'progress' is working on the meadow and the mountain in which were written up in now yellowed New York Herald, the Times and other newspapers. It takes years and perhaps centuries to create the charm of places like Woodstock, he feels.

Mr. Evers goes on to say he remembers floods, and it is said "some of the heaviest sudden rainfalls ever recorded have occured in the Catskills. Once the plains along the Sawkill offered natural safety valves for flood waters. Now they are overbuilt and have lost their value for storing water until it can quietly flow away." No doubt most Woodstockers have this article in full. I wonder, if, as it is written elsewhere, that a million acres are taken up yearly for these various 'progress' ideas, and much of the land is blacktopped or otherwise changed and cannot absorb the rainfalls, will nature become angry and finally turn on us.

Stratton Warning About Kennedy Running in State

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-Amsterdam, suggests that voters might view U.S. Atty Gen. Robert F. Kennedy as a carpetbagger if he decides to seek a U.S. Senate seat from New York State.

"...You can never measure the full impact of the carpetbagger issue in polls taken today," Stratton told the Seneca County Democratic Committee Saturday night.

Stratton, an undeclared candidate for his party's nomination to oppose Republican Sen. Kenneth Keating in the November elections, added:

"Polls now being taken in behalf of Atty. Gen. Kennedy will show that he is far more popular today than the Rochester Republican (Keating), but I am also confident that they will show that New Yorkers too can beat the senator."

Kennedy lives in Virginia but could run for the Senate in New York by declaring his residence here.

If he does so, he will be following a pattern set by another former New Frontiersman, Pierre Salinger, who won the Democratic nomination for a U. S. Senate seat from California.

Several weeeks ago, Walter J. Mahoney, State Senate Majority Leader, called Kennedy a "Back Bay carpetbagger," referring to an exclusive section of Boston. The Kennedy family has its rooots in Massachusetts.

Kennedy has not said whether he plans to oppose Keating.

The attorney general has been mentioned frequently as a running mate for President Johnson in the fall elections.

Stratton referred to this when he said his party was risking disaster in New York by "letting the choice of the Democratic candidate...wait on the outcome of the race for the Democratic vice presidential nomination."

". . . to have and to hold from this day forward, for better or worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death do us part."

"To Love and to Cherish . . ."

That's what you took a blushing bride for . . . to love and to cherish.

You gave her your name, a new home of her own . . . and all your love and affection.

To cherish means so many more subtle little things . . . her very own bank account, with the proud new name on her checks, a backlog based on systematic saving so that she may always be the radiant bride she is today, ready purchasing power designed to give her now the things that can be paid for over the years, a safe depository for all the wondrous (and important) mementos of your marriage. These are what 'to cherish' means.

In so many ways, a strong and a friendly bank can be the bride's best friend. And, of course, The State of New York National Bank is an admirable choice as the new-family bank.

Buzzy Costello Leads Herdegen Field By Six Strokes

Defending Champ Cards 36-Hole Total of 141

Defending champion William (Buzzy) Costello of Wiltwyck Country Club carries a 6-stroke lead into the finals of the Herdegen Memorial golf tournament next weekend. And there are unmistakable signs that the Ridger College ace may become the first repeat champion since Leon Randall won back to back title in 1960-61.

Costello fired a spectacular 36-hold score of 141, one under par for the Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck layouts, to lead Randall by six shots at the end of the 36-hole qualifying round.

Costello shaved one stroke off Twallfskill's 35-35-70 par in intermittent rain Saturday with 36-33-69. Sunday he conquered the challenge of Wiltwyck's mighty 36-36-72 with nines of 37-35 despite high winds and slick greens that sent scores soaring well above normal.

Randall, a four-time champion, posted 72-75-147. Eight shots off the pace are Bill Van Aken, Woodstock, 72-77-149 and Rick Barthel, Twaalfskill, 71-78-149. Harold Van Aken is all alone at 73-79-152. Tied with 154's were George Hughes, Twalfskill, and Harvey Bostic of Wiltwyck.

Neil Pauker, Kingston High School player, is at 155 and Charles J. Turck and Ronnie Marks, a pair of Wiltwyck veterans, round out the top ten at 156.

The cutoff figure was 167 and was shared by John S. Provenzano of Wiltwyck, who qualified for the finals for the first time and Doug Sheppard, the State University golf coach.

Only One Bad Hole

Costello hal only one bad hole in the two rounds, a double bogie "7" on Twaifskill's 578-yard par-5 fifth hole where he pushed his third shot out of bounds. He picked up seven birdies, four at Twaalfskill and three at Wiltwyck. At Twalfskill he birdied the No. 7 hole twice, the 4th and 5th. He birdied No. 3 at Wiltwyck from 8 feet and rolled in a 30-footer on the par-five, 497-yard seventh. His third birdie was a 6-footer on the par-three, 167-yard 16th. He missed 4-foot birdie putts on the 12th and 14th holes.

Trailing Costello by three strokes at the end of the first round, Randall was even par through the first seven holes at Wiltwyck, then ran into a disastrous triple-bogie "6" on the par-3, 177-yard 8th hole.

First For Provenzano

Chip Shots: The Wiltwyck contingent gave Johnny Provenzano for his first qualifying success. A few needlers, however, demanded a sudden death playoff between Provenzano and Dough Sheppard for outright claim to the 24th qualifying spot . . . George Hughes carded a nightmarish "10" on Twaalfskill's relatively easy par-3 second hole. It all started with a tee shot that landed in the right side trap. Hughes, carding a 7-over-par played the other 17 holes in even par . . . George (Lonesome) Cosenza soared to a "9" on Wiltwyck's par-4 fourteenth . . . Neil Pauker, the KHS ace, fired a 72 in Saturday's round . . . Robert Carnright of Twaalfskill bounced back from a front line 46 at Wiltwyck to a closing 38 featured by six consecutive one-putt greens, from 11 through 16. Third round action is scheduled Saturday at Woodstock, with the finals Sunday at Shawangunk in Ellenville.

Wig-Wagging

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) —Ed Diddle, one of three college basketball coaches to post more than 700 victories, was widely known for his wig-wagging of a red towel during game.

Diddle is retiring after next season, to be succeeded by a former player, John Oldham. But, not the towel.

"I'm going to ask Johnny to keep using the red towel," Diddle said.

Lema Wins Buick Open

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) —Tony Lema, more surprised than anybody else over his victory in the $66,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament Sunday, headed today for the National Open at Washington, D.C., hoping that lightning strikes three times in a row.

"I've never done very well in the National Open and I don't have any particular feeling about it this year," said Lema after becoming the first pro in 21 months to put together major victories in successive weeks. He preceded his Buick Open triumph with victory in the $100,000 Thunderbird at Rye, N.Y. The National Open starts Thursday.

The San Leandro, Calif. native kept his usual custom and ordered champagne in the press room following his victory on the 7,280-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills course.

Lema had a 70 in his final round and finished with an 11-under par 277 to pick up nearly $9,000 in prize money.

His round featured four birdies, one on the first hole which he solved for the fourth straight round in the tourney. It was the same hole on which he had taken a seven in the open two years ago.

Dow Finsterwald finished with a 71 for a total of 280 and was runner-up here for the second straight year. Bob Charles, the left-handed New Zealander, finished with a 67 to take third place money with a 283.

Lema became the first pro to win two tournaments in a row since Jack Nicklaus won in Seattle and Portland, Ore. in September, 1962.

Sport Club Booters Defeat Albany, 10-0

George Visvary started the game off with a penalty goal and the Kingston Sport Club routed Albany Sport Club, 10-0, in a pivotal Central New York Soccer league game before more than 200 spectators at the Oehler's Mt. Lodge field.

The regular season concludes next Sunday with the locals hosting the Albany Sons of Italy. Playoffs will start the following week.

Jim Rheinhardt returned to action after three weeks on the injured list and scored two of Kingston's goals. Carlos Bustamante had three goals. Al DiBella, Peter Fuchs and Lee Roberts also tallied for the winners.

Since the Albany Athletic Club beat Troy Soccer Club, 2-0, it places the team in a first place tie with Kingston. If they end the season that way, a two-game playoff will be held.

In yesterday's preliminary game, the Poughkeepsie Blue and White beat Kingston's 2nd team, 5-1. Brian Ennis had the Kingston goal.

Al Miller, goal; Lee Roberts, RFB; Frank Luzzi, LFB; Alex Dirks, RHB; George Visvary, CHB; Mike Newmerzhycy, LFB; Felix Fuhsman, OR; Bill Newmerzhycy, IR; Peter Fuchs, CF; Carlos Bustamante, IL; Al DiBella, OL.

2—Stan Wetmore, Don Avery, Harold Montanye, Johnny Van-Leuven.

3—Fred Searing, Ernie Beesmer, Lou Searing, Bud Holland.

This Friday the D. D. Harris Memorial Trophy race will take place. The race is being held to commemorate the memory of the late stock driver, who lost his life last year.

Hockey Coach Changing

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — Hockey coach Ruben Bjorkman, who led Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute to a 19-8 season last year, is leaving to coach the University of New Hampshire team, it was reported today.

Getting away from it all? You'll come back in better shape if you don't take on excessively strenuous vacation sports or excessive sight-seeing, the Ulster County Heart Association says.

Montanye Captures Second 25-Lap Feature at Accord

Harold Montanye of Kerhonkson grabbed the lead in the second lap and went on to capture his second second 25-lap stock car feature at Accord Speedway Sunday.

Buffalo Team Wins State BPAA Title

ONEIDA, N.Y. (AP) — The Big E bowling team of Buffalo has won the right to represent New York State in two national Bowling Proprietors Association of America championships later this year.

The star-studded Buffalo combine will enter the handicap event in Wichita, Kan., in August and the match game test in Detroit in December. The team's 3195 net score, posted in the state BPA tournament May 16, survived the final month of the six-weekend roll off to take top honors in both the handicap and scratch divisions.

Richard (Skip) Vigars and Joe Schmidt of Albany grabbed the scratch doubles title Sunday night with a 1338 total. Other champions crowned were:

Cornelius O'Brien and Tony Leport, Long Island City, handicap doubles, 1375; Tom Napoli, Utica, and Steve Cimino, Canastota, tie handicap singles, 736, and Napoli, scratch singles, 736.

An all-events champion will be named shortly.

All of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

If you think a Volkswagen Station Wagon is just a funny-looking car maybe you never saw one fit in a space that regular wagons have to pass by and when you realize how much stuff you could put inside that thing

like the Christmas someone drove one to their mother's with six people and the crib, the high chair, bicycles, luggage, presents...room?

you couldn't ask for more and an air-cooled engine that won't boil over or freeze up and it starts in the morning 1-2-3

and when you stop at a gas station, $3 fills it up and you don't have to worry about gas for maybe 3 weeks and take kids for instance "Are we going in the Volkswagen bus?" and they say "Yay!" and clap their hands and if it's a glorious day you can slide the sunroof back and let a little of the glory in and all of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET — Marie Adios (4th)

UPSET CHANCE — Trader Vic (6th)

1. CRYSTAL SEABEE won last handily. Can come right back. NOTABLE HANOVER beaten favorite the previous time. Might do it in this race. HENRY JONES was moving well but jumped. Will be trouble if on gait.

2. MERCURY DON gets the call in a field of nothings. FAIR MARKET was caught outside but still gained in the stretch. Fair chance. WILMA'S BOY has Popfinger. Figures to be close up at the finish.

3. TED WOOLLEN might make it now. Led all the way until backing up around the last turn. ATLAS BOY has burned up the favorite money twice in a row. Post hurts this time. SALLY VONIAN won in the slop.

4. MARIE ADIOS suffered broken equipment last time out. Rates another chance and is the best bet of the evening. OSBORNE qualified well for this one but is a chronic breaker. BOMBER'S DREAM is a threat.

5. GUESS AGAIN shows two impressive races. Hasn't much to beat here. DARLING DUCK has top driver but poor post. SUCCESS ADIOS might be in a little too deep this time.

6. WYN CREED due to pop. Has been close on all occasions. MAY S. closes well and has the pole position. Can take it on a top effort. WAR HAVEN has met better but is making first start with an untried driver.

7. DEVON GOOSE finally drew well. Might go all the way on top. TRADER VIC received an awful ride the last time. Can upset here with some racing luck. LUSTY ABBEY won easily with John Edmunds up. Doesn't seem as strong with LeRoy doing the driving.

8. IVY CASTLE took advantage of an accident and won the last race handily. Can repeat this time. JIMMY DARES was interfered with. Is the top threat. QUICK TRIGGER is in top shape. Might go all the way.

9. CYBEE qualified well for this one. STAG DANCER won in the mud and on a fast track. Will be tough here. TYSON VOLO has been inconsistent.

Bach Pitches 1-Hitter, Fans 14 for Victory

Brian Bach pitched a one-hitter with 14 strikeouts and scored the winning run after hitting a triple, as Elmer's Inn defeated Kingston Merchants, 4 to 2, in the City Baseball League opener Sunday at Ditz Stadium.

In the second game of the twi-night doubleheader, Port Ewen Merchants nipped S&E Inc., 6 to 5 in overtime.

Bach pitched shutout ball after yielding two first inning runs on a hit batsman, error and Dick Bartsch's single. Paul Gardner had a shutout going for six innings but Elmer's rallied with four runs in the seventh on singles by Paul Gruner, Gerard De Veau and Eccleston, a base on balls to Tony Toney, who stole home and Bach's triple. Bach scored the fourth run on an error.

Natale Delivers

S&E tied Port Ewen, 5-5, with two runs in the bottom of the seventh. Giannuzzi singled, Tentowski walked and Paul Natale scored Giannuzzi with the equalizer.

In the first extra inning, Port Ewen jolted Wayne Johnson as Jack Syak doubled and Joe Tremper tripled. Chick Boice relieved Johnson and halted further damage by striking out the next three batters. Beadle got the win.

Horton hit a solo homer for Port Ewen and Syak drilled a single and two doubles.

Whites Give Up March, Negroes To Make Decision

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) Street marching by white segregationists apparently was over today, at least temporarily. It was uncertain whether Negroes would resume marching tonight.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which is directing the integration drive in the nation's oldest city, said former baseball star Jackie Robinson would join the campaign today.

Busloads of supporters also were expected from several cities, including Albany, Ga., the SCLC office said.

Sunday night, white segregationists marched for the third night in a row but they walked only five blocks in the downtown area. In two previous marches, white demonstrators had walked through a Negro section.

The crowd again met in a park before the march. J. B. Stoner, Ku Klux Klan attorney from Atlanta, told the rally that unless out-of-town Negro leaders pulled out, a fire-your-Negro campaign would begin.

Stoner said there would be no march tonight by the segregationist group.

Thirty-six Negroes and a white man were arrested Sunday for trying to integrate a restaurant and two churches. This brought to 127 the number of arrests since last Thursday when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was jailed for refusing to leave a motel restaurant. King was released Saturday on bond but said he would return by Tuesday.

Observes War Birthday

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) —This quiet Bosnian city today began observance of the 50th anniversary of the pistol shots that touched off World War I.

A simple memorial meeting opened a two-week period which will reach a climax June 28 with dedication of plaques and laying of wreaths.

The celebration will be modest. Though Gavrilo Princip's shots on June 28, 1914, are generally condoned here, they led to a war that killed more than 5 million fighting men, and planted the seeds of World War II.

Riders in four counties were affected. Some travel 25 miles or more to work.

Policeman Shot By 3 Speeders

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP) — Two state policemen were shot and wounded and two others captured and handcuffed to a tree for a brief period Sunday by three men who were stopped on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for a routine radar speed check.

The three, all from Milwaukee, Wis., were arrested by police several hours later, after a massive manhunt with bloodhounds and helicopters. State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy directed some 100 men in the hunt.

The three, Gerald L. Sarson, 17, Howard E. Langnes, 24, and James Eugene Szulczewski, 21, were charged with assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon, and aggravated assault and battery against a police officer.

They were committed to Lancaster County prison, awaiting a hearing. Lt. Rufus Williams said additional charges will be filed.

The wounded troopers are Edward Herbst, 35, of Reamstown, Pa., and Fred W. Bendl, 22, of Nazareth, Pa. Herbst was shot in the face and neck and was reported in serious condition at Ephrata General Hospital. Bendl, who was shot in the leg, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Police theorized that the trio shot at the troopers because they were in a stolen car and because they may have thought they were going to be picked up for other crimes in Milwaukee.

Unhurt were troopers Robert Malarky and Stanley Sypeck. They had been handcuffed to a tree with their own handcuffs, but freed themselves just as the gunfight broke out on the side of the turnpike.

Canadians Open Debate Today on Official Flag

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian House of Commons opens debate today on Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's proposal to give Canada its first official flag. Preliminary polls indicate Pearson can count on a slim majority for approval.

Pearson has staked his minority Liberal government on the emotion-charged issue. He has warned that if he is defeated, he may resign and force another national election.

The hotly debated "Pearson pennant," which the prime minister selected from more than 3,000 designs, is white with three red maple leaves in the center joined to a single stem. Narrow blue vertical bars at each end symbolize Canada's motto, "From Sea to Sea."

The resolution before Parliament would establish this as Canada's national flag and retain the British Union Jack as a symbol of Canada's allegiance to the Commonwealth.

Carlino to Seek State Top Job if Rocky Steps Out

NEW YORK (AP)—State Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino says that—"barring unforeseen circumstances"—he will seek the governorship in 1966 if Gov. Rockefeller does not run for a third four-year term.

Carlino, a Long Beach Republican, discounted reports that Rockefeller might not serve out his present term if he did not win the Republican presidential nomination.

Carlino, who spoke Sunday on the WNBC - TV "Searchlight" program, said Rockefeller is "not out of the presidential race by any means."

If Rockefeller should resign, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Yonkers Republican, would serve the remainder of his term.

Asked to name other likely Republican candidates for governor if Rockefeller did not run again, Carlino listed Sen. Jacob K. Javits, Rep. John V. Lindsay and Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, all of Manhattan, and Wilson.

Carlino reiterated his intention to continue as Nassau County Republican leader until after the November election.

Royalty Arrives

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — King Mahendra and Queen Ratna of Nepal arrived in Karachi today for a two-day private visit to Pakistan.

Speaker Outlines Holy Name Origin Aims and Objects

The origin of the Holy Name Society, its aims and objects and the duties and obligations of a good Holy Name member were discussed by Attorney Frank Campochiaro at the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society annual communion breakfast held Sunday.

Tracing the history of the Society, the speaker pointed out that in the 13th century, probably because of ignorance, the faith of the people in France and Spain was at a very low ebb. People disbelieved in God and many denied that Christ was God. His name was blasphemed at the slightest provocation and was used profanely and with great irreverence. The spiritual leaders of the time deemed it necessary to urge special devotion and zeal towards the Holy Name and to combat this irreverence the Holy Name Society was formed.

Since that time, he said, the Holy Name Society has grown, particularly in this country. There is not a parish today that does not have a Holy Name Society. There is just as much need for a Holy Name Society today as there was when it was first founded. Continuing he declared that when we consider that more than one-half of the Christian world is dominated by Communists who deny the very existence of God and scoff at religion, it is doubly important that we guard our religion and revere our Saviour's name.

The object of the Society, he stated, is to maintain and to increase man's faith in the divinity of Christ and to promote respect and honor for his Holy Name.

To achieve these aims, he said, each member has certain obligations which includes laboring for the glory of God's name and making it known to those who are ignorant of it and also to avoid blasphemy, perjury, profane and indecent language.

The Society also was addressed by the Right Rev. Msgr. Robert Fox. John L. Machione, president, welcomed the members and the Right Rev. Msgr. John O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's and dean of Ulster County, gave the invocation. William Leehive was toastmaster and William F. Edelmuth general chairman. Benediction was given by the Rev. James Keating, spiritual director.

The wet belt extended from western Pennsylvania to northern Illinois and from southwest Iowa to the Texas Panhandle.

Tornadoes hit rural areas near Bloomfield, Iowa, and Sand Springs, Okla., Sunday, causing some property damage. No injuries were reported. Funnel clouds were reported in parts of Ohio and Nebraska.

Torrential rains drenched parts of Kansas and Missouri.

of the New Paltz area churches next Sunday. The Rev. Mr. Hassel replaces the Rev. Willett R. Porter who had been pastor there for 13 years and has been assigned to the Elmont church, Nassau County.

Other Changes Listed

Other pastoral changes in the newly designated Hudson North District include the Rev. B. L. Carlson to Stone Ridge, Accord and Kripplebush charge; Phoenitia, Lanesville, Shady and Willow, the Rev. J. B. Hanson; the Rev. A. Liberatore to Malden, Quarryville and Palenville; the Rev. R. H. Roe, Shandaken, Big Indian and Pine Hill.

A new conference center at New Rochelle and two retirement homes in western Connecticut and on Long Island were voted at the annual session. The center will consolidate offices and board headquarters now located in Newburgh, Queens Village and New York City. The retirement homes will provide accommodations for 465 persons. At present there are six homes for the aged in the conference providing residence for 400 persons.

Take Civil Rights Action

The conference authorized the Board of Christian Social concerns to send four ministers to Mississippi this summer to participate in voter education and registration of Negroes. Ministers also expressed willingness to exchange pastorates for a year with churches of the Central (Negro) Jurisdicton in the South.

The conference voted opposition to the proposal Becker amendment which would legalize prayer and Bible reading in the public schools. Churches were urged to support efforts of all local boards of education in achieving racial integration in the schools.

Value Noted

Asked why Desert Strike was considered worth the outlay of funds, the Pentagon cited these reasons, among others:

—"It is the first time since World War II that we have been able to get two armored divisions into an exercise maneuver area in the United States where they could operate as freely as required for proper armor field training.

—"The exercise also gave us a chance to simulate realistically the employment of tactical nuclear weapons. This let us better explore tactical use of nuclear weapons in a limited war situation.

— "Joint exercise Desert Strike was not only a thorough test of men and equipment, but also an ideal opportunity to test and further improve several operational concepts for joint air-ground operations we have been developing and improving over the past several years."

Burglars Rifle Bar, Gas Station; Sought by Police

Two burglaries in the area were under investigation today by Kingston State Police BCI officers.

Trooper Norman Kilfoyle said someone broke into the Katsbaan tavern earlier this month and took two cases of beer. The theft was not reported until Saturday, troopers said.

State Police at Kingston reported Rudi's Gas Station on Route 28, Woodstock, was entered over the weekend by smashing a window on the west side of the building. The intruders made an unsuccessful attempt to open the safe, but the cigarette machine was ripped open and looted of about $10 in cash, according to Trooper Kilfoyle.

Downtown Man Held for Fracas In Local Tavern

A local young man who allegedly caused a disturbance and damaged property at Ginger's 8 Thomas Street, was booked on three charges lodged by Edward Kiernan, proprietor of the tavern, and on one by local patrolmen early Sunday.

Peter Brennan, 21, of 88 Broadway was charged by Kiernan with third degree assault, malicious mischief and disorderly conduct, and with resisting arrest by officers Weston Hoffay and Curtis VanDemark.

City court hearing was put over today until Tuesday. Bail fixed at $100 on the resisting arrest charge, $50 each for the assault and mischief charges, and $25 on the disorderly conduct charge, was not posted.

It is charged that Brennan became unruly with others in the tavern, broke glasses, liquor bottles and a small window, and struck Kiernan with his fists, and that he continued troublesome with the officers when they arrived shortly after midnight.

Richard Boler, 30, of 11 East Strand, was arrested Saturday night on a third degree assault charge lodged by his wife, Joan. His case was put over to June 18, when it is expected to be referred to family court.

Fined $10

Warren H. Peterson, 19, of RD 1, Box 431C, Kingston, was fined $10 Saturday when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Robert S. Stedge, Town of Ulster, on a charge of following another vehicle too close.. Peterson's car was involved in a collision on Route 28 near the Big Scot parking lot last Thursday afternoon. The other vehicle was driven by Bernard Rosenberg, 29, of 111 67th Road, Forest Hills. Peterson, who also gave the address of Burnt Taverns, Pa., was injured in the mishap. Trooper W. E. Wiedemann of the Kingston sub-station issued the summons.

Dead on Arrival

Joseph W. Post of Devil's Lake Road, this city was taken to Kingston Hospital 7 a. m. today by Doctor's Ambulance and was pronounced dead on arrival. A veteran of World War 1, he was the brother of Addie Smith of Devil's Lake Road. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the W. N. Connor Funeral Home Inc., 296 Fair Street.

Did Not Swallow Fluid

Kingston State Police reported today that they were notified Sunday that Richard Pirigyo, 2½, of East Kingston, was taken to Benedictine Hospital by his parents thought he swallowed charcoal lig... fluid. He was examined and released, troopers said. He apparently had not swallowed any of the fluid.

Goldwater Pushes for Texas' 56

AP Poll Reveals Senator Has 619

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater is expected to corral 56 delegate votes in Texas Tuesday and, by current count, push past the magic total needed to win the Republican presidential nomination.

But not all of this first ballot strength is irrevocably bound to the Arizona senator, and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania will be hopscotching the country this week, trying to pick off some of the delegates now in the senator's column.

Since Scranton launched his drive for the nomination last Friday, however, he has gained little more than a score of votes —and only one of the delegates who lined up behind the governor was for Goldwater earlier.

Balloons to Go

The senator's total meanwhile ballooned to 619 by Associated Press tally. He needs 655 for nomination and is favored to win all of the 56 votes to be designated in Texas and most if not all of the 14 to be assigned in Montana Friday and Saturday.

Those two conventions wind up the delegate selection process for the Republican National Convention opening July 13 in San Francisco.

AP Survey Figures

The AP survey of the 1,238 delegates already chosen showed this first ballot lineup based on primary election commitments, instructions, pledges and stated preference:

Goldwater	619
Nelson A. Rockefeller	127
Scranton	113
Henry Cabot Lodge	46
Margaret Chase Smith	15
Richard M. Nixon	13
Favorite sons	93
Uncommitted	212

Scranton and Pennsylvania State Chairman Craig C. Truax claim that only 250 of Goldwater's votes are from legally bound delegates. "There is a certain slippage of feeling for Goldwater," Scranton said.

Replies to a spot check of delegates following Scranton's announcement showed no headlong rush away from Goldwater, however.

There also were a few shifts from previously uncommitted delegates to Scranton's banner, notably four in North Dakota.

Goldwater backers across the nation contended the senator's delegates would stand fast.

The weekend conventions went about as expected. Goldwater gained support ranging from solid to unanimous at state conventions in Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Virginia and Missouri. He picked off four of Connecticut's 16 and five of Maryland's 20. Scranton appeared before both conventions, winning 12 in Connecticut and four in Maryland.

Only in Minnesota, where forces favoring an uncommitted stand were victorious, did Goldwater fail to win support. Even there he has eight previously elected district delegates.

Supreme Court Rules:

N.Y. Apportionment Is Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court declared today the legislative apportionment system of New York State is unconstitutional.

Cites Population Basis

Warren repeated in the New York case that the Constitution's equal protection clause requires that seats in both houses of the Legislature must be apportioned substantially on a population basis. He then stated:

"Neither house of the New York Legislature, under the state constitutional formulas and the implementing statutory provisions. . ., is presently or, when reapportioned on the basis of 1960 census figures, will be apportioned sufficiently on a population basis to be constitutionally sustainable."

Called Unfair

The chief justice said in his 21-page opinion that the Supreme Court had examined state formulas in minute fashion "in order to point out that, as a result of following these provions, the weight of the votes of those living in populous areas is of necessity substantially diluted in effect."

Warren asserted, "New York's constitutional formulas relating to legislative apportionment demonstrably include a build-in bias against voters living in the state's more populous counties."

He added that "the legislative representation accorded to the urban and suburban areas becomes proportionately less as the population of those areas increases."

The New York State ruling was given on a challenge of the state's apportionment formulas by radio station WMCA of New York City, its president, R. Peter Straus, and five other voters.

Could Delay '64 Voting

In ruling in the New York case, Warren said that since all members of both houses of the New York Legislature will be elected in November, the U.S. District Court in New York, "acting under equitable principles, must now determine whether, because of the imminence of that election and in order to give the New York Legislature an opportunity to fashion a constitutionally valid legislative apportionment plan, it would be desirable to permit the 1964 election of legislators to be conducted pursuant to the existing provisions, or whether under the circumstances the effectuation of appellants' (WMCA and others) right to a properly weighted voice in the election of state legislators should not be delayed beyond the 1964 election."

662 Paltz Grads Are Counselled By Vassar Head

Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding, retiring president of Vassar College spoke to an audience of nearly three thousand this morning at the 77th annual commencement exercises at the State University College, New Paltz.

A total of 662 degrees were conferred by Dr. William J. Haggerty, president of the college. This figures includes 418 bachelor or science degrees 68 bachelor of arts and 176 master of science degrees. It represents an increase of 160 compared with 502 degrees conferred last year.

In her address to the graduating class Miss Blanding said "to be an active participant in the crucial period of our history is one of the most exciting prospects any young person can have."

Stresses Individual

Enumerating the generally accepted qualities that go into the making of a good teacher she said that "the good teacher fans and feeds what ever spark he discerns in each individual student."

Miss Blanding told the graduates that it was her fervent wish "that whatever you do, be it teacher, administrator, mother, lawyer or businessman, you will maintain your interests and beliefs in education and its ability to produce the kinds of citizens who will keep this country strong and viril."

In his introduction for Miss Blanding, Dr. Haggerty spoke of her as a person "very close to us at New Paltz."

Speaker Lauded

He pointed out that Miss Blanding, "differing somewhat from other presidents of private colleges, steadfastly supported the concept of a state university and the importance of developing public higher education in this state. We are indebted to her efforts in this direction," he said.

Dutchess County Judge John R. Schwartz, chairman of the New Paltz College Council, presented the Kappa Delta Pi award to Miss Sandra F. Gingeresky of Troy. This award is made to the member of the graduating class having the highest scholastic average for the four years of college courses.

Firemen Holding Rockets Display At Dietz July 4

Kingston Uniformed Firefighters Association, Local 461, will present its eighth annual holiday fireworks display and field entertainment on Saturday, July 4 at 7:45 p. m., in Dietz Stadium, it was announced today by James F. Woods, president.

The holiday event, which annually attracts upwards of 10,000 persons, is presented by the Firefighters Association to raise funds for the organization's participation in various civic and welfare projects in the Kingston area.

The fireworks display will be staged at dusk on the holiday night, preceded by the annual field entertainment. "The association's annual holiday entertainment was originated not only to provide entertainment for the entire family, but also to observe the patriotic significance of Independence Day," Woods noted.

Present New Flag

Each year the Firefighters Association holds a flag-raising ceremony at the opening of the holiday night program and will again this year present a new American flag, which will be accepted on behalf of the city by Mayor John J. Schwenk.

The entertainment portion of the program will feature three outstanding acts including Ronnie Lewis, the 25-year-old aerial acrobat, and his trio who perform atop a slender steel tower, stretching 75 feet into the air on a four-foot square platform. The trio has toured in many foreign nations.

Also included in the July 4 celebration is Count Box Car de Young, a clown prince of comedy, who had been featured on televi-

Khrushchev On Tour of Scandinavia

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev headed for Copenhagen today, starting an 18-day Scandinavian tour during which he is expected to plug for a ban on nuclear weapons in the countries he is visiting as well as central Europe.

Accompanied by his wife, Nina, and a party of Soviet officials, Khrushchev left Moscow by train Sunday night. He will board a ship today at Kaliningrad and is due in the Danish capital Tuesday morning.

A cheering crowd of Muscovites saw the 70-year-old Soviet leader off on his third foreign trip in three months. Khrushchev visited Hungary in April and the United Arab Republic in May.

To Aim at NATO

As he tours Denmark, Norway and Sweden, Khrushchev probably will try again to crack the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's northern defense ring by asking the Scandinavian countries to join in turning the Baltic into a sea of peace.

Khrushchev has often urged a ban on nuclear weapons in central Europe and Scandinavia. He has been particularly anxious to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons to West Germany, a NATO member. Nuclear weapons also would be banned from Communist East Germany under Khrushchev's proposal.

Although there is considerable anti-nuclear sentiment in Scandinavia, NATO members Denmark and Norway have been unwilling to act independently of their Atlantic alliance partners on the nuclear-free zone.

Six Days in Each Nation

Neutral Sweden officially supported a nuclear-free central and northern Europe as far back as two years ago. It has always insisted on firm controls to prevent cheating

Khrushchev will spend six days in each country, ending his tour in Sweden July 4.

Various groups in each country have indicated degrees of opposition to the visit. A Swedish organization plans to hold public protest meetings. Its members include many exiles from the formerly independent Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, annexed by the Soviet Union after World War II.

Prospects for the Swedish visit also have been clouded by the conviction last week of Swedish air force Col. Stig Wnnerstrom for spying for the Soviet Union. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Three years ago bitter public opposition forced Khrushchev to cancel a trip to Scandinavia.

Delighted About Scranton Support

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge today termed "totally untrue" a Washington report that he was resigning within 30 days.

"There is no truth at all in that," Lodge said through a spokesman.

Lodge repeatedly has denied similar reports in the past.

On one recent occasion he said "I am not resigning but I don't plan to stay here the rest of my life, either."

The New York Times had reported that Lodge had asked to be relieved within 30 days for reasons of health. The White House in Washington said President Johnson had received no letter of resgination.

'Totally Untrue'

The Columbia Broadcasting System reported from Saigon that Lodge said the report he had submitted his resignation was "totally untrue."

The American Broadcasting Co. said Lodge, talking Sunday night in Saigon with ABC correspondent Charles P. Arnot, denied published reports that he was returning to the United States before the Republican National Convention. Lodge made no mention in the taped interview about resigning, an ABC spokesman said.

Lodge, 61, won New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary on write-in votes and now has 46 delegates who say they will vote for him on the first ballot at the Republican National Convention opening in San Francisco July 13.

Happy About Scranton

Lodge's son, George Cabot Lodge, reported Sunday that he had informed the ambassador on Friday that the draft Lodge movement was supporting Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who entered the GOP presidential race that day.

"My father sent me a telegram saying he was delighted by the decision to support Scranton. He said, 'Please tell Gov. Scranton how happy I am,'" the younger Lodge reported.

Army-Air Force Games Priced at $54 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent Army-Air Force war games in the Far West cost about $54 million and were the most costly since World War II, it was learned today.

The Associated Press was told this was the price tag on Desert Strike, a two-week mock war in which some 100,000 Army troops and Air Force units dueled over areas of California, Arizona and Nevada last month.

The Defense Department said it originally had been calculated the exercise would cost $60.1 million, but that various economies had sliced about $6 million from that estimate.

By comparison, "Exercise Big Lift" last fall cost $20 million. In this operation, the 16,000 men of an armored division were flown 5,600 miles from Texas to Germany and returned after maneuvers near the Iron Curtain.

The Pentagon said "the major contributing factor to the cost of joint exercise Desert Strike was the commercial transportation of the armored units and their heavy equipment to and from the exercise area."

Two Divisions Moved

Two armored divisions — the 1st and 2nd — were moved by train from Ft. Hood, Tex., to the three-state battleground. Armored divisions have about 3,750 vehicles, including 364 tanks and 660 personnel carriers.

Also involved in Desert Strike were an armored brigade of the California National Guard and a tank battalion from Ft. Campbell, Ky., in Air Force planes, the 5th Mechanized Infantry Division came from Colorado and various smaller Army and Air Force units were drawn from as far away as the East Coast.

The cost of moving Army forces by commercial means,

21 Queens Coming To Compete for Miss N. Y. Title

Twenty-one girls, all queens in their own right, will compete for the title of Miss New York State here July 9, 10 and 11. Entries closed on Saturday and no more can be accepted for the 1964 State Pageant.

Winner to Atlantic City

Several hundred girls participated in the 21 local preliminary competitions, the winner of each, competing for the title of Miss New York State. The winner here is sent to Atlantic City to compete for the title of Miss America.

In making this announcement today, Albert Kurdt, president of the Miss New York State Pageant, stated that the number

Goes West With His Campaign

Pa. Governor Hot On Barry's Trail

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Gov. William W. Scranton today opened a six-state quest for delegate support in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Pennsylvania's chief executive pointed his campaign westward into regions generally claimed by his No. 1 opponent, U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Scranton, after making a commencement address at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pa., was to go to Des Moines, Iowa, to confer with the Iowa delegation to the national convention.

To Keynote in Mass.

Tuesday he will be at Topeka, Kan., and Minneapolis, Minn. Wednesday, he goes to St. Louis, Mo., and Denver, Colo., and on Saturday he is booked to keynote the Massachusetts GOP convention. Aides said there was a possibility other states would be included on the week's tour.

Scranton said he would speak every day this week, unless the work of the Pennsylvania Legislature prevents it.

He has admitted he started late in the campaign and has a long, uphill fight. But, he has said, "I am a good, hard, fast runner."

Claim 105 Delegates

Scranton's aides contend the Pennsylvanian has more than 105 delegates, but they are banking on strong second ballot support at the San Francisco convention to put Scranton into the top spot.

Goldwater presently holds a long lead in delegate strength, with 619 votes, according to the latest Associated Press poll. This is only 36 short of the number needed for nomination.

The Associated Press poll gives Scranton 113, compared to 127 for Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, the No .2 man in the delegate race.

Bouyed by Response

Scranton, who announced his candidacy last Friday at the Maryland GOP convention in Baltimore, said, "The reaction has been fantastic." Appearing on the American Broadcasting Co. television program, "Issues and Answers," the governor said Sunday he has been buoyed by the response of Republicans throughout the nation.

He said he feels most of the delegates for Goldwater "are not completely committed to him" and he feels that through campaign speeches and person-to-person contacts with delegates to the national convention he can "pull back some delegates."

Many others are "changing their minds now that they have a choice," he added.

"I wouldn't be in it if I didn't think I could win," Scranton said.

Scranton's television appearance capped a hectic weekend.

Thailand Party Stays Sunday at Stuyvesant Hotel

Kingston had a distinguished—but considerably unnoticed visitor—overnight.

Ambassador Nimna Atminda, of Thailand, and his party of about 10 persons, stayed Sunday night through early today at The Stuyvesant Hotel in an unscheduled visit to the city.

Mrs. Lillian Rowe, hotel manager and her assistant, John O'Sullivan, said the entourage came into the city Sunday night from the Thruway after visiting Niagara Falls. They said the group left early this morning to return to the embassy in Washington, D. C. Ambassador Atminda was formerly ambassador from his country to Great Britain before he was appointed ambassador to the U. S.

2 Die in Dutchess; Weekend Toll Is 25

Two Dutchess County residents—a 13-year-old boy and a 35-year-old Red Hook man killed in motor vehicle accidents, were among 25 who died in mishaps over the weekend in New York State. Traffic deaths totaled 22.

Th area victims were—John Muddie, 13, of Red Hook Estates, Red Hook, and Alfred J. Sweeting, of RD 1, Red Hook.

Dutchess County authorities recorded the 26 highway fatality of 1964 on Flag Day—Sunday, when the boy was killed. The county's 25th highway death occured Saturday when John Frederick Ackert, 23, of 197 Smith Street, Poughkeepsie, was fatally injured in a one-car mishap on Route 9G, East Park. Ackert was home on leave from the Navy base at Norfolk, Va.

Dutchess County's highway deaths for 1964 are running ahead of the 1963 toll, and indications are that a record toll might be reached. The 26th highway fatality in Dutchess last year occured on Dec. 3.

The Muddie boy was killed at about 6:30 p. m. Sunday. State Police Sergeant Maurice Valliant said the boy rode his bicycle from Cambridge Drive, Red Hook, into the path of a southbound pickup truck driven by Walter Simmons, 30, of Livingston Street, Rhinebeck.

According to Rhinebeck Troopers James Horkan and Robert McNallen, Simmons made a futile attempt to stop the truck as the boy on the bicycle suddenly pulled in front of the vehicle. The boy was thrown from his bicycle.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester H. Golding, Wappings Falls, withheld a verdict pending further investigation. The cause of death was not immediately determined.

Schwellenbach, vice president of operations, presents the Nytralite donation of $500 to Mrs. Violet Coulton, representing Kingston Teachers. This is the first annual donation made by Nytralite Aggregate, Eddyville, producers of a lightweight aggregate. Miss Isabel Malone, head librarian of Kingston High School, holds copy of Milestones to American Liberty, a book which contains the great documents of our nation. The handsome documentary, which recreates and explains the foundations of our American liberties, was also donated by Nytralite. Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of schools, participated in the presentations.

Eddyville Nytralite Gives School Grant

For the eleventh seccessive year, New York Trap Rock Corporation is presenting school grants to Hudson Valley school districts where the stone producing firm maintains operating installations and stone reserves.

This year the educational assistance program was expanded to include districts in Kingston and Long Island. A total of $10,000 is being distributed with Nytralite Aggregate of Eddyville, presenting a $500 grant to the Kingston Consolidated school District.

Each year an amount of money is given, above and beyond the the then current school taxes being paid, for the purpose of increasing to the maximum degree possible the general teaching excellence in the districts.

Recipients of the grants since 1963 are Clarkstown Central School District and Haverstraw-Stony Point District No. 1 in Rockland County; City of Newburgh and Marlboro Central School District No. 1 in Orange County; Wappingers Central School District in Dutchess County; Haldane Central School District in Putnam County, and Central School District No. 3 in Westchester County. Four districts in Nassau County and the Kingston Consolidated District Ulster County were added this year.

The uses to which the monies are being put are many and varied. Teachers in the respective district determine how their funds shall be expended. The monies have been used for sabbatical leaves, educational travel, special training, teacher recruitment, establishment of libraries and workshops, training programs and clinics.

Frontrunners Know Their Nays

Scranton Plays GOP Tune In Time: Contradiction

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton and the man he is trying to head off for the Republican presidential nomination, Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater, have one thing in common: they contradict themselves.

So does former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

On June 4 Scranton said he could run for the vice presidency on the ticket with Goldwater and said he did not know of "any extremely basic differences" between them.

He said: "Both of us believe in a strong foreign policy . . . in the government's actions being strong on the local level, then on the state, and finally on the federal level.

"There are comparatively little differences between various Republican leaders."

He added he didn't know precisely Goldwater's views on civil rights although why not is hard to explain. Goldwater has talked plenty about them.

Up to this time Scranton had said he was not a presidential candidate, would be willing to be drafted, but wasn't stirred up enough about the issues although in almost the very next sentence he said he was stirred up about foreign problems and our "lack of leadership."

Then on June 12 he switched, announced his candidacy for the presidency, said he had said many times he was not interested in the vice presidency, and called Goldwater's views a "weird parody" on Republican beliefs. He listed a number of differences between him and Goldwater.

Accused Goldwater

He went on to accuse Goldwater — without mentioning his name — of spreading "havoc' and complained that a "small but vocal minority too often has made our party sound naive, irresponsible, reactionary and heartless."

But after this he was asked: if Goldwater got the nomination, would he support him: He said he would do everything in his power, no matter who is nominated, "to see that we have a united party."

Nowhere has he precisely spelled out where he disagrees with Goldwater except now he says one of the factors which induced him to become a candidate was Goldwater's vote last week against ending the filibuster against the civil rights bill, a position Goldwater had long said he would take.

Yet since June 4, when Scranton said he could be Goldwater's running mate and saw no basic differences between them Goldwater has neither said nor done anything that he hadn't said or done before June 4.

Meanwhile, Goldwater, who has created an image of himself as a go-get-'em man "with rolled up sleeves," Sunday refused an invitation to debate the issues with Scranton and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Nixon Performing

Goldwater, a free enterprise man, said they could go get their own audience. Through all this, and before, Nixon had been performing.

In the past two years Nixon said he was finished with public office and would not even let himself be drafted for the presidency, then said he would accept the nomination. He tried to stir up opposition to Goldwater but said he wasn't trying to stop the Arizonan, called Scranton a "puppet," said he wasn't a puppet, said Scranton had given a "weak" and "vacillating" and "bad impression" on television but changed to say he looks strong and wound up by saying he wasn't criticizing Scranton but was only trying to analyze his problems.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If your bills keep pouring in and your debts seem to go only one way —up—here's a happy thought from a cold statistic:

The public's liquid assets this year have increased 6.6 per cent.

Solid Part of Economy

And liquid assets, lest you jump to the wrong conclusion, are regarded as a very sober and solid part of the nation's economy.

Bankers define liquid assets as the public's holdings of money, time deposits in commercial and mutual savings banks, postal savings, savings and loan shares, U.S. savings bonds, the government securities maturing within one year.

You have other assets, doubtless just as meaningful to you, but a bit less liquid because they can't be drawn upon quite as fast and surely in the market place. These include equity in your home, auto, appliances and other furnishings, your stake in Social Security and private pension reserves, your insurance policies, your investments in real estate and long-term securities.

All types of personal assets come to well over a trillion dollars now. They are a reassuring factor when economists worry about mounting debts—personal as well as government — and about monthly payments that tend to rise as personal income does.

Some of Both

Millions of families have both savings and debts, of course. Others may be strongest in debts. Some are above the average in liquid assets.

But just as totals, the personal financial assets of Americans top the personal debts by a comfortable figure, as expressed in current market values.

The assets swelled by $44 billion in 1963, and the debts by $23.6 billion.

The increase in personal liquid assets shows that people have the wherewithal to spend on what they want this summer, if they wish. And the merchants, the dealers, the resort owners, transportation companies are counting on them.

The rise in employment above the 71 million mark adds all the more money to be tapped.

But all liquid assets don't just flow into one pocket and out the other — they just sometimes seem to. The year is likely to end with Americans—as a whole if not yourself in particular—being worth still more than now in spite of all the attractive ways to spend that seem to multiply.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H®. At all drug counters.

Alleged Slayer Has Child After Holdup

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — An unmarried woman, accused of shooting a deaf man during a tavern holdup, has given birth to a daughter at Meyer Memorial Hospital.

Authorities said Carla Leach, 20, charged with first-degree murder, gave birth Sunday to an eight - pound, three - ounce baby. She has been held at the hospital under police guard since Jan. 28.

The mother and child were "doing well," reported the Erie County Sheriff's Department.

Police said John Johnkins, 33, was shot by Miss Leach during a Jan. 22 tavern holdup. Police said she shot Johnkins, who was deaf, when he failed to heed her orders to lie on the floor.

Miss Leach has twice set herself afire and cut her wrists with a bobby pin since her arrest, police said.

A companion, Robert L. Hayes 37, a Negro, who police said acted as a lookout during the $75 holdup, has been charged with first-degree murder and first-degree assault.

Miss Leach, who is white, said after her arrest that she was pregnant, but that Hayes was not the father, police reported.

Has No Favorite Choice, He'd Run If He's Selected

CHICAGO (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, declining to state his choice among contenders for the Republican presidential nomination, says he would accept if delegates selected him to break a convention deadlock.

The former vice president, however, said Sunday the race is between Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and that he doesn't see a "strong third force" that could deadlock the convention.

In a television interview on "Forum," a program broadcast locally in Chicago by station WBKB, Nixon said:

"In the event that the convention fails to find in any of the present candidates a man who can unite the party at the convention, and if the party leaders turned to me, then I would undertake the responsibility of the nomination and I would conduct an extensive campaign.

"That conclusion has not been reached, and I do not believe it will be. I think that one or the other (Goldwater or Scranton) will be the candidate."

Intellectuals Needed

The intellectual has "always been a sort of marginal man. . . underpaid both in money and esteem. . ." Redding told the 270 graduates of the two colleges. Redding received an honorary doctor of humane letters degree.

A total of 119 degrees were presented to graduates of Keuka College, at Nearby Keuka Park.

Police Report Woman Fights, Kills Spouse

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP —A woman has been charged with first-degree manslaughter in the stabbing death of her husband after the couple had quarreled.

The body of Edward Skupin, 47, was found by an ambulance crew Saturday night sprawled in a pool of blood on the kitchen floor of the family's modern brick home in Niagara Falls.

Police were summoned and Mrs. Stephania Skupin, 40, was charged with first-degree manslaughter.

Police said the couple's teenage son, James, told them his father and mother had argued and he had gone to his mother's aid after his father struck her. The boy then left the room briefly, police said, and, when he returned, he found his father dead.

Police said Skupin had been stabbed in the back with a four-inch paring knife.

Knowland Warns Kuchel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Former Sen. William F. Knowland has warned Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel to support Sen. Barry Goldwater if Goldwater wins the Republican presidential nomination or face loss of future GOP support.

Knowland, chairman of Goldwater's California delegation to the Republican National Convention here next month, said Kuchel and other liberal or moderate Republicans would be under a "grave obligation" to support Goldwater if he gets the nomination.

LINKING KNOWLEDGE

Science today is like a huge ship operated by many specialists, none of whom is a navigator.

This presents quite a number of problems for the decision-makers, the captains of industry and government. They must necessarily consult and confer with a battery of individuals, each an expert on one thing or another, before they can make the inevitable decisions which will materially affect mankind.

So we have plenty of scientific cooks. One can only hope they won't spoil the global broth. It's pretty confusing.

But Joseph Tykociner and zetetics would like to straighten things out.

Dr. Tykociner is a professor of electrical engineering at the University of Illinois. And zetetics, the term he coined, is the study of relationships between literature, physics, electrical engineering, political science and other areas of interest to man.

The zetetist's slogan might well be "a little (narrow) knowledge is a dangerous thing." And, to buttress the phrase, the zetetist adds that his first job is to classify all disciplines by laying out a blueprint of the known to permit intelligent focusing on the not-yet-known.

In other words, this modern-day generalist is searching for the "overview" position so that he can take a long, objective look at the great mass of recorded knowledge and determine the links which bind and relate each specific area to the other.

Zetetics thus tends to raise possibilities of looking at current problems from an over-all long-range and international viewpoint.

It would be easy to dismiss this approach as a product of the jack-of-all-trades-and-master-of-none school, but Tykociner doesn't consider the zetetist a philosopher-king who can blithely say, "I take all knowledge to be my province."

Human knowledge is much too variegated and diffused to allow for this presumption. The zetetist, rather, must plan for future educated and co-ordinated assaults on the unknown.

To do this, he believes, one must study and understand the close relationships between the many areas of arts and sciences—and this is the main function and interest of zetetics, which may very well be the science of the future.

ACCIDENT CUSHIONS

Not long hence, passengers may find themselves surviving airplane crashes because suddenly inflated plastic or rubber bags have protected them from the worst of the impact. This prospect is held out as the result of tests made recently for the Federal Aviation Agency by the Flight Safety Foundation.

In a plane equipped with this system, the pilot would inflate the bags by flicking a switch when a hard landing or crash was expected. Each passenger would at once be enveloped in air cushions, which woud later deflate automatically.

In the experiment, a DC-7 airliner thundered down a runway and smashed into a hillside at 160 miles an hour. A dummy aboard the plane was surrounded by the inflated bags. An FAA spokesman said after test data had been analyzed, "Results indicate the dummy who sat in for a man would have survived the crash."

Although such a system would not guarantee survival, the chances are that it could save many lives. It is to be hoped that, once the method has been perfected, it can be made standard equipment for commercial passenger aircraft.

One further notion comes to mind. If inflated bags can make plane travel safer, can they do the same for auto travel? Such an installation in an automobile may not be feasible, but thought should be given to the matter. Air cushions might be better than seat belts in a highway crash.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

SATIRICAL VERSUS STATISTICAL TRUTH

Williamsburg, Va. — I have just been participating in a gathering of students from forty-four foreign countries who came here to take part in the annual Williamsburg International Assembly. The last seminar of a three-day session was thrown into something of an uproar when Andrew Hacker, an associate professor of government at Cornell University, used the cold terms of a cultural anthropologist to describe the power struggle of whites and Negroes in the United States.

He spoke of two clashing "Populist" movements, one consisting of Negroes who are attempting to crash a society which has rejected them, and the other composed of fearful white "backlashers" who are shaky about their own hard-won financial security, real estate values, and social status. He predicted, as a "student of power," that the backlash would take on formidable proportions in the next few years.

Professor Hacker's speech was delivered deadpan, but there were undercurrents of irony in it. Obviously, to an American, he was hitting at northern hypocrites who are all for integration in Mississippi and Alabama but who carefully move themselves to all-white suburbs when their blocks are "busted" by Negro househunters in a big city. The note of irony, however, failed to cross the language barriers of students from Belgium, Ethiopa, Ecuador, and India. Some of the boys and girls couldn't understand it when Professor Hacker said he spoke as a scientific student of power, not as a moralist.

Since this columnist once read all the works of the late Thorstein Veblen, who used to describe the "underlying population" in terms that sounded scientifically neutral but actually masked a good deal of the sympathy for the underdog, the Hacker approach to the problem of the "two populisms" seemed quite a masterpiece of basic understanding of a potentially ugly situation. On the one hand the Negro is on the march. And on the other hand no one who has paid $25,000 for a house in a white suburb likes to see $10,000 lopped off his investment overnight because of a change in the racial composition of the neighborhood. These are clashing facts of life, which Professor Hacker, no Pollyanna, was trying to get across.

That he failed to do it points to a serious modern deficiency. Even some of the students who were proficient in their English didn't get the Hacker drive toward sociological truth as expressed in satirical terms. Can it be that nobody really understands satire any more?

This may not seem to be a monumental problem to many, but it raises a serious question among those of us who make a living by writing. Or, for that matter by cartooning. Al Capp, the creator of the comic strip "Li'l Abner," happened to be part of the third-day seminar here at Williamsburg. He also spoke in satirical terms, depicting the U. S. as a cultural Lower Slobbovia. He, too, was misunderstood. And, ironically, he had to use straightforward and wholly non-humorous words to explain to the audience that Professor Hacker didn't really believe in eating Negro babies for breakfast.

The pragmatic deduction which your columnist drew from the seminar here is that statistics are safer than satirical exposition. And so I will rely on statistics to prove that this country inches toward improvement. A few years ago there were unintegrated shops in Williamsburg. Today commercial desegregation here is a fact. The change has been voluntary. It has taken place in spite of agitation for "Populist" backlash on the part of some whites.

The world does move. At a Swarthmore College commencement President Johnson spoke of a poverty that " keeps one-fifth of our people in economic bondage." It was only thirty years ago that Franklin Roosevelt spoke of "a third of a nation" being ill-fed. From one-third to one-fifth in thirty years means that we have lifted thirteen percent of the people out of poverty in a little over a generation.

Capitalist production, of course, is what did it. But this calls for another column. I promise to stick to statistics.

THE WELL CHILD

Child's Irritability Normal But Watch Chronic Whiner

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What would cause my 2½-year-old daughter to be irritable? She whines all day and I'm a wreck. Our doctor says there's nothing wrong with her, but she's getting worse.

A—It is normal for a child to be irritable when she has a fever, is overtired or has a nagging discomfort of any sort. On the other hand, a chronic whiner usually has no organic disease, but may have a feeling of insecurity. This may be the result of neglect or overindulgence which is often a cover up for a lack of true affection. Such a child, although not physically sick now, will suffer poor health all her life unless there is a change in her emotional background.

Q—Our daughter has a superabundance of freckles. What can we do to get rid of them and keep them from coming back?

A—Although several preparations have been tried for the removable of freckles, none is satisfactory. They either cause a severe reaction similar to eczema or the results are only temporary. Many people find freckles very attractive and certainly no one should regard them as a disease. The best course would be for your daughter to learn to live with them. But if she is self-conscious about them, she should avoid exposure to the sun because that darkens them. If that doesn't satisfy her, she should try a masking cream.

Q—My 12-year-old son developed a bald spot the size of a dime on the back of his head about six months ago. Our doctor said it was nothing to worry about. He now has four such spots on his scalp. What would you advise?

A—This patchy baldness is, as your doctor says, no cause for alarm. The condition usually clears up spontaneously. After several months, the hair gradually comes in again. Since the cause is unknown, there is no specific treatment, but various general measures are believed by some to be helpful. These include giving vitamin B complex, ultraviolet light or gradually increasing exposure to the sun, massage, and the application of a stimulating ointment containing anthralin or prednisolone.

Q—Our 11-year-old son weighs 105 pounds and is 57 inches tall. Is this considered overweight? If so, how many calories should he be allowed each day?

A—Your son is of average height for his age and is definitely above average in weight. The number of calories he requires depends on how active he is, but in order to keep his weight within the normal range, you should cut down his intake of such concentrated foods as margarine or butter, bread, candy, cake and jam and substitute fruit and gelatin deserts.

A number of GOP hopefuls have asked, What's Goldwater got that I haven't got? And the answer comes back loud and clear: Delegates.

The "equal pay for equal work" law goes into effect — giving men, already outmaneuvered, one less weapon in the battle of the sexes.

A picture of Governor Scranton dancing catches him with both feet off the ground—which is not considered a good position for a presidential candidate.

"You Suppose He's Got a New Set of Blueprints?"

Washington News

BY BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CLEVELAND, OHIO—(NEA)—Footnotes to a Governor's Conference that just about put the final seal on Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater as 1964 Republican presidential nominee:

Richard Kleindienst, top delegate rustler for Goldwater, believes Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York was 200,000 votes ahead in California after his upset victory in the Oregon primary. Goldwater's final California's margin was 60,000.

In a purely social setting, some key Goldwater men sat up until 5 a. m. Sunday, June 7, urging aides of Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania not to "chew up the party" by thrusting their man deep into a "stop Goldwater" movement.

AFTER ROCKEFELLER'S sarcastic jabs at Scranton for not taking a firm opposition stand, Scranton men had some comments of their own. One says Rockefeller had made not one single telephone call to Scranton since early last November.

Also regarded as symptomatic of the general lack of liaison among the moderate forces was the ironic fact that the first real contact between the "political families" of Scranton and Michigan's Gov. George Romney came the evening of the day Goldwater was virtually conceded the nomination.

Goldwater forces were taking no chances that the governors might forget Barry's numerous vocal supporters around the country. To the governors' rooms came streams of telegrams from their home states and major points in Ohio, most following a few limited patterns of language. One read "Goldwater or death."

SCRANTON HAD HIS OWN SPECIAL DELUGE of telegrams, most urging him to jump into the race against Goldwater. And even in the dying moments of his briefly enlivened candidacy, two separate $10,000 contributions came his way.

Rockefeller is said to be extremely bitter since the California primary. What upsets him especially, it is said, is not so much his defeat as the fact that Scranton, Romney and Richard Nixon all dispatched telegrams to Goldwater assuring him of their "neutrality" in the campaign.

Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's second major telephone call ("let's not be divisive" to Scranton was not the only dampener on the statement the governor made June 7 on his availability for the nomination and Goldwater's possible unsuitability. (The Scranton stand was widely viewed as weak.)

SCRANTON WAS UNHAPPY over what he regards as Romney's untimely blasts against Goldwater. These came publicly before Scranton spoke on television. Scranton was aware that nearly all GOP governors disapproved the timing—if not the sentiments — involved in Romney's move. The Pennsylvanian figured a strong stand might then have left him out on a cracking limb.

The tone of the governors' disapproval left no doubt they felt it was too late, that Goldwater has the nomination locked up.

Reports circulated in the conference corridors that Scranton's statement being prepared for his television appearance had a few real mule kicks in it. But the governor's aides steadfastly refuse to release any portion of the purely "draft" document.

Actually, he had not finally decided to use it. In any event, it was being revised at the very moment Eisenhower's Sunday call caught Scranton in his hotel suite. From that time on the signals were new. The governor brought some papers with him into the television studio. But since he made no move to look at them during his interview, no one knows for sure they were the pages of the now-buried document.

Republican Party Still Has Dark Horse Potential

WASHINGTON

Maybe the Republicans now are going to have an open convention—whatever that means—but certainly the initial pronouncement last Friday by Gov. William Scranton, declaring his candidacy, hardly expressed any novel point of view. Mr. Scranton had said as recently as June 4 that he saw "no extremely basic differences" with Sen. Goldwater. In fact, a careful reading of the address made at Baltimore by the Pennsylvania Governor leads to the conclusion that the Arizonia Senator could easily accept the principles outlined. Mr. Scranton said for example:

"I say that the true spirit of the Republican party today stands equally dedicated to preserving this nation from the dry rot of phony liberalism or the slow death of blind reaction."

The truth is that Sen. Goldwater, in his speeches, has exerted far more effort to try to get rid of the "dry rot of phony liberalism" in the country than has any other leader or candidate in the Republican party. As for the "slow death of blind reaction," it isn't quite clear just what is meant by this phrase, for Mr. Scranton could hardly be saying that blind reaction and conservatism are the same thing. Nor can the conservative movement in America be said to be dying a slow death when a spokesman like Sen. Goldwater polls a popular vote in the ten state primaries in excess of the total of all his Republican opponents put together.

There is one paragraph in Mr. Scranton's speech which certainly attracted attention in Congressional circles here. He said:

"Our party is not about to forget that the first great act of a great American President is to get elected. Nor are we about to forget our candidates for the U. S. Senate, for the House of Representatives, for the Governors' chairs, for the State Legislatures and for the local offices."

But Mr. Scranton need go back only eight years to discover that in a national election in which President Eisenhower was re-elected by a margin of 457 to 74 electoral votes, the Democrats not only retained control of both houses of Congress, but increased their majority in the House of Representatives. Local issues have upset the "coattail" theory in several Presidential elections.

Sen. Goldwater, of course, doesn't have the Republican nomination absolutely assured, because anything could happen between now and convention time, and, as was stated in these dispatches after the California primary, there is a tendency always for opponents to fight a last-ditch battle right up to the balloting at the convention.

It has been said that Gov. Scranton entered the race "too late." It's never too late for a dark horse to show up. There is still time for more candidates. Those Republicans who want someone other than Sen. Goldwater could have sought out and found a compromise type. They have, for some reason, failed to take a good look at several Republican members of the U. S. Senate.

It is strange that, after the rise of Lyndon Johnson to the Presidency from the position of Senate majority leader, the anti-Goldwater Republicans have been turning their eyes away from the Senate and toward governorships. Certainly, a man who has been active in Congress is far more familiar with national and international problems than are candidates who aspire to go directly to the White House from a Governor's chair.

It seems surprising, for instance, that Everett Dirksen, the leader of the Republican party in the U. S. Senate, has not been suggested for the Republican Presidential nomination. He knows much more about the intricacies of legislation on national policies than do some of the men outside Congress who have been mentioned as potential candidates.

Mr. Dirksen is an affable individual like Lyndon Johnson, and certainly has made an interesting presentation of the Republican side of the case in his many pronouncements. He has, moreover, been a conservative Republican most of his years in Congress. While he has occasionally veered over to the liberal side for practical political reasons and has been subject to criticism by some conservatives, there seems no doubt that he has the confidence of many conservatives and is esteemed as a fair-minded person by the liberal faction in the Republican party in Congress.

Then there are other Senators who might be considered—as, for instance, Thruston Morton of Kentucky, who was chairman of the Republican National Committee during the 1960 campaign and will be permanent chairman of the convention in San Francisco. An examination of the records of various Republican members of the U. S. Senate would be rewarding if the Republicans really are trying to bring about an open convention. The research might not be in vain, as it could turn up at least a good Republican candidate for the Vice-Presidency.

The lament of the middle-aged man:

They are making staircases steeper than they used to. The steps are higher, and there are more of them. Ceilings are higher now, and the trip from the first floor to the second is longer. Women are wearing less and less, and they look sillier and sillier. I wonder what the heck I ever saw in them in the first place?

Have you noticed the newspapers? The cheap skates are using smaller and smaller print. To see anything, I have to hold the thing at arm's length. This morning I had to back halfway out of phone booth to read the number on the coin box.

I won't wear glasses. Nobody can make me. My eyes are as good as they ever were. I tried getting someone to read to me, but today everybody speaks in such a low tone that you can't hear a word they're saying. Then, when you ask them to speak up, they don't make much sense anyway.

I'd like to know what happened to distance. Everything is spread out. Today, it is twice the distance from the house to the railroad station, and I don't know how it was done. Last week I noticed that somebody added a good-sized hill to the landscape. The trains leave quicker too. They wait until I'm almost to the station, when they take off like missiles.

The timetables are no good. They used to be reliable. Now . . an't read them, and nobody can understand them. No use asking the conductor. He doesn't know either. Usually, I get up from my seat a couple of stations ahead, to make sure I don't pass my stop. Sometimes I make doubly sure by getting off one station ahead.

Everything is changing. And all for the worse. The clerks are insolent if you ask the slightest question; policemen say "Wait for the light, Pop." I'd like to pop them. Barbers used to hold the mirror up behind my head after they cut my hair. Now they polish it with a hot cloth. My wife takes care of our appointments because she says I can't remember a damned thing. She's been belittling me for thirty years, but one of these days she's going to get hers. Right between the horns.

The world has gone crazy. The material they put in suits climbs up my back. It shrinks in certain places, like the waist and the hips. It must be old burlap. When I bend over to tie my shoelaces, the room gets dark and I can't locate the laces.

The Russians must be doing something to the weather. It is much colder in the winter, and hotter in the summer, than when I was a boy. In those days we had honest seasons. Whatever they're doing, the snow is heavier to shovel. Rain is also wetter than in the old days. Drafts are worse. It must be the way they build windows now-a-days.

Even people are changing. They're younger than they used to be when I was their age. Kids, practically. Kids are running the country. The doctor who tells me to take it easy does the cha-cha-cha all night. The Russians may be squirting something secret into the air. People can't be this nutty on purpose.

I used to enjoy a good cut of beef. Now everything tastes alike. Nothing has flavor anymore. There was a time when dinner was an event, and a man spent hours thinking about it and waiting for it. These days, it's like chewing on an old inner tube. Come to think of it, why can't the denitsts make teeth that will stay in? The only time mine remain where they're put is in a glass of water.

The young girls are a disgrace to the country. They're always looking at boys, and exposing themselves, and I often thought that if I had girls I'd fan the tar out of them and make them wear decent clothing, something that doesn't expose the whole ankle. No wonder they get in trouble. They're asking for it.

It's the fault of the parents, of course. Some of them are worse than no parents at all. They're so busy gallivanting around and about that they haven't got time to learn the names of the children. God help the country in another ten years. They eat too much, drink too much, play too much, and have entirely too much fun. In the good old days, we had real hardship.

If we had a dime on Saturday night, we thought we were millionaires. Today, a kid wants a dollar to go to the store. From his own parents, too. I could go to the store in the morning, before work, if I could get out of bed. The pains in my legs and my neck are terrible. Must be chronic dampness in the air. It takes me ten minutes sitting on the side of the bed to find out who I am, much less what I'm doing and where I'm going.

I should have slugged that boy scout in front of the Food Fair. "Can I help you across the street, sir?" he said. Little boys are becoming more and more insolent. It's the parents' fault, of course. Or did I say that before? I better shut up before I start repeating myself . . .

Re-Vote Tuesday

Record Number OCS Voters To Determine Fate of Budget

The largest number of eligible voters in Onteora Central School District history—3,485—will decide the fate of the proposed $2,696,435 1964-65 school budget in Tuesday's re-vote.

The budget was defeated by 18 votes on May 6, 805 to 787, with 1683 of the 2822 eligible voters exercising their franchise. The same budget will be at stake tomorrow.

The new registration figures represent an increase of 663 over the May 6 eligible list and reflect the high degree of voter interest in the controversial budget. The registration figure has been exceeded only by that for the elementary school construction bond issue last year when more than 4,000 were eligible.

Highest registration for Tuesday's vote is in Woodstock with 1183. Shandaken 788, Olive 693 and West Hurley, 821.

Voting hours are from 2 to 9 p. m. at the four polling centers —Shandaken hown hall, Onteora Central School, Boiceville; Woodstock and West Hurley elementary schools.

Rocks and Signs, New Slants on Bradley Meadow

An interesting vignette attracted the attention of motorists Saturday who drove by the now controversial Bradley Meadows en route to Woodstock village.

While huge trucks were dumping several tons of shale and rock on the southeast corner of the meadows, a group of spirited young men were trying to raise the sign that was erected in the meadows several days ago. The sign bore the legend: "What Do You Want Buckville or Woodstock?"

The timing of Saturday's episode was interesting, since only the night before more than 100 members of the Committee for the Preservation of Bradley Meadows had met at the Woodstock Playhouse to discuss ways and means of preserving the historic landscape scene.

The word was passed around quickly, however, late Saturday that the rock and shale was being dumped there to improve drainage in that area of the 2.6 acre plot on which a supermarket may be built, if the committee is unable to purchase the land from its owners Attorney Howard C. St. John of Kingston and Mrs. Peter Spinelli of New York.

Carey Is Elected Postmaster Veep

Postmaster Leon Carey of Woodstock has been elected a vice president of the New York chapter of the National Association of Postmasters. He was elected last week at the chapter's annual meeting at Massena. Robert Caves of North Rose is the new president.

Three other vice presidents named with Carey were: Mrs. Margaret Schneider of Clay, Dorothy White of Bloomingdale, and Andrew Wulfurst of New Hyde Park.

John J. Gaffney of Liverpool was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Purchase Prize Announced for All-Media Show

The Woodstock Artists Association has announced an All-Membership Show in all media from June 19 through June 30.

There will be a purchase prize of 200 awarded by a committee of representatives from the Onteora Central School, the Board of Education, the P-TA and the Woodstock Association.

The painting is to be presented to the Woodstock elementary school by the Woodstock Artists Association.

Work is due Thursday, June 18, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Members are urged to bring in work that has been created within the past five years.

Collection Center Open Tuesday, Saturday

The Library Fair Collection Center will be open from 10 a. m. to 12 noon and 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. on Tuesdays and Saturdays in the month of June.

Many interesting items are coming into the center. In addition there are every day household and wardrobe items and such things as 100 cut calico patches, with varying designs and all set to be sewn together for a quilt.

All persons attending the fair this year are invited to attend in costumes as in earlier library fairs when color and gaiety were the order of the day. Judges of the costumes will remain unidentified and will select the prize winners.

Since the time consuming work of the volunteers who take care of the collection center is so important and all items contributed are so needed and accepted, it is urged that articles be delivered as early as possible.

Part-Time Student Plan Is Success at Onteora

The Onteora Central School has received an excellent response from employers interested in hiring students for part-time, weekend summer work, Principal Paul T. Runge reports. Students have been placed to work in stores, restaurants and service stations. Others will be engaged in child care, gardening and house cleaning.

There are still a number of excellent workers available, who offer a wide range of talents. Students with special skills in shorthand, typing, art, music, writing and horsemanship to name a few are still seeking work. Counselors in day camps and residential camps are still to be found. Students are at hand to work in the area, from Pine Hill to Kingston and from Woodstock to Olive Bridge.

Employment experience is a valuable part of a young person's education. Prospective employers are asked to help educate the young by listing employment opportunities with the school. A listing can be made by calling the Onteora school.

Onteora Board Meets Tonight

Senate May View Non-Rights Bill After Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic leaders drive this week for passage of the civil rights bill, and so confident are they of victory, they already are turning their attention to other major administration legislation.

A tremendous pileup of House-approved measures is awaiting Senate action once the civil rights bill is passed.

All sides, including the Southerners who have fought the bill since March 9, concede it will pass this week, with Wednesday or Thursday considered the most likely day.

Sen. Barry Goldwater will vote against the measure unless it is materially revised, his campaign manager said Sunday night. Denison Kithel said Goldwater, Arizona Republican who is seeking the Republican presidential nomination, objects to the bill's provisions on public accommodation and private employment practices. No revisions are likely on these provisions.

Among the "must" measures waiting their turn in the Senate is the $533-million federal pay increase bill the House passed last Thursday. The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee has given tentative approval to much of the measure, but has additional sessions scheduled.

Assistant Senate Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota said hearings also may start soon on the President Johnson's $962-million anti-poverty legislation.

The House Rules Committee meets on this Tuesday and is expected to clear it for House floor action, probably next week.

Blaze Destroys Four Buildings Near Greenfield

At 4:30 a. m. Sunday Ellenville firemen received a call from Claredon Hotel notifying them that the hotel was on fire. Because of insufficient information given by the person calling, firemen went to Greenfield, the address to which the owner of the hotel receives mail.

When the firemen arrived they were unable to locate the hotel but presently observed a fire in the Dairyland area two miles west of Greenfield. By the time firemen arrived at the scene, some two miles west of Greenfield on Route 52, they found the hotel enveloped in flames.

The hotel owner, Vincent Collica of New York City, told Fire Chief William McCombs of Ellenville that he had been aroused by his sister-in-law who had smelled smoke. Investigation disclosed flames burning in the vicinity of electric wiring. Endeavors were made to put out the fire witn pails of water but when that failed Ellenville firemen were summoned.

Ellenville notified the Woodbourne Fire District, in which the fire was located and Chief Al Prince of the Woodbourne Department then took charge.

Water was pumped from a pond on the premises but it was impossible to save two wooden two and half story buildings. Other adjacent buildings were kept wet down and saved.

Ellenville supplied two pieces of apparatus and Woodbourne sent three.

Centerville Vols Fight Brush, Log DumpFireSunday

Centerville and Cedar Grove volunteer firemen were kept busy Sunday afternoon responding to a brush fire in Blue Mountain and a log dump blaze at Veteran.

The log and brush dump at the rear of the former Crotty Garage at Veteran flared up about 5:30 p. m. and threatened buildings in the area. Two pumpers of Centerville and one of Cedar Grove Fire Company responded and flooded the fire with a direct line from a hydrant on Route 212. Equipment was under the direction of Chief Robert Thein and Assistant Chief Granville Scotty Myer.

Earlier at 2:33 p. m. one Centerville pumper responded to a brush fire, reportedly set by children playing with matches along the Van Vlierden Road at Blue Mountain. No damage was reported.

Saugerties Meet Of Muzzleloaders Enjoy Fair Skies

Brilliant skies and a brisk breeze combined to enliven the holiday scene at Knaust Field Saturday and Sunday when the 120th N. Y. Volunteer Regiment was host for the Northeast Regional Civil War Skirmish.

An estimated 4,000 participants and spectators gathered before and behind the shooting line as the 25 teams competed for the Blackinton medals. Regalia was varied and colorful including the plaid pants of the Scottish team, the elegant curled tails on the caps of the bug-tailed brigade, the red and blue uniformed Zouaves and the Confederate gray and gold.

Many of the ladies attended in pastel crinolines, their costumes completed with authentic shawls and parasols.

The competition ratings in order of finish included:

1st N. Y. Light Artillery, 15.34 minute; 1st N. J. Volunteer Infantry, 25.532 minutes; 72nd Pennsylvania Volunteer, Company A, 28.45 minutes; 15th Regiment Connecticut Volunteer Infantry, 28.595 minutes, and 9th N. Y. Cavalry, 29.045 minutes.

A picked team of muzzleloaders defeated teams of Saugerties Town Police and 1st Battalion, 156th Artillery, New York Army National Guard. The town police and 156th used service revolvers.

ON FIRING LINE—The booming guns of Civil War artillery pieces resounded among the hills of Saugerties Saturday afternoon during the competition among participants in the Northeast Regional Civil War Skirmish held on Knaust Field, Washington Avenue, Saugerties. The event is sponsored annually by the reactivated 120th N. Y. Volunteers Regiment of Saugerties. One of the gun crews here waits for smoke to clear before firing another shot. The shot consisted of quart oil cans and fruit juice cans filled with concrete. (Freeman photo)

FASCINATES YOUNGSTERS—Hundreds of youngsters were fascinated by the booming Civil War artillery field pieces competing Saturday afternoon at Knaust Field, Saugerties, in the two-day third annual northeast Region Civil War Skirmish which ended Sunday. Two of the youngsters (left) in miniature National Guard uniforms are Robert and Edward Schrowang, sons of Capt. Edward J. Fifth May Be Taken On State Level Too

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that the Constitution's Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination applies in state as well as in federal proceedings.

Ruling on the petition of a Connecticut man convicted on gambling charges, the high court stated:

"We hold that the Constitution's 14th Amendment guaranteed the petitioner the protection of the Fifth Amendment's privilege of self-incrimination."

Justice William J. Brennan, delivering the court's majority opinion, declared that, under applicable federal standards, the Connecticut Supreme Court of Errors erred in holding that the petitioner's claim of privilege against self-incrimination was not properly invoked.

The Supreme Court's vote was 5-4.

Ulster Gets Less in State Return of MV Tax Receipts

Ulster County's share of a distribution of motor vehicle tax receipts for the three-month period ending March 31 are $1,618.12 less than the $218,653.53 received for the same period in 1963. The county's share for the first quarter of 1964 is $217,035.41.

State Comptroller Arthur Levitt today announced the distribution of $21,791,563.30 of motor vehicle tax receipts to the counties of the state and to the City of New York for the counties comprising the city.

New York City's share of the total is $6,104,856.73.

The total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for the first quarter of 1964, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law. The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the Law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of counties, be returned to local government.

The counties of Greene, Orange, Columbia and Delaware also received less for the first quarter of this year, while Dutchess County's share for the period ending last March 31 is $3,712.18 more than last year.

A summary showing the counties' share of the 1964 distribution and the distribution for the first quarter in 1963 follows: (The first figure is the distribution for the quarter ending March 31, 1963, the second is for the three-month period of 1964).

Columbia — $107,174.91-$105,717.46; Dutchess — $290,282.54-$293,994.72; Greene—$74,961.03-$66,059.79; Orange—$370,283.54-$333,231.02.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

With $84,000 In Stock Widow Must Diversify

Q—"I'm a widow, 70 years old, with no family. I have 600 shares of American Telephone, about $2,500 of series E bonds and $20,000 in savings. Should I start a portfolio of stocks? My only worry is inflation. My E bonds mature soon. Are they going to be extended beyond the 20 years?" — M. S.

A—If I may reply to your last question first, the answer is that your E bonds soon maturing, will be extended automatically for another 10-year period at a rate of 3¾ per cent, compounded semi-annually.

You already have $84,000 in Telephone stock, which is ample protection against inflation. What you do lack is diversification, with your over- dependence on one major holding.

I believe you should switch part of your Telephone into Standard Oil of New Jersey, National Dairy, and Consolidated Edison—each of which would improve your income.

Q—"Would you kindly give me your opinion of Brunswick, Studebaker, Sperry Rand, and American Photocopy? Are these sound investments with growth potential? Is there any truth to the rumor that Brunswick is going to merge with an outboard motor company and a hospital supply firm? — L. D.

A—I'm afraid you've been misled by the not uncommon but entirely erroneous assumption that well-known stocks selling at a depressed price are necessarily good investments. In most cases—certainly in the four you mention — nothing could be further from the truth.

These stocks are thoroughly speculative — and not particularly attractive speculations at that. I would not buy any of them at this time.

Brunswick is already in the hospital supply and motor business, and I know of no plans for any other mergers along these lines.

I advise you to raise your sights materially and consider issues of the calibre of Texaco; Procter and Gamble; and Sears, Roebuck.

Lodge Not

Frankel under a Washington dateline, said:

"Lodge told President Johnson that the resignation was prompted by reasons of health, which he did not specify. The timing of the request, dated yesterday (Saturday), will assure his return home no later than one day before the start of the Republican convention....

"Mr. Lodge's move will free him of the restraints of the Foreign Service and enable him to participate in efforts to deny the Republican presidential nomination to Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona."

No Official Notice

Asked about the New York Times story, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said Sunday night that Lodge's post "is a presidential appointment and the President has received no such communication."

Lodge, the 1960 Republican candidate for vice president, had denied repeatedly he planned to leave his Saigon post.

Despite his refusal to discuss politics, Lodge's supporters entered him in several presidential primaries. After winning New Hampshire's 14 votes, he added 30 from his native Massachusetts and one each from Alaska and Ohio.

Lodge was named to the Saigon post last June 27 by President John F. Kennedy. In 1952, Kennedy had captured Lodge's U.S. Senate seat and in 1960 Lodge was the GOP vice presidential candidate against the victorious Democratic team of Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Grads Told Unity Must Be in Hearts, Minds

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren told the 3,300-member Stanford University graduating class Sunday that the American ideal has been to bring about unity through diversity.

"All true union is the integration of diversity" and America's "pluralistic society is made up of people of diverse races, colors and religions."

The Chief Justice told the 73rd annual Stanford commencement audience of 12,000, "It has been hard for human beings to learn this lesson, and all through the ages they have paid a price for rejecting it. Group pride, group rapacity, the assertion of superiority, the fear of change, have always fought against it.

"Unity can only be brought about if it exists in the heart and mind of people and if all are accorded equal rights and opportunities."

A meeting of heads of industry in Ulster County will be held Friday, June 19 at 10 a. m. At the invitation of Herbert Petz, emergency coordinator for the International Business Machines Coporation of Kingston the meeting will be held at the IBM Plant on Neighborhood Road in the Town of Ulster.

The objective of this meeting is to discuss how an enemy attack on this country would affect industry in Ulster County. Another important item on the agenda is the consideration of measures to hasten the economic recovery of our community following enemy attack.

Evan Evans, Chief of Industry Relations for the New York State Civil Defense Commission and Charles L. Arnold, deputy director of Civil Defense for Ulster County, will preside. Evans has recently completed a two-day seminar with industry representatives in Suffolk County.

Medication for Vacation

If your doctor has prescribed a medication for you, be sure to pack enough for your vacation. It's wise to ask your doctor to make out an extra prescription blank to keep in your wallet, in case your luggage is delayed or you lose your pillbox, the Ulster County Heart Association suggests.

Following the morning session, industry representatives attending the meeting will be guests of the IBM at luncheon.

It is expected that the following banks, public utilities, and manufacturers will be represented at the meeting:

First Federal Savings and Loan Association, Kingston Savings Bank, State of New York National Bank, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., New York Telephone Co., Hercules Powder Co., F. L. Russell Corp., Ferroxcube Corp. of America, Century Cement Co., International Business Machines Corp., Nytralite Aggregate Co., Rotron Manufacturing Co., Kingston Knitting Mills and Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Ethel, Borgnine Wedding Shaping As Notable Event

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This year's most famous June bride will be wearing yellow.

That's the color of the wedding gown Ethel Merman has chosen for her June 26 wedding to Ernest Borgnine. The union of the Broadway song belter and the onetime lovelorn Marty, now skipper of "McHale's Navy," is shaping up as one of Hollywood's most notable weddings in years.

The Merm was discussing plans on the set of "The Art of Love," in which she wears six complete outfits of varying hues, including wigs of green, blue, orange, etc. She plays the part of the proprietress of a Parisian body shop; in other words, this is one time she can say "Call Me Madam" and mean it.

"I came out here May 20 to get married, and then this picture came up," she explained. "Ernie said it was too good a part to pass up, so I went ahead. But now I hardly have a minute to take care of the wedding, and what details!"

Fortunately, she already had arranged for her gown in New York.

The bride-to-be also mentioned that the wedding will take place in the garden of Ernie's Beverly Hills home with a reception following at Chasen's. What started as an intimate ceremony has expanded, as with most weddings, the latest count being 200. All of Ernie's McHale's Navy crew are invited — "I know, because I addressed all the envelopes," said Ethel.

Her mother and father are here from New York for the wedding, and they'll be joined by Ethel's daughter, married and the mother of two, and a son, a theater arts major at Carnegie Tech. Honeymoon?

"Gee, I don't know," said Ethel. "I've got to be back at work on the picture the Monday after the wedding. And Ernie has to start his series July 27. We still hope to get to Japan, but I haven't been able to take my shots because I don't want to get a reaction and hold up the picture."

Dear Abby . . .

A "Leading" question!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 12 years old and I live in Lead, South Dakota. I think our State is very unfarily treated. It is never advertised like New York or California or Texas. I love my State and we have just as many exciting things as other State. And Lead is a nice city, too, but you never hear anything about it. Can you put this in your column and give us a boost?

LESLIE DORNBUSH, Lead, S. D.

DEAR LESLIE: The pioneers fought the Indians, grasshoppers and dust to make South Dakota one of the richest farming States in the nation. And there's gold in them thar hills, too! Furthermore, your Rushmore Memorial Park is one of the best known State parks in the country. Your pheasant hunting is second to none. South Dakota is growing in resources and culture. So ask your governor if he has Lead in his plans.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I once read somewhere that it is quite proper to say, "I don't give a dam," because a dam is a coin used in India. Is there any truth in this?

J. S.

DEAR J. S.: A "dam" was indeed a former copper coin used in India. But it has been so many years since anyone has had a dam to give that expression today is more profane than proper.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an adorable boy. Oh, he's not that cute, but heck, neither am I. He's 19 and I am 13. The only ones who know how I feel about him are my two best girl friends. They say I should give up and forget him because he is too old for me, but I have tried and I can't. I have felt this way about him since I was nine and a half. I can't see where six years is much a big difference. My mother is 33 and my father is 39. Do you think there is any hope?

GREENVILLE

DEAR GREENVILLE: Not at 13! Stay out of sight. And when you are 19 and he is 25, try again.

• • • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO S. M. F.: If he is truly your friend, tell him candidly that he needs a psychiatrist with five couches. One for each member of his family.

• • • •

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Television has settled down to a sleepy, summery pace, especially on weekends.

This reviewer was confronted with an hour or so to kill Sunday after NBC's "Meet the Press," when Barry Goldwater's campaign manager fielded tough questions very neatly. The networks offered only "Mr. Ed," "Lassie" and "The Bill Dana Show," and there is nothing more dreary than seeing a comedy for a second time.

Thus I found myself watching a 15-year-old James Cagney gangster movie. At one point, Cagney shot a man and then kicked him down a long flight of stairs, with the camera showing every bounce. At another he jammed a victim in the trunk of an automobile and casually pumped lead into it. The final shoot-out lasted at least 15 minutes.

The most violent scene I have encountered in this season's television output came in Sunday nights NBC "Show of the Week," a meandering tale called "Ambassador at Large."

It was a most uneven piece, extremely talky, with a few wild bursts of action.

The story centered on a fictitious South American country on the verge of revolution. A U.S. State Department troubleshooter sent to soothe the dictator arrives just as the rebel leader appears at embassy to ask political asylum.

The play sought to explain the necessity for dealing with an official of whom our nation disapproved and also tried to point out the reluctance of the State Department men to send his enemy out to certain death.

The play solved their problem in a way that got the dramatist off the hook but was not satisfactory to the viewer. They spirited the rebel out of the embassy by a trick, but he was caught and killed later, thus placating the dictator.

The shocking scene was one that showed, in specific detail, the hanging of four rebel partisans. It was not necessary to the story.

Arthur Kennedy and Andrew Duggan played the State Department good guys. Peter Falk as the banana republic firebrand used such a convincing foreign accent that he was hard to understand.

Most unexpected event of the weekend was the act from the "Folies Bergere" which Ed Sullivan chose for his show Sunday night. Instead of a scantily clad chorus of mademoiselles doing a can-can, there were two men and a girl doing tricks on a slack wire. That's hardly what tourists attend the Folies to see.

Rules Are Made To Be Broken

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

One of the most difficult problems a bridge player faces is that of knowing when to break a rule.

The book lead from the West hand is the deuce of hearts, but West decided to lead the jack. He wanted to be able to continue hearts in the event that dummy showed up with the guarded king.

Against the deuce of hearts lead, South would have had no trouble making five odd. Against the jack of hearts lead and a heart continuation he could have made four odd by double dummy play. He actually went down one.

Hearts were continued and he ruffed the second heart. Then he led two rounds of trumps only to get the sad news about the bad break.

Undaunted, he shifted to a diamond. West played the nine and East ducked. A second diamond went to East's ace and now East continued the brilliant defense by leading a third heart.

South ruffed and led a third diamond. West ruffed that and led a fourth round of hearts. This gave South a Hobson's choice. He could ruff in dummy and have no way to get back to his hand to pull West's last trump, or he could ruff in his own hand and establish West's ten spot.

How could South have made the hand double dummy? He could have led only one round of trumps before going after diamonds.

WHISTLER'S FATHER—Yes, Whistler had a father, too, although you don't hear much about him. The famous painting of Whistler's mother, usually hung in Paris' Louvre Museum and now on an American tour, overshadows that of his father, Maj. George Washington Whistler. Dad's picture is at Washington's Freer Gallery of Art.

We the Women

BY RUTH MILLET

There's no doubt that a beautiful girl will have doors opened to her where a plain miss wouldn't get toe room.

But even the beautiful girl won't find everything she wants at her fingertips all her life. If she has been trained to think she will, she's in for a rude awakening.

It isn't true that a pretty girl will always find life smooth sailing.

Beauty may make life simpler for a girl while she is just a girl. But if she slides along, expecting beauty to get her everything she wants out of life, she is sure to be in for a rude awakening some day.

It seems to me the mother of a pretty daughter should try hard to see that her daughter develops the qualities that make a woman capable of meeting life's problems and assuming its responsiblities.

A girl can bank on beauty for so short a time. It is a great shock to a woman who has counted too heavily on her looks to win love and admiration, to realize one day that her beauty is slipping, and that she can't compete on looks alone with younger women.

If the mother of a pretty girl would impress on her while she is still young that the only qualities a woman can bank on for life are qualities of character and ability and personality, there wouldn't be so many unhappy, envious, disillusioned women who were once pretty, popular girls.

It's no great tragedy for a woman to see her beauty fade if she has charm, an understanding heart, a real liking for people, and the independence of spirit that comes from knowing she is capable of facing up to whatever life hands her.

It's a tough break, but beauty does fade and life isn't easy for the girl who has no other quality to recommend her.

CRASH AT THRUWAY-ROUTE 587 CIRCLE—Two motorists were injured and one was cited for failing to yield the right of way as the result of a two-car collision at 2:30 a. m. Sunday at Thruway and Route 587 traffic circle. Troopers Fred Cooper (left) and John McMickle are inspecting damage to a vehicle. The cars were driven by Donald Haggerty, 29, of 956 Madison Avenue, Albany, and Richard Paradies, 25, of Jackson Heights. Both men were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctor's ambulance. Haggerty complained of stomach injuries, and Paradies was treated for head and back injuries. Trooper Norman Kilfoyle said Haggerty was driving west on Route 28 at the traffic circle and Paradies was going west at the by-pass when the crash occurred. Paradies was cited for failing to yield the right of way. Trooper David Wachtel assisted in the investigation.

Charge Two With DWI

Two motorists were cited on charges of driving a car while intoxicated by Ellenville police on Saturday, but Sergeant Leo Gorton said today that no information will be released to the press until the accused men are arraigned in court. Another motorist was charged with reckless driving following a chase through village streets, during which the driver barely missed hitting a car and a dog, and forced another vehicle off the road, but Sergeant Gorton declined to give any information to a reporter.

Motorboat Damaged

A report to local police Sunday noted that the motorboat of Kenneth Dittus, 19, of 68 Liberty Street, had been damaged by a submerged object in the Rondout Creek near the north end of the Island Dock slip. The report was referred to the State Conservation Department. It could not be determined today whether the U. S. Army Engineering Corps had been informed of any obstruction in the creek.

Missile on Course

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force today announced the launching of a Minuteman intercontinental ballistics missile down the Pacific missile range at 5:40 a.m.

Preliminary data indicated the missile was on course for a preselected target more than 5,000 miles away. It was the 49th launching in a series.

College Grad Is Back on Force

By Charles M. McCarthy
Freeman Staff Writer

If Patrolman Joseph F. Feraca doesn't ever do anything else in his police career—and that isn't likely based upon his past achievements — he will always have a singular distinction: He's the first member of the present force of Kingston Police Department to win a college degree.

Gets Georgia Degree

And he's brought his sheepskin back to the department, which can use the manpower if not the literary letters.

Feraca, 32-years-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Feraca, of New Paltz RD 2, was graduated last weekend from the University of Georgia with a bachelor of science degree in microbiology and a minor in sociology.

He accomplished this only nine months after he took a leave of absence from the police department to complete his college education.

Feraca, whose father is a Town of Esopus constable, also graduated from the State Agricultural and Technical Institute at Cobleskill prior to enrolling at the University of Georgia. He was appointed a patrolman Feb. 16, 1963 and went on sabbatical leave from the force on

PTL. JOSEPH FERACA

Sept. 14 of the same year. He is a member of Po Kappa Phi social fraternity at Georgia U. and served as vice president and treasurer.

Force Still Seven Short

Feraca's return to the force bolsters the manpower situation; the department is now only seven men short of its normal contingent of 61. An inquiry at police headquarters revealed that Patrolman Feraca's record as a law enforcement officer was "a good one."

This we can believe. Any nightstick-wielding, gun-toting policeman with a college degree can't be all bad.

Marries Blind Date He won in Lottery

LONDON (AP)—John Butler, 27, is honeymooning today with the girl he won in a 5-cent lottery.

Butler bought a 3-pence (five cents) ticket during a charity drive by students of Birmingham College of Technology.

The prize was a blind date with any member of the college's netball team. Butler won, and chose Jill Teague, now 20.

One date followed another. They were married over the weekend. Said Jill's mother, Mrs. Evelyn Teague:

"People thought the lottery was in bad taste and I must admit I thought it a bit funny. But the outcome could not have been happier. They are ideally suited."

The instructors are Louis H. Schafer and Charles "Bud" Sims, physical Director.

Those desiring information on the ladies swim or any YMCA activities may phone the Y office or call at the building, corner of Pine Grove Avenue and Broadway.

"The rights of many veterans vary from year to year from factors other than the many new laws and regulations. For instance, changes in income might materially affect the pension entitlements of some survivors and dependents. There are many changing circumstances including age, health or employment that point up the advisibility of keeping well informed on veterans' affairs." This office counsels thousands of veterans each year on their status under Federal and State laws. All veterans, survivors, and servicemen in this area are invited to bring questions and problems relating to veterans' affairs to this office.

Tax Exemption: — Grievance Day in the City of Kingston and all Townships this year is June 16, 1964.

Keating to Go Stag If Barry Nominated

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says he will campaign independently for re-election if Sen. Barry Goldwater wins the Republican Party's nomination for president.

Keating, in an airport interview here Sunday night, said, "Unless Sen. Goldwater considerably modifies his position, there will be many points of differences between us. Our voting record in the Senate shows this."

Asked what he would do if Goldwater headed the Republican ticket in the fall, Keating replied, "It will then become necessary for me to conduct my own campaign as the only statewide candidate."

"My record should be the issue and the people should decide upon that whether they want to send me back to the senate or not," he said in the interview at Rochester-Monroe County Airport, before boarding a plane to Washington.

The first hot dog eaten in the United States is believed to have been bought at Coney Island around 1871.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

Keating Speaks on Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., says the Soviet Union has stopped withdrawing its troops from Cuba in what may be an effort to " guard the missile sites or to protect the Cuban regime from its own enemies."

Keating, on a program recorded for radio and television in New York, estimated Sunday that between 4,000 and 7,000 Soviet troops remain in Cuba.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Population Reference Bureau, Inc., warns that population growth may force "rigid rationing of the use of national parks" as they become more crowded.

In a research report issued Sunday, the bureau noted that the one-billionth visitor to the national parks was recorded in Aug. 28, 1962—58 years after they were established. But the second billionth visitor is expected in 1973.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson attended the National City Christian Church Sunday and, like most of his fellow - worshippers, used a church-provided paper fan to cool himself.

Johnson was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and two members of his Cabinet — Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges and Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and their wives.

With the temperature at 90 and the weather humid, many men in the church took off their coats at the invitation of the minister. Johnson, Udall and Hodges kept theirs on.

RFK Senate Bid Under Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—Argument over the possibility of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy's running for U.S. senator from New York continued right up to today's organizational meeting of the newly elected Democratic State Committee.

County party leaders at the meeting were to include some who are backing Kennedy and some who support Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam—both of whom are widely mentioned in the discussion of a Senate candidate.

Kennedy has not announced whether he will seek the democratic nomination to run against Republican Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester in November.

Kennedy votes in his native Massachusetts and has made his home in Virginia for several years. But he could run for senator from New York if he established residence in the state by election day.

The nominee for senator will not be officially named until the Democratic State convention, late this summer. There is considerable sentiment in the party for a preconvention consensus on a candidate, to allow more time for campaigning.

De Gaulle Returns

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, looking fit and vigorous, returned to Paris Sunday after four days of stumping northern France.

The 74-year-old De Gaulle appeared to have withstood the heat, rain and crowds of his swing through Picardy better than many of his younger aides.

Kaltz to Replace Galian as Head Of Disabled Vets

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — David Kaltz of Flushing has been elected to succeed Edward G. Galian of New York City as commander of the Disabled American Veterans, New York Department.

Sally McDonald of Jamaica is the new commander of the group's women's auxiliary, succeeding Caroline Fudger.

The elections Sunday ended the 42nd annual convention, which began Friday. About 500 delegates attended.

Other women's auxiliary officers are:

Elmeretta Morrison of Tupper Lake, senior vice commander; Beatrice Rzeszoto of Albany, junior vice commander; Geraldine McWilliams of Niagara Falls, treasurer, and Jennie Miller of Niagara Falls, chaplain.

Delegates voted to hold the 1965 annual meeting of both groups in Highview, Sullivan County.

World News in Brief

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—An estimated 16,000 Catholics staged orderly demonstrations in the central Viet Nam cities of Danang and Hue Sunday, charging persecution of Catholics in their area.

Unarmed police and gendarmes patroled the demonstrations and no violence was reported.

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) —Romania will empty most of its political prisons by the end of the year, says Deputy Premier Alexandru Birladeanu.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Birladeanu said Sunday Romania had freed 7,674 political prisoners without publicity in the past 3½ years.

He promised a general pardon in August and said that by the end of 1964 "we will have practically no political prisoners."

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The government has taken political rights away from 80 more Brazilians in a final listing of persons suspected of extreme left leanings or close association with the regime of deposed President Joao Goulart.

President Humberto Castello Branco issued the list Sunday a few hours before the purge deadline set last April after the military-civilian group overthrew Goulart.

GENEVA (AP)—A new and smaller U.N. Trade and Development Conference, to be a permanent organ of the United Nations, has been recommended to tackle economic problems of underdeveloped nations.

The present conference of 122 nations, now drawing to a close, has failed to produce a significant achievement in its three months of meetings. Agreement for a smaller conference of up to 55 nations was seen as a face-saving device to cover the conference's failure.

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—"I'll rule with all the firmness and savagery that is necessary," said Francois (Papa Doc) Duvalier.

The 57-year-old physician-dictator made the pledge in one of his rare public appearances Sunday after he had his countrymen elect him president for life.

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Eighteen children drowned Sunday and five were missing after a truck was caught in a landslide in northeast Turkey and plunged into a river near Rize on the Black Sea coast.

RAJKOT, India (AP)—A cyclone which roared in off the Araibah Sea last Thursday killed at least 27 persons.

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—A coal mine explosion in northern Afghanistan last Friday took 74 lives. The victims were members of a repair gang working in the mine. Six injured men were brought out of the mine alive.

Auto Strikes Deer

Edward Molloy, 29, of RD 1, West Hurley, apparently escaped injury at 12:50 a. m. Sunday when his car hit a deer on Route 28 east of Route 375, Town of Kingston, according to State Trooper Norman Kilfoyle, Kingston sub-station. Molloy was driving west on the highway when the deer leaped from the south shoulder into the path of the vehicle.

WHERE HISTORY WALLS A LIBRARY— INSIDE AND OUT!

Books in the library of the University of Mexico cover that country's history back to the great Mayan Empires, centuries before Christ.

Outside, its walls are covered by Juan O'Gorman's colorful mosaic (made of more than 7½ million separate stones) depicting the history and culture of Mexico.

The school itself dates back to 1551, but its campus is one of the world's most modern. Built in 1954, it was designed by a team of Mexico's finest architects.

Even in a country known for its architecture, on a campus that is a collective example for the world, the library stands out.

Throughout Mexico, progress grows from the roots of ancient traditions. In Mexico City, for instance, within a few blocks of each other stand the 43-story Torre, or tower, tallest building in Latin America; and the Cathedral of Mexico City, built between 1573 and 1667 on the site of an Aztec temple.

Knowledge of our modern neighbor is important today. Send for the free 16-page booklet, "Know Mexico," Box 1900, New York 19.

THEY WON'T ALL COME

Q: Our parish church is not very large and the number of guests we would like to invite exceeds the seating capacity of the church. Must we cut our list to the number of guests that can be seated, or may we send invitations to all even though some will have to stand?

A: You need not cut your list to the capacity of the church. Rarely are all those invited to the ceremony able to be present, and even if they all come it will not be a calamity if a few of the last guests to arrive have to stand.

Lodging for the Bridegroom's Family

Q: When the bridegroom's family are from out of town, are the bride's parents responsible for providing lodging for them?

A: The bridegroom's family are, if possible, invited to stay in the bride's house or with relatives or neighbors. If this cannot be arranged, the bride's family are not expected to do more than offer to engage rooms in the nearest hotel or motel and the bridegroom's family pay their own expenses.

Clothes Poll

By HELEN HENNESSY

Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

Is yours a sentimental family which saves such goodies as the fan great-grandma waved at her debutante ball? Then you have your work cut out for you on the next rainy day.

Go up to the attic and paw through the old trunks. They may well provide you with your fall jewelry and hosiery wardrobes.

Jewelry for fall will be copied from baubles of the 18th century clear up to the early 1930s. And it's always nicer to have the real thing.

Bow knots, pendant drop pins and old-fashioned, chunky, gold bracelets encrusted with glittering stones will be fall favorites. Anything goes, in fact, just as long as it's old.

Take Great-Aunt Sarah's evening shoes with the jeweled or cut steel buckles. Have the buckles polished and made into pins. New pins for fall are copies of old shoe buckles.

If you come across tassle-tipped, waist-long beads that swung gaily when mom did the Charleston, grab them. They will be in style as belts as well as beads.

Copies of Roman and Moroccan cuff bracelets, molded to the arm, have been created by top jewelry designers and Roman coin medallions will be very much on the scene. You probably won't find anything like these in your heirloom trunks if you're not descended from the Caesars. But you can buy handsome copies with the money you saved on the shoe buckles and tassled beads.

Now for the hosiery. Did you see any clocked or embroidered stockings carefully wrapped in tissue? Don't leave them in the trunk. Decorated stockings will be another fall fashion bell-ringer. Some fall hosiery will have clocks up the side as did the hose of the '20s and '30s. Other styles for fall have surprise decorations turning up in odd spots —a la Barbra Streisand and "Funny Girl."

Some sport a flower, jewel or butterfly just above the knee to peek through a side-slit skirt. Others have a painted or knitted design on the kneecap, ankle or heel.

I don't know what we'll all look like with shoe buckles at the neckline, beaded tassels at the waist and flowers at the kneecap. But maybe it won't be too bad if we don't wear them all at once.

Chic Chat

Q: "I like to wear shorts for yard work, but I'm short and on the chubby side and every pair I have bought rolls up in front at the leg. Is there anything I can do about this?"—Mrs. C. Y.

Dears Mrs. C. Y.—Slit the legs of the shorts about one-inch at the outside of the bottom hem. Seam the slits and press them flat. When you stand, they won't be noticeable at all and when you bend for garden work, they won't roll up or pull uncomfortably.

Please send your fashion problems to Helen Hennessy in care of The Freeman. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Too Young to Go Alone?

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our son, 8, has been invited to visit some former neighbors of ours when school is over. He grew up with their youngest boy and has greatly missed him since the family moved away. But I think that he is too young to make the overnight train and 3-hour bus trip by himself. His father thinks he can take care of himself but I think he's too young . . .

ANSWER: Arrangements can be made with conductors, porters and the Travelers' Aid people to help him take care of himself.

But don't let yourself be pushed to a decision before you are ready to make it. Agree to listen to all your husband's and son's arguments in behalf of the trip. In exchange, ask for the time you need to come to your agreement or non-agreement with them.

You're not disturbed, I think, by the obligation to make this decision but by the obligation to make it right now. Once you are willing to realize this you can ask your men folk to release you from their pressure and say:

"You may both be right. But I need more time to try to see that. If you don't let me have it, I'm just going to get so mad and irritable I won't be able to think through to any decision. So please let me work this out in my own way."

It must be very pleasant to be a person who can conquer all his doubts about a situation—and make a fast decision on it. But if we're not such a person, we don't have to feel ashamed of our struggle with doubts.

In circumstances like yours, we can use some time to inquire about Travelers' Aid assistance and have a talk with our railroad station manager about the supervision available to our child on the train trip and the transfer to his bus. When we have collected the evidence we need that he will be adequately protected, we are ready to deliver the agreement he and his father have been pushing for.

They will both be relieved by your assuring information.

Only, for heaven's sake, don't let them know you know it. Our men folk's pride in their power to conquer all circumstances makes it very difficult for them to admit any doubts of it. You can expect a lot of affectionate, patronizing ridicule as "fussy" mother when you produce your relieving information. Laugh with them.

It is part of woman's love for men to feel the fears which they are too proud and strong to dare to feel for themselves.

Health for All

Some Biting Truths

The good old pastime—or vice—of ducking dentist's appointments can result in something more than just a toothache or a lost incisor, especially for the young. In fact, it can give rise to something so unpleasant that an Oregon doctor has come up with a special name for it.

"Crippled faces," according to Dr. R. W. Kullberg, a public health official in Portland, can be the outcome for children who fail to receive proper corrective treatment for malformed teeth or jaws. This involved a special kind of dentistry called orthodontia: and the sad fact is, Dr. Kullberg adds, that only one child out of five in the United States who needs it is now getting it.

For this situation he blames a variety of causes, including ignorance or apathy on the part of parents, inability to pay for treatment, a lack of available dentists, and the difficulties of transportation in rural areas.

"Displacement or crowding of teeth, or a grossly disturbed relationship of one jaw to another, are conditions of malocclusion which are found much too often," Dr. Kullberg said. He described malocclusion, a condition in which the upper and lower teeth fail to close evenly, as "one of the most neglected types of dental defects."

There are many things a child can't do for himself. One of these is seeing that his teeth get proper attention.

While he is young, a child won't thank his parents for taking him to a dentist regularly. Far from it. Indeed, no child ever recognized all that his parents have done for him. But—with or without thanks — the wise parent will try to find regular dental care. If money stands in the way, free or inexpensive care sometimes may be located by asking the doctor, health department, or dental society.

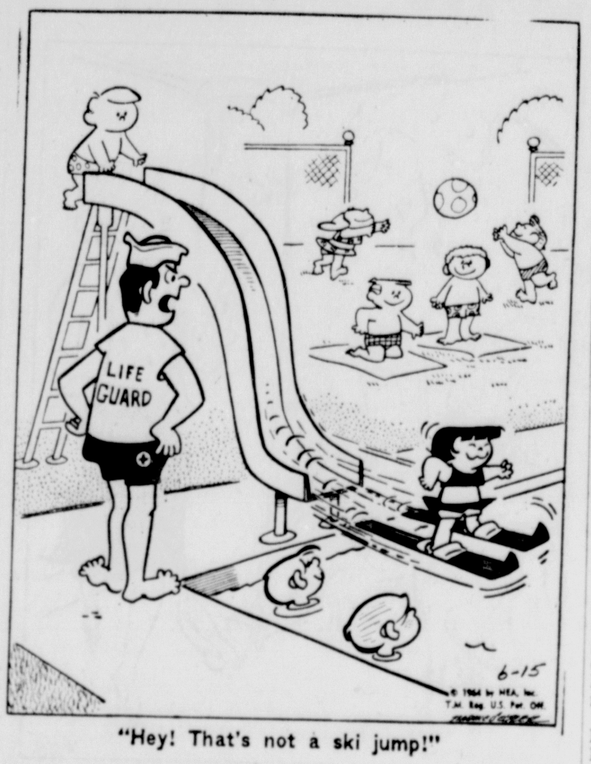
SWEETIE PIE By Nadine Seltzer



"Hey! That's not a ski jump!"

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have not been to Woodstock this spring or summer yet, but I hear there is much agitation on changing of scenery for the sake of progress. I remember back when the Maverick Theatre, Maverick Players, Jessie Trimble and Deanie's Diner were in their infancy, and the Maverick Festival at the end of the summer brought folks from all over the country. Bill Longyear used to go with his strange camera which took very long pictures. The camera worked automatically on a tripod making a half circle, and Longyear, the cameraman was always in the picture himself with the costumed folks. I have two of those photographs which no doubt, is all part of Woodstock history today.

Les Clark, of Washington Avenue, Clark Lumber Co. Inc. in Kingston wrote me a note which reads in part: "Dear Sophie, we are not alone in our protests against the destruction of our precious landmarks . . ." and he mentions Kingston's landmarks, and also encloses article by Alf Evers of Woodstock, from The Woodstock Week, of May 28, 1964.

The following is a copy of a letter Lester G. Clark wrote to Mr. Alf Evers of Woodstock, N. Y. a well known author. "Dear Alf, you probably will not remember me but I went to the Tillson school with you about 1914 or 1916. At that time I lived in Tillson village and you lived near the Coutant farm somewhat to the norteast of the school. As I remember you moved from Tillson to New Paltz and after that I lost all contact with you until I began to see your name in the Woodstock news items."

Mr. Clark further writes to Mr. Alf Evers: "Today I have read your article protesting the destruction of the wonderful village of Woodstock and I would like to take this opportunity to compliment you on your stand and to say that I agree wholeheartedly with what you say . . . They have done and are continuing to do the same thing to our old Colonial City of Kingston. They are demolishing our landmarks . . . I too have protested locally but the officials defend themselves under the guise and in the name of progress. If this be progress, I would be pleased with a little less of it . . ."

In the Woodstock Week article, Mr. Evers mentions how back in 1948 The National Geographic Magazine covering the story of the Hudson Valley, took pictures in Woodstock from the spot he now hears a chain saw working and how 'progress' is working on the meadow and the mountain in which were written up in now yellowed New York Herald, the Times and other newspapers. It takes years and perhaps centuries to create the charm of places like Woodstock, he feels.

Mr. Evers goes on to say he remembers floods, and it is said "some of the heaviest sudden rainfalls ever recorded have occured in the Catskills. Once the plains along the Sawkill offered natural safety valves for flood waters. Now they are overbuilt and have lost their value for storing water until it can quietly flow away." No doubt most Woodstockers have this article in full. I wonder, if, as it is written elsewhere, that a million acres are taken up yearly for these various 'progress' ideas, and much of the land is blacktopped or otherwise changed and cannot absorb the rainfalls, will nature become angry and finally turn on us.

Stratton Warning About Kennedy Running in State

SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-Amsterdam, suggests that voters might view U.S. Atty Gen. Robert F. Kennedy as a carpetbagger if he decides to seek a U.S. Senate seat from New York State.

"...You can never measure the full impact of the carpetbagger issue in polls taken today," Stratton told the Seneca County Democratic Committee Saturday night.

Stratton, an undeclared candidate for his party's nomination to oppose Republican Sen. Kenneth Keating in the November elections, added:

"Polls now being taken in behalf of Atty. Gen. Kennedy will show that he is far more popular today than the Rochester Republican (Keating), but I am also confident that they will show that New Yorkers too can beat the senator."

Kennedy lives in Virginia but could run for the Senate in New York by declaring his residence here.

If he does so, he will be following a pattern set by another former New Frontiersman, Pierre Salinger, who won the Democratic nomination for a U. S. Senate seat from California.

Several weeeks ago, Walter J. Mahoney, State Senate Majority Leader, called Kennedy a "Back Bay carpetbagger," referring to an exclusive section of Boston. The Kennedy family has its rooots in Massachusetts.

Kennedy has not said whether he plans to oppose Keating.

The attorney general has been mentioned frequently as a running mate for President Johnson in the fall elections.

Stratton referred to this when he said his party was risking disaster in New York by "letting the choice of the Democratic candidate...wait on the outcome of the race for the Democratic vice presidential nomination."

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

THE PITFALLS OF GLAMOR

The stock market is incongruous. A score of glamorous common stocks, in which unbridled speculation is taking place, are selling at fantastic prices.

Thousands of risk-takers are ignoring the simplest rules of investing. Profits furnish the actuating motives. That is always dangerous procedure. Nineteen Sixty-Four is a year when armies of gullible investors are seeking "fast bucks."

As has been said in this column before, millions of new investors need to be indoctrinated in sound investment principles. Unless this is done, speculation and not investment is going to rule the roost. An investor saves his money and when he buys securities, he wants to get security and a good income.

A speculator has an entirely different philosophy. He buys underpriced values for capital gains. Today, far too many inexperienced investors are speculating when they have no business doing so.

Five of the glamorous stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange that are being bought and sold by gullible investors every trading day are:

Control Data . . . Polaroid . . . Texas Instruments . . . Zenith . . . and Xerox.

Today, an investment of $10,000 uniformly spread around in these equities would pay total dividends of about $85 a year. The yield is less than 1 per cent.

On a given day, around 100,000 of these shares are bought and sold. Investors with no savings bank accounts and with little insurance are speculating in these risk-laden stocks.

It is a sign of the times. Wealth that comes from unwarranted and careless speculation often carries dynamite to its owner. The "fast buck" encourages all sorts of spending vices.

Yes, people buy such stocks and they completely ignore sound values that carry good income and stability. Here are some that should be bought rather than the romance equities:

Ten thousand dollars invested in United States Treasury long term bonds will buy $11,500 of such obligations and will pay $357.50 in interest a year. Profits are sure to accrue if held to maturity.

And $10,000 invested in the high grade dollar obligations of American Telephone and Telegraph; Consolidated Edison General Motors Acceptance Corporation; Pacific Gas and Electric; and U. S. Steel Corporation will buy $13,000 of these bonds and will pay $437.00 a year.

Glamor and speculation have no place in the affairs of small investors. But the truth of the matter is that many investors with a few hundred or thousand dollars are beguiled into taking possible risks in romance equities in the hope of making a lot of money quickly.

And, unfortuantely in America, there are dozens of individuals and organizations that prey upon the gullibility of these "fast buck" people.

There is no royal road to riches. With most people, speculating in glamorous stocks is a snare and a delusion.

Financial self-reliance is built on industry, thrift, saving and sound investment.

". . . to have and to hold from this day forward, for better or worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death do us part."

"To Love and to Cherish . . ."

That's what you took a blushing bride for . . . to love and to cherish.

You gave her your name, a new home of her own . . . and all your love and affection.

To cherish means so many more subtle little things . . . her very own bank account, with the proud new name on her checks, a backlog based on systematic saving so that she may always be the radiant bride she is today, ready purchasing power designed to give her now the things that can be paid for over the years, a safe depository for all the wondrous (and important) mementos of your marriage. These are what 'to cherish' means.

In so many ways, a strong and a friendly bank can be the bride's best friend. And, of course, The State of New York National Bank is an admirable choice as the new-family bank.

Buzzy Costello Leads Herdegen Field By Six Strokes

Defending Champ Cards 36-Hole Total of 141

Defending champion William (Buzzy) Costello of Wiltwyck Country Club carries a 6-stroke lead into the finals of the Herdegen Memorial golf tournament next weekend. And there are unmistakable signs that the Ridger College ace may become the first repeat champion since Leon Randall won back to back title in 1960-61.

Costello fired a spectacular 36-hold score of 141, one under par for the Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck layouts, to lead Randall by six shots at the end of the 36-hole qualifying round.

Costello shaved one stroke off Twalifskill's 35-35-70 par in intermittent rain Saturday with 36-33-69. Sunday he conquered the challenge of Wiltwyck's mighty 36-36-72 with nines of 37-35 despite high winds and slick greens that sent scores soaring well above normal.

Randall, a four-time champion, posted 72-75-147. Eight shots off the pace are Bill Van Aken, Woodstock, 72-77-149 and Rick Barthel, Twaalfskill, 71-78-149. Harold Van Aken is all alone at 73-79-152. Tied with 154's were George Hughes, Twalfskill, and Harvey Bostic of Wiltwyck.

Neil Pauker, Kingston High School player, is at 155 and Charles J. Turck and Ronnie Marks, a pair of Wiltwyck veterans, round out the top ten at 156.

The cutoff figure was 167 and was shared by John S. Provenzano of Wiltwyck, who qualified for the finals for the first time and Doug Sheppard, the State University golf coach.

Only One Bad Hole

Costello hal only one bad hole in the two rounds, a double bogie "7" on Twalfskill's 578-yard par-5 fifth hole where he pushed his third shot out of bounds. He picked up seven birdies, four at Twaalfskill and three at Wiltwyck. At Twalfskill he birdied the No. 7 hole twice, the 4th and 5th. He birdied No. 3 at Wiltwyck from 8 feet and rolled in a 30-footer on the par-five, 497-yard seventh. His third birdie was a 6-footer on the par-three, 167-yard 16th. He missed 4-foot birdie putts on the 12th and 14th holes.

Trailing Costello by three strokes at the end of the first round, Randall was even par through the first seven holes at Wiltwyck, then ran into a disastrous triple-bogie "6" on the par-3, 177-yard 8th hole.

First For Provenzano

Chip Shots: The Wiltwyck contingent gave Johnny Provenzano for his first qualifying success. A few needlers, however, demanded a sudden death playoff between Provenzano and Dough Sheppard for outright claim to the 24th qualifying spot . . . George Hughes carded a nightmarish "10" on Twaalfskill's relatively easy par-3 second hole. It all started with a tee shot that landed in the right side trap. Hughes, carding a 7-over-par played the other 17 holes in even par . . . George (Lonesome) Cosenza soared to a "9" on Wiltwyck's par-4 fourteenth . . . Neil Pauker, the KHS ace, fired a 72 in Saturday's round . . . Robert Carnright of Twaalfskill bounced back from a front line 46 at Wiltwyck to a closing 38 featured by six consecutive one-putt greens, from 11 through 16. Third round action is scheduled Saturday at Woodstock, with the finals Sunday at Shawangunk in Ellenville.

Wig-Wagging

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) —Ed Diddle, one of three college basketball coaches to post more than 700 victories, was widely known for his wig-wagging of a red towel during game.

Diddle is retiring after next season, to be succeeded by a former player, John Oldham. But, not the towel.

"I'm going to ask Johnny to keep using the red towel," Diddle said.

Lema Wins Buick Open

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) —Tony Lema, more surprised than anybody else over his victory in the $66,000 Buick Open Golf Tournament Sunday, headed today for the National Open at Washington, D.C., hoping that lightning strikes three times in a row.

"I've never done very well in the National Open and I don't have any particular feeling about it this year," said Lema after becoming the first pro in 21 months to put together major victories in successive weeks. He preceded his Buick Open triumph with victory in the $100,000 Thunderbird at Rye, N.Y. The National Open starts Thursday.

The San Leandro, Calif. native kept his usual custom and ordered champagne in the press room following his victory on the 7,280-yard, par-72 Warwick Hills course.

Lema had a 70 in his final round and finished with an 11-under par 277 to pick up nearly $9,000 in prize money.

His round featured four birdies, one on the first hole which he solved for the fourth straight round in the tourney. It was the same hole on which he had taken a seven in the open two years ago.

Dow Finsterwald finished with a 71 for a total of 280 and was runner-up here for the second straight year. Bob Charles, the left-handed New Zealander, finished with a 67 to take third place money with a 283.

Lema became the first pro to win two tournaments in a row since Jack Nicklaus won in Seattle and Portland, Ore. in September, 1962.

Sport Club Booters Defeat Albany, 10-0

George Visvary started the game off with a penalty goal and the Kingston Sport Club routed Albany Sport Club, 10-0, in a pivotal Central New York Soccer league game before more than 200 spectators at the Oehler's Mt. Lodge field.

The regular season concludes next Sunday with the locals hosting the Albany Sons of Italy. Playoffs will start the following week.

Jim Rheinhardt returned to action after three weeks on the injured list and scored two of Kingston's goals. Carlos Bustamante had three goals. Al DiBella, Peter Fuchs and Lee Roberts also tallied for the winners.

Since the Albany Athletic Club beat Troy Soccer Club, 2-0, it places the team in a first place tie with Kingston. If they end the season that way, a two-game playoff will be held.

In yesterday's preliminary game, the Poughkeepsie Blue and White beat Kingston's 2nd team, 5-1. Brian Ennis had the Kingston goal.

Al Miller, goal; Lee Roberts, RFB; Frank Luzzi, LFB; Alex Dirks, RHB; George Visvary, CHB; Mike Newmerzhycy, LFB; Felix Fuhsman, OR; Bill Newmerzhycy, IR; Peter Fuchs, CF; Carlos Bustamante, IL; Al DiBella, OL.

Stan Wetmore Wins Feature At Onteora

Stan Wetmore grabbed an early lead and was never headed as he won the 25-lap feature race Friday night at the Oneonta Speedway. Fred Searing was second.

The action centered around the third place finish with Ernie Beesmer just nipping Johnny Rohan, Lou Searing and Bud Holland for the spot.

Other races were close with neck to neck finishes featured, much to the delight of the patrons.

Results:

1—Johnny Rohan, T. Norton, Howie Wells, Mel Hulbert.

2—Stan Wetmore, Don Avery, Harold Montanye, Johnny VanLeuven.

3—Fred Searing, Ernie Beesmer, Lou Searing, Bud Holland.

Consolation — Nissen, Ostrander, Coffman, Andrea.

This Friday the D. D. Harris Memorial Trophy race will take place. The race is being held to commemorate the memory of the late stock driver, who lost his life last year.

All of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

If you think a Volkswagen Station Wagon is just a funny-looking car maybe you never saw one fit in a space that regular wagons have to pass by and when you realize how much stuff you could put inside that thing

like the Christmas someone drove one to their mother's with six people and the crib, the high chair, bicycles, luggage, presents...room?

you couldn't ask for more and an air-cooled engine that won't boil over or freeze up

and it starts in the morning 1-2-3

and when you stop at a gas station, $3 fills it up and you don't have to worry about gas for maybe 3 weeks and take kids for instance "Are we going in the Volkswagen bus?" and they say "Yay!" and clap their hands and if it's a glorious day you can slide the sunroof back and let a little of the glory in and all of a sudden, it stops looking funny.

Ed Palladino's MR Selections

BEST BET — Marie Adios (4th)

UPSET CHANCE — Trader Vic (6th)

1. CRYSTAL SEABEE won last handily. Can come right back. NOTABLE HANOVER beaten favorite the previous time. Might do it in this race. HENRY JONES was moving well but jumped. Will be trouble if on gait.

2. MERCURY DON gets the call in a field of nothings. FAIR MARKET was caught outside but still gained in the stretch. Fair chance. WILMA'S BOY has Popfinger. Figures to be close up at the finish.

3. TED WOOLLEN might make it now. Led all the way until backing up around the last turn. ATLAS BOY has burned up the favorite money twice in a row. Post hurts this time. SALLY VONIAN won in the slop.

4. MARIE ADIOS suffered broken equipment last time out. Rates another chance and is the best bet of the evening. OSBORNE qualified well for this one but is a chronic breaker. BOMBER'S DREAM is a threat.

5. GUESS AGAIN shows two impressive races. Hasn't much to beat here. DARLING DUCK has top driver but poor post. SUCCESS ADIOS might be in a little too deep this time.

6. WYN CREED due to pop. Has been close on all occasions. MAY S. closes well and has the pole position. Can take it on a top effort. WAR HAVEN has met better but is making first start with an untried driver.

7. DEVON GOOSE finally drew well. Might go all the way on top. TRADER VIC received an awful ride the last time. Can upset here with some racing luck. LUSTY ABBEY won easily with John Edmunds up. Doesn't seem as strong with LeRoy doing the driving.

8. IVY CASTLE took advantage of an accident and won the last race handily. Can repeat this time. JIMMY DARES was interfered with. Is the top threat. QUICK TRIGGER is in top shape. Might go all the way.

9. CYBEE qualified well for this one. STAG DANCER won in the mud and on a fast track. Will be tough here. TYSON VOLO has been inconsistent.

Bach Pitches 1-Hitter, Fans 14 for Victory

Brian Bach pitched a one-hitter with 14 strikeouts and scored the winning run after hitting a triple, as Elmer's Inn defeated Kingston Merchants, 4 to 2, in the City Baseball League opener Sunday at Ditz Stadium.

In the second game of the twi-night doubleheader, Port Ewen Merchants nipped S&E Inc., 6 to 5 in overtime.

Bach pitched shutout ball after yielding two first inning runs on a hit batsman, error and Dick Bartsch's single. Paul Gardner had a shutout going for six innings but Elmer's rallied with four runs in the seventh on singles by Paul Gruner, Gerard De Veau and Eccleston, a base on balls to Tony Toney, who stole home and Bach's triple. Bach scored the fourth run on an error.

Natale Delivers

S&E tied Port Ewen, 5-5, with two runs in the bottom of the seventh. Giannuzzi singled, Tentowski walked and Paul Natale scored Giannuzzi with the equalizer.

In the first extra inning, Port Ewen jolted Wayne Johnson as Jack Syak doubled and Joe Tremper tripled. Chick Boice relieved Johnson and halted further damage by striking out the next three batters. Beadle got the win.

Horton hit a solo homer for Port Ewen and Syak drilled a single and two doubles.

Whites Give Up March, Negroes To Make Decision

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) Street marching by white segregationists apparently was over today, at least temporarily. It was uncertain whether Negroes would resume marching tonight.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, which is directing the integration drive in the nation's oldest city, said former baseball star Jackie Robinson would join the campaign today.

Busloads of supporters also were expected from several cities, including Albany, Ga., the SCLC office said.

Sunday night, white segregationists marched for the third night in a row but they walked only five blocks in the downtown area. In two previous marches, white demonstrators had walked through a Negro section.

The crowd again met in a park before the march. J. B. Stoner, Ku Klux Klan attorney from Atlanta, told the rally that unless out-of-town Negro leaders pulled out, a fire-your-Negro campaign would begin.

Stoner said there would be no march tonight by the segregationist group.

Thirty-six Negroes and a white man were arrested Sunday for trying to integrate a restaurant and two churches. This brought to 127 the number of arrests since last Thursday when Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was jailed for refusing to leave a motel restaurant. King was released Saturday on bond but said he would return by Tuesday.

Observes War Birthday

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia (AP) —This quiet Bosnian city today began observance of the 50th anniversary of the pistol shots that touched off World War I.

A simple memorial meeting opened a two-week period which will reach a climax June 28 with dedication of plaques and laying of wreaths.

The celebration will be modest. Though Gavrilo Princip's shots on June 28, 1914, are generally condoned here, they led to a war that killed more than 5 million fighting men, and planted the seeds of World War II.

Policeman Shot By 3 Speeders

EPHRATA, Pa. (AP) — Two state policemen were shot and wounded and two others captured and handcuffed to a tree for a brief period Sunday by three men who were stopped on the Pennsylvania Turnpike for a routine radar speed check.

The three, all from Milwaukee, Wis., were arrested by police several hours later, after a massive manhunt with bloodhounds and helicopters. State Police Commissioner E. Wilson Purdy directed some 100 men in the hunt.

The three, Gerald L. Sarson, 17, Howard E. Langnes, 24, and James Eugene Szulczewski, 21, were charged with assault with intent to kill, pointing a deadly weapon, and aggravated assault and battery against a police officer.

They were committed to Lancaster County prison, awaiting a hearing. Lt. Rufus Williams said additional charges will be filed.

The wounded troopers are Edward Herbst, 35, of Reamstown, Pa., and Fred W. Bendl, 22, of Nazareth, Pa. Herbst was shot in the face and neck and was reported in serious condition at Ephrata General Hospital. Bendl, who was shot in the leg, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Police theorized that the trio shot at the troopers because they were in a stolen car and because they may have thought they were going to be picked up for other crimes in Milwaukee.

Unhurt were troopers Robert Malarky and Stanley Sypeck. They had been handcuffed to a tree with their own handcuffs, but freed themselves just as the gunfight broke out on the side of the turnpike.

Canadians Open Debate Today on Official Flag

OTTAWA (AP)—The Canadian House of Commons opens debate today on Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's proposal to give Canada its first official flag. Preliminary polls indicate Pearson can count on a slim majority for approval.

Pearson has staked his minority Liberal government on the emotion-charged issue. He has warned that if he is defeated, he may resign and force another national election.

The hotly debated "Pearson pennant," which the prime minister selected from more than 3,000 designs, is white with three red maple leaves in the center joined to a single stem. Narrow blue vertical bars at each end symbolize Canada's motto, "From Sea to Sea."

The resolution before Parliament would establish this as Canada's national flag and retain the British Union Jack as a symbol of Canada's allegiance to the Commonwealth.

Union Center

Graduation exercises will be held at the Port Ewen School on Wednesday evening, June 17.

Brownie Troop 94 and Junior Girl Scout Troop 159 will hold their combined Court of Awards Thursday, June 18 7:30 p. m. at the Union Center Community Church.

Carlino to Seek State Top Job if Rocky Steps Out

NEW YORK (AP)—State Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino says that—"barring unforeseen circumstances"—he will seek the governorship in 1966 if Gov. Rockefeller does not run for a third four-year term.

Carlino, a Long Beach Republican, discounted reports that Rockefeller might not serve out his present term if he did not win the Republican presidential nomination.

Carlino, who spoke Sunday on the WNBC - TV "Searchlight" program, said Rockefeller is "not out of the presidential race by any means."

If Rockefeller should resign, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Yonkers Republican, would serve the remainder of his term.

Asked to name other likely Republican candidates for governor if Rockefeller did not run again, Carlino listed Sen. Jacob K. Javits, Rep. John V. Lindsay and Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, all of Manhattan, and Wilson.

Carlino reiterated his intention to continue as Nassau County Republican leader until after the November election.

Royalty Arrives

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — King Mahendra and Queen Ratna of Nepal arrived in Karachi today for a two-day private visit to Pakistan.

There have been recent reports of dissatisfaction with Carlino among Nassau Repulbicans and plans to oust him as leader before the election.

Speaker Outlines Holy Name Origin Aims and Objects

The origin of the Holy Name Society, its aims and objects and the duties and obligations of a good Holy Name member were discussed by Attorney Frank Campochiaro at the St. Joseph's Holy Name Society annual communion breakfast held Sunday.

Tracing the history of the Society, the speaker pointed out that in the 13th century, probably because of ignorance, the faith of the people in France and Spain was at a very low ebb. People disbelieved in God and many denied that Christ was God. His name was blasphemed at the slightest provocation and was used profanely and with great irreverence. The spiritual leaders of the time deemed it necessary to urge special devotion and zeal towards the Holy Name and to combat this irreverence the Holy Name Society was formed.

Since that time, he said, the Holy Name Society has grown, particularly in this country. There is not a parish today that does not have a Holy Name Society. There is just as much need for a Holy Name Society today as there was when it was first founded. Continuing he declared that when we consider that more than one-half of the Christian world is dominated by Communists who deny the very existence of God and scoff at religion, it is doubly important that we guard our religion and revere our Saviour's name.

The object of the Society, he stated, is to maintain and to increase man's faith in the divinity of Christ and to promote respect and honor for his Holy Name.

To achieve these aims, he said, each member has certain obligations which includes laboring for the glory of God's name and making it known to those who are ignorant of it and also to avoid blasphemy, perjury, profane and indecent language.

The Society also was addressed by the Right Rev. Msgr. Robert Fox. John L. Machione, president, welcomed the members and the Right Rev. Msgr. John O'Reilly, pastor of St. Joseph's and dean of Ulster County, gave the invocation. William Leehive was toastmaster and William F. Edelmuth general chairman. Benediction was given by the Rev. James Keating, spiritual director.

— "Joint exercise Desert Strike was not only a thorough test of men and equipment, but also an ideal opportunity to test and further improve several operational concepts for joint air-ground operations we have been developing and improving over the past several years."
